Gov't Makes First Bid To Avert Rail Strike

No Indication Of Any Progress

MONTREAL (CP)—Three cabinet ministers met top union and management officials today in a dramatic attempt to head off a nation-wide rail strike scheduled for Saturday, Dec. 3.

All participants in the closed meetings were carefully noncommittal when they ended, but it was apparent from their grim faces that little had been accomplished.

Labor Minister Starr, who led the three-man delegation from Ottawa, said as he headed for a telephone to call Prime Minister Diefenbaker after the meetings ended that they were conducted in a "cordial" atmosphere and were "useful".

He said an official statement on the talks would have to wait until there was some "reaction".

SHORT MEETING

He, Transport Minister Balcer and Postmaster-General Hamilton were to return to Ottawa this weekend and no further meetings were scheduled.

The cabinet ministers first met Frank Hall, chief negotiator for the 111,000 non-operating employees who have called the strike, and 11 other union leaders, for less than an hour.

Mr. Hall, to meet the union's negotiating committee Monday, had no comment.

The cabinet ministers' talks with Donald Gordon, CNR president, and N. R. Crump, CPR head, lasted more than two hours but apparently made no headway.

The rail chiefs declined to answer any questions.

LITTLE ADVANCE

Mr. Starr and his cabinet cohorts had little more to add to their comments after the meeting with the union leaders.

It was apparent before the meetings that little real advance could be made.

Mr. Hall said he was not empowered to accept any proposals for settling the dispute other than the 14-cents-an-hour increase which a conciliation board has recommended for the non-ops.

The cabinet ministers indicated they had come principally to study the situation and report back to the prime minister.

FIRE THAT KILLED THREE

'PUPPET OF U.S.' SAY REDS

Kasavubu Seems Sure To Win Seat in UN

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP)—The Soviet Union, launching a determined effort today to prevent the UN General Assembly from seating a Congolese delegation headed by President Joseph Kasavubu, called the delegation an obedient puppet of the United States.

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian Zorin took the floor in the assembly to "characterize this as a political manoeuvre of the United States and its NATO allies designed to resolve this question in an improper manner, thus exerting an influence on the domestic political developments in the Congo in the interests of the colonizers."

Zorin accused the U.S. of leading a Western campaign against deposed premier Patrice Lumumba, whom he called the legitimate representative of the Congo.

KASAVUBU ABSENT

Kasavubu himself was not present during the debate, although he had been at UN headquarters earlier in the day for a private talk with Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold.

The specific proposal before the Assembly was a resolution drafted by the credentials committee recommending the seating of the Kasavubu delegation.

Guinea, a backer of Lumumba for the UN seat, proposed an amendment late Friday to the resolution to seat Kasavbu. It would reverse the committee's recommendation by calling on the Assembly to defer action on Kasavubu's application.

Western diplomats appeared confident they could block the delaying move and put through the original proposal to seat Kasavubu.

Their optimism was based on the defeat Ghana suffered Friday when she tried to get the Assembly to adjourn the Congo debate until an Asian-African conciliation commission tries to end the feud between Kasavubu and Lumumba.

CHINESE REDS ADMIT KILLING 25 MILLIONS

MONTREAL (CP) — Fusun Chu, minister of the Nationalist Chinese embassy in Ottawa, says the Chinese Communists have admitted killing more than 25,000,000 persons since 1949 to institue reforms in Red China.

He told the McGill International Students' Association Friday that the Communist Chinese have also admitted herding another 30,000,000 persons into slave labor camps.

"These figures are not my figures," he said. "They are taken from official Communist publications."

He said he "does not have the slightest doubt" that a revolt against the Communist regime will take place in Red China.

CABINET POST?

President-elect Kennedy, according to the New York Times "is giving serious consideration" to the appointment of his younger brother, Robert (above) as attorney-general.

'Cautious' Bulletin Issued on Churchill

LONDON (CP)—Sir Winston Churchill's doctors, although satisfied that "everything is all right," issued a cautious medical bulletin today saying the old statesman has less pain from his injured back but passed an uncomfortable night.

The language of the bulletin was less reassuring than the earlier comment of Sir Winston's personal physician, Lord Moran, or the word from informants on Churchill's recuperation from a fall in which he broke a small bone in his back.

The official bulletin said: "Sir Winston did not have a very good night but the pain from his injury is less."

Lord Moran told reporters as he emerged from Churchill's House:

"Everything is all right."

RED WALLS HOLD SECRET OF SUMMIT

MOSCOW (AP)—The Kremlin walls today hid the results of the Communist summit meeting, including even whether it is over.

Reports from usually authoritative sources said that communism's leaders had finished their work and all that was left was the final polishing of a communique expected to be issued next week.

Later, other sources said the conferees still were on the job.

The conference began Nov. 9.

55 CLIMBERS SWEPT DOWN FUJIYAMA SLOPE

TOKYO (Reuters)—A giant avalanche today swept 55 mountaineers more than 6,000 feet down the slopes of Japan's famous Mount Fujiyama.

Police said five persons, including one girl, were killed and 30 were injured. Some climbers were still listed as missing.

ROCKET-RATTLING STOPS

Castro Muted By K's Hints

HAVANA (AP)—The muting of Fidel Castro's rocket-rattling warnings to the United States heightened speculation here today that Moscow has advised him to take a more moderate course in his dealings with Washington.

The Kremlin's hand may be behind the lessening of attacks in the government press against president-elect John Kennedy—in contrast with the increased tempo against President Eisenhower and Vice-President Richard Nixon—possibly with a view to keeping a path open to later conciliatory approaches.

President Eisenhower's order for U.S. Navy ships and planes to set up anti-invasion patrols off Guatemala and Nicaragua, scenes of unsuccessful revolts in the last week, set off a chain furore. It included both critical and approving comment in Latin America on the naval action and a Cuban letter of protest to the United Nations.

Guatemalan President Miguel Ydigoras also said he favored a Korean-type police action by the Organization of American States against Cuba, and both Guatemala and Nicaragua were reported considering invoking the hemisphere's 1947 Rio de Janeiro treaty of mutual assistance.

RCMP HUNT SMALL CAR IN HIT-RUN

A small dark-colored car is hunted by Colwood RCMP after a hit-run accident that broke a Saanich man's leg outside Six Mile House Friday midnight.

William J. Clayton, 50, of 3231 Harriet, is in good condition at Royal Jubilee Hospital.

There may be damage to the front of the auto, probably on the left side, police said.

Witnesses told police the car, headed west toward Colwood as it approached Parsons Bridge, crossed to the south side of the Island Highway and Clayton thrust his wife Helen out of the way, leaving him no chance to jump aside himself.

The man and his wife were crossing the highway at the time.

Police said the car kept going without slowing or pausing at the scene.

Simple Rites Mark Clark Gable Funeral

GLENDALE, Calif. (AP)—Two hundred mourners filed into the Church of the Recessional today where Clark Gable's coffin lay amid banks of floral sprays.

Three hundred spectators stood a considerable distance from the church, and there were no displays of fan adulation that have marred other Hollywood funerals.

An American flag stood at the head of the rose-covered coffin and a squad of steel-helmeted airmen stood at attention outside the church, honoring Gable's service during the Second World War.

The mourners who came to the hilltop church recalled Gable's long film career.

There was white-haired Spencer Tracy, who co-starred with Gable in Boom Town, Test Pilot and other films; Robert Taylor and James Stewart, other leading men; Norma Shearer, Gable's co-star in Idiot's Delight; Frank Capra, who directed him to an Oscar in It Happened One Night; and Van Johnson, Robert Stack, Keenan Wynn, Roy Rogers, Dale Evans, George Murphy and John Huston.

SHORT AND QUIET

The services were conducted by air force Chaplain Johnson E. West. According to Episcopal (Anglican) tradition, there was no eulogy.

The widow, Kay Williams Gable, arrived early with her two children by a previous marriage, Joan, nine, and Benker, 11.

The ceremony was short and quiet, in accordance with Gable's wishes.

"I don't want to be a freak," he had told friends before his death.

Gable's body will rest beside that of his third wife, Carole Lombard.

Gable died last Wednesday night at 59 after suffering a coronary thrombosis 10 days earlier.

Traffic Trouble Tips

TIMES INVITES QUERIES

By AB KENT

Broken any traffic laws lately, or were you inconsiderate of other people using the streets?

Of course—if you are an average person.

Maybe you have never been to court, but the chances are you break a rule, annoy a pedestrian or other driver, perhaps quite unconsciously, every time you go out.

It has even been snidely suggested that Victoria drivers are worse than in other larger cities. Whether that is true, or just a canard, the fact is that the continual increase in number of cars travelling the enclosed Victoria area presents a mounting problem.

To help you, the average citizen and non-professional motorist, the Times starts today a daily column dealing with common traffic problems, because traffic is everyone's problem, particularly with winter and its poor travel conditions and the hustle and bustle of the holiday season in the offing.

To gain the widest possible range of situations, we invite readers to send us any problems they have encountered as motorists or pedestrians.

We will deal with crosswalk courtesy, school zones, jay-walking, slow driving, traffic lights and any other matters relating to the movement of foot and vehicular traffic.

The column will try, with co-operation of Victoria police departments, to answer questions and increase public knowledge of traffic laws.

"This has long been needed," Deputy City Police Chief Harry Mercer said. "We think it is a fine idea."

A traffic division spokesman said:

"I am appalled at the number of people who walk through the traffic bureau door and pay tickets for violations committed in complete ignorance of the law.

"Ignorance of the law, of course, is no excuse.

"This column is beamed in the right direction as an educational outlet, to disseminate knowledge of our traffic laws."

And here's a little tip to motorists to start things off: Have you checked your driver's licence expiry date lately?

Dozens of people right here in Victoria are fined regularly for driving without a licence, usually because they have forgotten to renew on or before their birthdays every five years.

The problem will diminish gradually because this year the motor-vehicles bureau began issuing reminders as individual expiry dates approach, but the system will need five years to catch up with all licence holders.

LONDON—A gold-plated motor-scooter today was found tied up to the fence at the home of Lady Norah Docker—who used to own a gold-plated limousine.

Lady Docker used the gold-plated car to publicize automobiles made by the firm once headed by her husband, Sir Bernard Docker.

The scooter, used in advertising by its makers, disappeared last night from a motorcycle show here.

TOKYO—A man who made a racket out of teasing dogs into biting him and then collecting damages from their owners was sentenced Friday to a year in jail. The court found Yoshio Itsuki, 35, guilty of collecting a total of $73.33 from nine dog owners this year.

LONDON — Tanganyika's education minister married a cookery student in St. Paul's Cathedral today. They are the first Negroes ever to wed in the great church where generations of royalty have knelt in prayer.

The bridegroom, Oscar Kambona, 32, is on a tour of Europe and the United States. His bride, Flora Moriyo, 20, is studying domestic science in London.

The ceremony was conducted by Canon John Collins, precentor of St. Paul's.

DALLAS, Texas — Momma has a new vacuum cleaner plus a new mink stole because Poppa opened his mouth at just the wrong time.

A Dallas store was giving away the fur to attract customers during a special sale. M. A. Burns and his wife went shopping.

During the evening, Dale Cross, a salesman, gave Burns a big pitch about the vacuum cleaner.

"Tell you what," Burns said. "If my wife wins that stole, I'll buy one."

No sooner had Burns spoken, when an announcement came over the store's loudspeaker giving the name of the winner.

CAPETOWN — A dentist who punched a patient on his dislocated jaw after extracting six teeth was fined $28 or a month's imprisonment.

The patient said Dr. Robert Blinden undertook to extract six teeth for a fee of $2.40 but that after the first tooth had been extracted his jaw was dislocated.

The dentist then extracted the other five teeth and took the man to a doctor. When the doctor failed to restore the jaw an ambulance was called to take the patient to hospital.

The dentist demanded immediate payment.

"I refused to pay it because he had hurt me," patient Lewis Christian told the magistrate. "He then hit me a blow on my sore jawbone."

PORT ARTHUR—Mrs. Cecille Ice has her good aim to thank for her light fine.

Mrs. Ice was fined $15 and costs Friday for creating a disturbance in a tea room Oct. 16. Court was told the woman threw a plate of food at her husband, sitting across the table from her.

"The only reason this sentence is so light is that your aim was good and you threw the plate at your own husband," the magistrate said.

Funeral Held For Last Member Of Willis Clan

'WITCHCRAFT' CHARGE LAID

TORONTO (CP) — A 23-year-old woman was charged Friday night under the "witchcraft" section of the Criminal Code, for allegedly telling a policewoman's fortune.

Catherine Wilson of suburban Scarborough was arersted after policewoman Patricia Brown made a second visit to the woman's home and was allegedly told of her marriage prospects.

'SPURS CRUSH BIRMINGHAM

Fog Ruins Matches

LONDON (AP)—Tottenham Hotspur blanked Birmingham City 6-0 today to regain a seven-point lead at the top of the English Football Association's first division.

Shots rained in on Colin Withers, making his debut as Birmingham's goalie. Both Spurs' wingers, Terry Dyson on the left and Cliff Jones on the right, scored two goals. The others were from John White and Bobby Smith.

Sheffield Wednesday, Tottenham's closest challengers for league honors, slumped to a 2-1 defeat at Leicester on a fog-ridden day that left many soccer fans guessing rather than seeing what happened.

Everton scored four second half goals and crushed Newcastle United 5-0 for Everton's 13th league game without defeat.

Tottenham, whose only defeat in 18 matches was at Sheffield Wednesday last week, has 33 points. Wednesday and Everton each have 26 points.

PLAYED DESPITE FOG

Sheffield Wednesday right winger Bill Griffin scored in the fourth minute against Leicester in a hide-and-seek match in the fog. Inside right Jimmy Walsh made it 1-1 for Leicester. Two minutes from half-time left wing Gordon Wills got the winner.

Inside right Bobby Collins scored three goals in Everton's 5-0 defeat of Newcastle United and Jimmy Greaves hit three goals in Chelsea's 6-3 humiliation of Manchester City.

The Chelsea match gave Greaves his 100th league goal and provided seven goals in the first 39 minutes—five of them to Chelsea.

Burnley, reigning English League champions and European Cup of Champions' challengers, won 5-3 at Bolton.

Fog hung over many parts of Britain. Reporters covering the Darlington-Chester match relied on messengers to give them the news from each end of the ground.

Chest Drive Winds Up $100,000 Shy

As predicted earlier this week, Greater Victoria Community Chest campaign officially closed Friday almost $100,000 short of its $350,000 goal.

All is not lost, however. Some $40,000 is expected to be added to the $255,000 collected up to 5 p.m. Friday, in the next few weeks. Most of this amount already has been pledged.

In addition, the fund will remain open to receive individual donations. Chest officials appealed to the public on Wednesday to send an extra dollar if possible to the Chest office, 1951 Cook.

Santa's Helpers Help Themselves

There are a couple of boys in Victoria who don't believe in Santa Claus.

Instead, they believe in helping themselves.

Four hours after closing time Thursday, night janitor Walter Hannan, of Hudson's Bay Co. store, saw a youngster about 10 years old trudging down the back stairs leading to the parkade lower deck.

His arms were loaded with toys.

Spotting the janitor, he smashed out a glass pane in the double doors, ducked through the hole and ran towards Blanshard.

INTEGRATION'S UNEASY CALM

Which Road to Take?

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—An uneasy calm settled over this troubled city today while a three-judge court decided what course school integration will take. The judges, all southerners, considered these paths:

They can put off integration until emotions subside and a federal-state tangle unravels. They can leave in effect a court order that admitted four Negro first-grade girls to two white schools. Or they can dismiss legal action against Louisiana which blocks its legislature from running New Orleans schools on a segregated basis.

New Orleans' first public school integration since the late 1860s brought a week of school boycotts, unruly protest demonstrations and street fights.

Tempers finally cooled as schools recessed for a week to allow teachers to attend statewide conventions in Baton Rouge and for the U.S. Thanksgiving holiday.

In Baton Rouge, the legislature adjourned until Wednesday.

State Senator Howard Jones Friday night said a legislative committee would transfer about $1,500,000 of school board operating money from New Orleans banks next week.

Jones said the money will go into state-chartered banks in Shreveport to avoid attempts by the federal government to freeze state allocated funds.

SUKARNO THE BOSS

JAKARTA (AP) — The People's Congress, Indonesia's highest constitutional authority, today unanimously approved President Sukarno's program to make the country a socialist state.

MOBUTU CHALLENGED

Ghana Defies Ouster Order

LEOPOLDVILLE (AP)—Ghanaian Charge d'Affaires Nathaniel Welbeck said today he does not intend to bow to Col. Joseph Mobutu's order expelling him from the Congo.

Welbeck said he had received no formal expulsion notice from the Congolese authorities and stressed that his government does not recognize Mobutu's military regime.

"I do not consider I have to leave," Welbeck told reporters. "My government continues to have diplomatic relations with the legal government of the Congo headed by Mr. Lumumba."

Mobutu announced Friday night he had given Welbeck until Monday to get out of the country with his nine-man mission. Mobutu has been accusing the Ghanaians of helping deposed premier Patrice Lumumba's efforts to return to power.

Welbeck said he had received formal assurances of protection from the United Nations.

Indian Gen. Indarjit Rikhye, acting head of the UN Congo operation, said that as far as he was concerned Welbeck did not have to leave the country.

A Defensive Measure

NOTHING INFURIATES A DICtator with mischief in mind so much as seeing a defence erected against his intentions. The measure of truth in charges that Cuba is aiding revolution in Guatemala and Nicaragua may lie in the heat of Cuban indignation over United States aid to those countries.

In sending warships and planes to patrol the Caribbean between Cuba and the two Central American states, the U.S. recognizes the risks it runs. Obviously, such an act must rouse Cuba and the Communist nations to heights of invective and accusation. There is also the risk of a direct clash between the U.S. defences and Cuban invaders whether official or unofficial.

But there are other pertinent considerations. Both by treaty and by this week's written requests, the United States has the right to supply military protection to its Latin American allies. It is moving entirely within the legal limits of United Nations commitments and diplomatic practice.

Cuba charges that this constitutes interference in the domestic affairs of the two countries concerned. That cannot be true so long as the U.S. forces are present by request and are used only to prevent outside intervention by Cuba in the form of infiltration or military invasion. There is no indication that the United States has any intention of doing more than respond to the Guatemalan and Nicaraguan appeal for help against Cuban aid to the revolutionaries.

Cuban charges that the ships in the Caribbean indicate a build-up preliminary to an invasion of Cuba are so ridiculous that they must be treated as propaganda for home consumption. It is to the advantage of Fidel Castro, as of most national strong men, to keep the population in a state of apprehension against some outside force, in this case the United States. Nothing is more conducive to national unity than a feeling that some outsider threatens the homeland. While Dr. Castro can maintain that atmosphere in Cuba, less public attention will be paid to the economic and social problems which beset his country but which he has not yet succeeded in solving.

Before all other considerations, the United States is, of course, immediately concerned with any threat of further Communist encroachment in the Caribbean. Cuba is not yet a Communist country, and may never become one, but it is rapidly forming ties with the Soviet empire and may not escape further entanglement.

Such a development on the southeastern doorstep of this continent is serious enough. It would be immeasurably more dangerous to have two countries on the mainland fall into the same category. Apart from the local implications it would bring the East and West into direct and close confrontation in a sensitive area, and create a danger zone that could threaten world peace.

Insofar as Cuba may be giving aid to Communists on the mainland, United States action to prevent such interference is in the interests of world peace. And that fact must stand despite the Communist outcries.

The Road and Virgin Timber

THE FAMILIAR CONFLICT OF interest between those who see trees as potential dollars through conversion in the woods industry and those who see trees as scenery is apparent in the current discussion of river-edge timber on the Alberni-Tofino road.

Loggers are cutting stands to which they have legal access on the transportation link which they have built, in part, as a logging road.

The public, having gained access to areas of magnificent scenery, is now advised that a considerable amount of the scenery along the way is being removed.

It is distressing to learn that what could be one of the finest drives on the continent—a drive through forest giants—is losing its appeal because of the cutting.

Surely, under the circumstances, some effective exchange of property could be made to preserve at least a fringe of trees so essential to the grandeur of the road.

The actual logging is a natural outcome of the road development. Two big companies agreed with the Government to construct large sections of the link from Sproat Lake to Tofino for certain timber concessions on the way. The Government built the remaining stretch.

Now the road is completed and the loggers are moving over it to harvest the timber to which they are legally entitled.

Some hope for the preservation of remaining roadside stands exists because the logging interests have shown, on previous occasions, a recognition of the value of standing timber as a scenic attraction. At the same time, the people who put in the road require compensation for the money they spent on the project.

It should not be beyond the abilities of the logging interests and the Government to effect some exchange in a compromise which will preserve the amenities of a highway running through fine stands of timber. California and other regions have made such arrangements and the result has been a major factor in bringing tourist dollars to the states concerned.

Image of Masculinity

HOLLYWOOD HAS CALLED Clark Gable its "king," but the man who delighted film-goers for three decades needed no royal trappings to make him popular.

At his death this week the public will remember him best as the figure of masculine appeal, an actor who remained Clark Gable on the screen no matter what role he played, whether it was the "Bounty's" Mr. Christian, "Gone with the Wind's" Rhett Butler or a score of other characters.

His strength in the public's affection seemed to rest on the fact that he never tried to be anything but Clark Gable.

To the men he was an example of two-fisted durability and courage, to the ladies an image of dynamic charm. The jackal tongues of Hollywood seldom touched him. That, too, is a mark of distinction granted to few in the moving picture world.

He will be remembered for the enjoyment he has given millions on the screen—and for a personality which seemed to make him the type of individual with whom a man would like to have gone fishing or hunting.

Into the New Era

A FURTHER INDICATION OF the end of the Duplessis regime in provincial politics is to be seen in the sweeping program of legislation forecast in the Speech from the Throne in Quebec last week. The legislation will not only initiate new departures in Quebec welfare, but implement changes in the machinery of administration—the aftermath of a regime that persisted beyond its time.

One measure will "take . . . steps toward free schooling"; another will "authorize the payment of allowances for children at school." Hospital insurance will be one of the chief proposals of the Government, and "supplementary allowances," under a means test, for the aged, invalids, widows and the blind.

Aid to farmers, and a bill to assist those who cannot secure redress for damage to their cars or injury to themselves, will invite wide support.

New departments to be formed indicate the trend of Government thinking. There will be a department of cultural affairs, of natural resources, and of federal-provincial relations. The department of finance will undergo reconstruction. Other changes will be made in the Civil Service Act, the Liquor Board, the Labor Board and the Mining Act, and for the first time a Hansard report of legislative debates will be kept.

These are measures with wide implications. In some particulars Quebec will be leading the other provinces, in some merely catching up. But there can be no doubt, if their promise is fulfilled, that the changes will sweep away some of the old order which still lingers and open a new and progressive future for the people of Quebec.

Nature Rambles

By FREEMAN KING

THE view from Triangle Mountain, approached off the Sooke Road by way of Fulton Road shows a wide expanse of the Strait and the Metchosin Valley.

Scattered along the trail here and there you can find the Soopolallie (Shepherdia canadensis) with its combination of silvery hairs and rusty brown spots. Owing to the mild weather this shrub is beginning to put forth its tiny yellowish flowers.

Some of the western yews (Taxus brevifolia) have their sticky reddish berries still on them. This berry is a favorite of the birds.

Showing on the sides of the rock outcrops is the hairy manzanita (Arctostaphylos tomentosa). This shrub is often taken for a small arbutus because of the smooth reddish brown twigs and branches, though a closer look shows that the leaves are very hairy and dull compared to the shiny bright leaves of the arbutus.

One the top of the hill the old Douglas firs that have been standing for hundreds of years have taken on a rugged appearance where they have been exposed to the ever-present winds. Some of the branches sweep right down to the ground and are twisted and knotted.

As you move along perhaps you will note some trees that do not fit into the terrain. These are the remains of an orchard no doubt planted many years ago.

Tax-Sharing Will Be Aired Thoroughly at This Session

Gould

IN the weeks leading to the opening of this session of Parliament, Tory cabinet ministers, when they could slip away from the almost continuous cabinet meetings, were beating the back country in what is known as an "information campaign." The idea was that of the prime minister. He told his followers the government's only fault is that it wasn't keeping the country informed of its actions. All unnecessary trips abroad, including one that Immigration Minister Fairclough had been planning for three years, were cancelled, the speech writers were put to work, and the campaign got underway.

Whether this short-lived and not very enthusiastic campaign had its desired results is doubtful, but it did produce some interesting views. Take the speech Finance Minister Donald Fleming gave at a meeting of the Brome - Missisquoi Progressive-Conservative Association.

Part of the speech, in fact the greater part, dealt with federal-provincial relations. If nothing else, it reinforced the feeling held in many provincial capitals that real trouble lies ahead.

As reported previously, most of the premiers attending the last session of the federal-provincial fiscal conference initially believed Ottawa was bluffing when it invited the provinces to scrap the tax-rental agreements and set their own rate of personal and corporate income taxes and succession duties. They revised this belief at the end of the conference, but not completely.

It was generally felt that after making this spectacular proposal, the federal Government would let the provinces stew for a while, then come up with a more conciliatory offer.

Mr. Fleming's speech at Brome-Missisquoi should dispel any lingering doubts. For he made it clear that Ottawa thinks it has found the final solution to federal-provincial tax sharing.

"We believe," said Mr. Fleming, "this will ensure a return to constitutional responsibility in matters of taxation."

Mr. Fleming, always the optimist, said the Government had inherited from the previous Liberal Government "an unhappy legacy in the field of dominion-provincial fiscal relations." As a result of the rigid, stiff-necked attitude of the Liberals, he said, relations between the federal and provincial governments were marked by "friction, irritation, and strong dissatisfaction."

Mr. Fleming's speech writer, conveniently, overlooked the comments of the premiers after the last meeting, which broke up in complete confusion, with the provinces muttering darkly about a return to the tax jungle of the 1930's.

This issue is going to aired thoroughly at this session of Parliament. The Liberals and the CCF'ers will attack it on two main points.

First, that it would wipe out twenty years of progress and experience in the tax-rental field, during which Canadians, no matter where they lived, paid the same rate of personal and corporate income taxes, were freed of the inequities of double taxation, and, with the exception of Quebec, had to worry about only one tax collector.

Second, that in proposing a fixed dollar limit to equalization payments, the federal government is undermining the whole concept of equalization, under which the rich provinces help the poor, the rich Canadians assist the poorer Canadians.

That same optimistic speech writer of Mr. Fleming's had this to say of the equalization proposal: "I think all fair-minded Canadians who have regard for constitutional responsibility in Canada will regard this as a very generous proposal on the part of the federal government."

If he had been a bit more cautious in his language, the Opposition wouldn't have been able to hit him quite so hard. If he had said at any point that Ottawa was willing to listen to counterproposals, he would have left himself a way out. As the matter stands now, Mr. Fleming can expect the worst.

Making the initial proposal was one thing, but in defending it as the ultimate in tax agreements, in firming Ottawa's position to the point where it becomes a cut-and-dried, take-it-or-be-damned proposition, Mr. Fleming is inviting trouble.

OUR CENTURY'S CLAIM TO FAME

By TONY EMERY

The Persistent, Energetic Confusion of Ends and Means

Emery

IF I were not so desperately busy nowadays trying to learn how to manipulate the controls of one of those mechanical hockey games with sufficient dexterity to enable me to defeat either of my two smallest children, I would be down there in Beacon Hill Park between Bill Scott and the Socialist Party of Canada spokesmen every Sunday. I feel that one could preach a number of sermons on one particularly important topic before extracting all the essential juice from it: it is not fluoridation or nudism or vegetarianism or single-taxing or unidentified flying objects, although it is sometimes an element in the controversies that surround any or all of these.

It is the persistent, whole-hearted and energetic confusion of ends and means for which, I am convinced, our century will become renowned in time to come.

Two Elements

This confusion is least noticeable in the average individual for the simple reason that there have to be at least two elements to cause even the mildest confusion. Since the average individual, if I am any judge, never pauses to consider to what end, what ultimate nonmaterial goal his life is tending, he is not likely to be troubled by the consciousness of conflict between that end or goal and the means which he should employ to attain it.

Government at almost any level in any country today teems with examples of this confusion. It is not difficult to find official bodies originally set up as a means of bringing about some desirable end, which have, through excessive self-admiration, come to regard their activity as a valuable end in itself.

Administrators of every kind are all too prone to forget that administration is only a means to ensure the smooth and orderly attainment by a number of individuals of some common goal: by a process familiar to students of Professor N. Northcote Parkinson it is not long before administration begins to issue fiats aimed at subordinating the whole shooting match to "administrative convenience," "efficient operation" and I know not what all.

Brilliant Example

The Army—any Army, general, not yours in particular—is a brilliant example that springs immediately to mind.

James Laver, when he passed through Victoria some time ago, told a good story. He was making enquiries at an English railway ticket office about the route from one place in the West Country to another in East Anglia. The ticket clerk quoted him the route, and the rate, via London.

Laver didn't want to go through London, so he asked if there was no way of going across country. The clerk said nobody went any other way than via London, because that was the shortest, most convenient route. Laver said he had plenty of time, and nobody's convenience to study but his own; could he now please have a ticket by the cross-country route.

No, says the clerk. Why not? asks Laver. The clerk, plainly at a loss, says: "You seem to think British Railways are run for your convenience!"

Education is no stranger to this kind of topsy-turvy thinking. You have only to listen to the emotional harangues of some people to discover, to your surprise, that the whole end of education is, and ought to be, to Beat the Russians. The best education, by this definition, is that which produces most people capable of designing, making and launching more extra-terrestrial ironmongery than the nearest and most dangerous rival.

Contemporary painting is richly illustrative of the confusion of ends and means. The manipulation of oil-paint on a flat surface has, for five centuries, been the chief means employed by the painter to achieve his artistic ends, although those ends have varied according to time and place.

Today, for the first time in history, the manipulation of oil-paint for its own sake has become the end of a number of painters: the painting merely is—it stands as symbol or metaphor for nothing else. The painting of the extremists in this school must stand or fall, then, I take it, as decoration: it is decorative, or it is nothing.

Played Its Part

Decoration has played its part in the art forms of many, if not all civilizations, but I cannot believe it is the only end, and I look forward to the time when this particular craze has spent itself, before all shows become as dull as the annual exhibitions of the Royal Academy, though for different reasons.

A full-page advertisement in praise of the modern labor-saving appliance recently appeared alongside the matutinal plate as I prepared to meet the day. Here is the richest jest of all. The labor-saving appliance was originally designed, I assume, to save labor. The time saved by the busy housewife was going to be invested in reading, learning a new language every year, and generally making productive use of the new-found leisure, while the ingenious machines chirruped and whirred through the daily chores. Hubby, too, was going to have time to study electronics, Esperanto, and the proper use of "whom."

End Result

That, at any rate was the dream. What is the reality? Wifie and hubby are both out working hard, too busy for family life, too tired at the end of the day for anything but television. What are they working for? To keep up the payments on the labor-saving appliances.

Let me give you what the clever boys call a paradigm of mid-twentieth-century success. A man is born of poor but honest parents the wrong side of the tracks in a hovel whose walls vibrate to the shattering din of passing trains. He gets out into the world, and works hard, impressing his superiors with his energy, loyalty, and devotion to the firm. He marries a lovely girl; they have, in due time, a lovely family; and today they live in a lovely home.

In the living room stands a machine that is his pride and joy, a symbol of all that he has striven for. As he turns the switch of his elaborate stereophonic noise reproducer, the walls vibrate to the shattering din of passing trains. Everyone agrees that he has come a long way. And, they add with modest pride, it could only happen under our system.

'COLUMNISTS ARE IN SHOW BUSINESS'

By STUART KEATE

With at Least One Bolt of Lightning on Every Page

Adventures of a Columnist, by Pierre Berton. Toronto: McClelland and Stewart Limited. 211 pps. $5.00.

A CURSORY examination of this new volume by Pierre Berton might lead one to conclude that this is just another collection of newspaper columns. Closer study, however, reveals that these vignettes are essentially minor morality plays—the Good Guys versus the Bad Guys, with at least one bolt of lightning on every page.

The Good Guys, obviously, are Mr. Berton and a mystic crew known simply as Operatives. The Bad Guys are the people within radius of the Berton column—dance instructors, milk dealers, magazine hucksters, cookware vendors, the door-to-door pedlars of vacuum cleaners you can't buy.

Clearly, Berton is fascinated by salesmen. And the shadier they are, the greater the glee with which he pummels them. Let a man sell a $20 aluminum window for $60 and Pierre is after him, the Elliott Ness of print. Let another boast of a house with a "Lived-In Look" and Berton will confound him with pictures that look as though they were taken at the War Correspondents' clubrooms, the morning after the annual meeting. Let an undertaker advertise "hand-painted casket veils" and—Pow! Right in the kisser!

There's an explanation for all this, guilessly revealed by Berton himself. Somewhere in the book he says: "Let's face it: columnists are in show business."

PIERRE BERTON

Certainly. And one of the best salesmen of them all is the author. His product: Pierre Berton.

What with books, newspaper columns, articles, television broadcasts, poems, cartoons, films, revue skits and radio spots, the former Victoria boy has become a veritable factory of Bertonia. Indeed, word from Toronto is that the only way he could cope with this output, tax-wise, was to have himself entered on the business lists as Pierre Berton, Inc.

So ubiquitous has he become—and so successful—that he has displaced an entire city in the disaffection of Canadians. A decade ago, people used to say: "I hate Toronto." Now they say: "I hate Pierre Berton"—particularly the people of Vancouver, concerning whom he penned some devastating truths not long ago.

This, of course, is the ultimate accolade, the goal of all columnists. The man has arrived.

Which raises the question: has Pierre, the master salesman, really capitalized on this national antipathy? Could it not, with cunning attention, be cultivated, until it blossomed into sheer contempt?

Take, for instance, his deportment on that interesting TV show "Front Page Challenge." When Berton guesses the identity of the challenger—as he always does—what does he do? He lowers his head modestly, flutters an eyelid, and looks embarassed.

This is all wrong. To get at that minority audience which still likes him, Berton should smirk confidently, twirl his moustache, and with a knowing leer at his confreres, cry: "Any stupid oaf should know the answer to that one. The challenger is my old friend, Adolf Eichmann.'

Within weeks his mail would soar; the Post Office would be compelled to keep on its Christmas help, thus solving the unemployment problem; cereal companies could manufacture Pierre Berton Hallowe'en masks for the kids; Mr. Diefenbaker could go on the Nation's Business during Brotherhood Week and appeal for cool heads.

'The Adventures of a Columnist?" Why, the surface of this thing has scarcely been scratched.

SILENUS OBSERVED

By 'PISCATOR'

This week gentle readers are asked to bear with the cumbersome classical style of a guest, Piscator. All I am going to say is that gentle readers have no cause to complain; I have to put up with this sort of thing almost daily, they only rarely. They should also keep in mind the old adage that you shouldn't believe everything you read in the papers. Herewith Piscator:

DURING October, the month when the Maenads achieve a high degree of intoxication from chewing ivy leaves, your guest columnist received an imperious summons to attend upon Silenus.

The opportunity to observe Silenus at his revels was irresistible so pausing only to grab a fishing pole and several "James Island Flasher" lures, I joined him and we set off, lustily chanting "Lead me to the Vessel" from Meyerbeer's L'Africana. On the ferry, steaming towards that unpronounceable place on the mainland, Silenus gorged himself with a hearty breakfast of seagulls, only to have his post-prandial bonhomie subdued by his inability to emulate the feat of his former pupil Dionysus and turn the oars into serpents. Once again on dry land, calm followed confusion, and on our arrival at the river named after David, that well known chip off the Thomp block, gloom was dispelled by a visitation from his Muse, who permitted him to warble, in care-free cacophony with hte Stellar's jays:

"Sur le pont, pont de Spence,
On y pechera, on y pechera . . ." —

a happy moment which was subsequently felt to have no mearing whatsoever on the almost total absence of fish. On a carefully chosen campsite, and after only a few false casts, the scribe then proceeded to prove the eternal truth of the phrase "J'y suis, j'y reste" as he embedded his conveyance in several feet of soft sand. Camp was completed as darkness fell, and the Falernian was broken out to the soothing sigh of the river, the roar of the nearby main road and the merry clanging of the trains on the two railroads that bordered our domestic hearth.

After remarking at 6.30 in the morning (as Matthew Arnold manfully refrained from doing):

"Say, has some wet bird-haunted
B.C lawn
Lent it the music of its trains

and fortified with smoked pig and caffeine, we lent our gaze to the awesome and primaeval struggles of the local Vulcan as he hauled our mechanical monster from its siliciferous resting-place. By mid-morning all was normal (or as nearly so as it was ever likely to be) and the time was ripe to hurl our tridents at Salmo Gairdnerii in the river.

Elbowing our way through the assembled ranks at anxious anglers, we spent an hour in flailing the water to a froth before Silenus raised a mighty shout. "Eureka!" he cried, and breathlessly the battle raged up and down the beach until, up to his waist in water, he finally drew the ends of his net together round the monster. Hauling it onto the rocks, we fell upon it with clubs until its eyes rolled up in its head, and its struggles ceased. Triumphantly Silenus adopted the traditional pose for his portrait to be taken, one foot on the corps, net and trident in his right hand, his left holding a laurel wreath over his heart.

Then came the feasting and the revels: neighbors joining our celebration: potables passed from hand to hand; the fire burnt bright and the Master in (mercifully) rare form related one incomprehensible anecdote after another. As Keats had it in "Endymion":

"And near him rode Silenus on his ass,
Pelted with flowers as he on did pass,
Tipsily quaffing . . ."

In the morning, as daylight came, a deluge drew a dank curtain over the bitter remnants of out bacchanalia. On our return to the coast, Silenus, scorning the ship, crossed the Straits on a tiger, as once before he and Dionysus had crossed the Tigris. Filled with emotions, to many to be enumerated, we watched alone as our sage and mentor was carried, albeit somewhat insecurely, toward the setting sun. Then, seated on the alien sand, we limned this chronicle in hand-hewn hemlock, to be buried for posterity under the foundations of the new courthouse.

LONDON LETTER

By WALLACE REYBURN

'This Angry Young Play'

LONDON—Show news . . . John Osborne has at last got his first TV play produced.

Reyburn

Titled a Subject of Scandal and Concern, it was commissioned by one network and discarded, picked up by another and abandoned, and finally put on by the BBC at an off-peak hour. Viewers could well see why.

About the Chartists, the reform movement of the early 19th century, it was hardly a play at all, angry or otherwise, but rather a sort of documentary tracing the arrest, trial and conviction of a man who dared to express doubts about the existence of God.

Interlarded with the bits of action by the century old types was commentary by a 1960 narrator with a briefcase who explained what was happening in best Broadcasts For Schools style.

"Dull," was the operative word from the critics, plus the feeling that for Osborne to have to go back to 1842 for ideas he must be having plot problems in this rather unproductive period he's going through.

For the first time, the Queen is to appear in a fiction film.

It's a movie called The Queen's Guards, and interwoven into the story will be shots taken from this year's Trooping the Color . . . with full co-operation from Buckingham Palace.

* * *

Not much in the news these days: Kenneth More, mainly because he's been hard at it finishing his latest film, Man In the Moon.

It's just been released, to the general reaction that he need hardly have taken the trouble. A comedy about a hearty fellow who suddenly finds himself, through his uncanny immunity to illness, being trained as an astronaut, it never gets off the pad.

No holding Jacqui Chan, one time model and friend of Antony Armstrong-Jones.

She has been launched on a two-week stint as a cabaret star (she's taken to singing) at the fashionable Society Restaurant—a favorite haunt of Princess Margaret and her husband.

Will they catch her show? "Surely," comments one paper, "they wouldn't stay away when one of their Westminster Abbey guests is performing."

DEPORTEE IN VANCOUVER

'We're Going To Fight'

By BOB TRIMBEE, Canadian Press Staff Writer

VANCOUVER (CP)—"We're going to fight this thing and win. We're going to fight the act until it's repealed."

A tired, somewhat bewildered Hamish Scott MacKay, 55, forced these comments at the Vancouver International Airport early today following his deportation from the United States.

The native of Consort, Alberta, who entered the U.S. in 1926 at the age of 21, was one of two Portland workmen deported by U.S. immigration service officials on the grounds of alleged Communist activity during the early 1930s.

Friday morning William A. Mackie, 51, a close friend of MacKay's, was deported to Finland, where he was born while his parents were visiting there. He entered the U.S. when he was eight months old.

PLANS INDEFINITE

"I haven't any definite plans, but I know wherever I go I'll have friends," MacKay said. "I'm not sure where I'll be staying for the next few days, but my pastor in Portland gave me a telephone number to call."

MacKay's wife, two sons, a grandson, brother and mother remained in Portland.

"They'll stay there until I see what develops. That's why I chose Vancouver. I could have gone back to Consort, near where I was born, but this is close to Portland and my relatives and friends can visit me easier."

LONG BATTLE ENDS

The deportation ended an eight-year court battle by the two men. Their fight was supported by education, newspaper, union and church officials. Twice it went to the U.S. Supreme Court, only to be rejected by split decisions.

"I think the Supreme Court forgot about the constitution when they ruled on our case," said MacKay. "I've never been a Communist."

SOUGHT CITIZENSHIP

In 1930 Mr. MacKay took out his first citizenship papers in Chicago. Later that year he moved to Portland and in 1935 applied for his final papers.

"They told me I couldn't get them because I was a Communist. I had a lot of hearings and each time denied I was a Communist. They never allowed me to come face to face with the person who told them I was a Communist."

Mr. MacKay said he is one of 350 aliens that have been or will be deported under the McCarran-Walter Act.

"I fought this right from the start and never hesitated to deny their charges. I guess that's why it took so long for them to deport me."

MacKay's fight was financed through the selling of his home and land and with funds donated by friends, relatives and associations who "believed an injustice was being done."

"The fight's going to continue until we get rid of the McCarran-Walter Act of 1950 or until a limitation is put into it to prevent long-time residents from being deported.

"It's an unfair act and fascist."

MacKay, now with few financial resources of his own, says friends and his lawyer in the U.S. will continue the fight. Several groups that supported him, including the Oregon chapter of the Methodist Church Federation for Social Action and the International Longshoremen's Union, also have opposed the act and are expected to continue to do so.

MacKay said he held no malice toward the American people and would return to Portland, if possible, and even take out citizenship papers.

Bill Cameron, business agent of Local 452 of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America, CLC, said MacKay will have no trouble joining the local here once "we receive his clearance papers from Portland local."

MacKay, who landed in Canada with a suitcase of belongings and $75.80 cash, worked until the day he was deported.

Council Pay Referendum In Oak Bay

Oak Bay voters will be asked in a referendum Dec. 8 whether they are in favor of the reeve and councillors being paid for their services.

The decision was made by council.

Under the act, a municipality the size of Oak Bay can pay the reeve $3,600 a year and councillors each $1,200 a year.

The subject of paying an annual indemnity to councillors has been a controversial issue in Oak Bay for the past two years.

Reeve George Murdock, outspoken opponent of salaries for council, said he was opposed to an indemnity on the grounds that it was a "breach of faith" on the part of the people who took elected office knowing it was without pay.

There Is No Magic Formula

THERE is nothing mysterious about the treatment of disease. It is a sound, practical procedure. The physician deliberates each individual case, prescribes the remedy indicated. Despite the wild propaganda of the patent medicine vendors, there is no magic formula. In many instances, indiscriminate self-medication results in serious harm. Even a minor illness should not be neglected. When you feel "out of sorts," consult a competent physician. Receive the benefit of his years of study. Then bring his prescriptions to us to be filled. If yours is an illness that yields to treatment, prompt recovery will be your reward.

BAD PUBLICITY SHUNNED

Labor Code Bans Union Quarrelling

OTTAWA (CP)—A formal code of ethics aimed at preventing public squabbling within Canada's labor movement has been approved by the Canadian Labor Congress.

The code, now being printed for distribution among unions across the country, would bar public attacks or criticisms by any CLC union against the structure, character, practices or motives of another union.

"Public attacks by one affiliate upon another result in adverse publicity which causes grave injury to organized labor," the preamble of the code says. It will apply to unions representing more than 1,000,000 workers in Canada.

CLC officials indicate the new code would have applied to a recent public criticism of international unionism by a top officer of Canada's biggest national union, the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway, Transport and General Workers (CLC).

NO FORMAL SANCTIONS

However, the code does not provide for any formal sanctions or extreme disciplinary measures against a CLC affiliate that violates its provisions.

The code itself points up one outcome of unfavorable publicity after inter-union membership scraps and organizational boycotts—it gives rise to regulatory legislation against unions.

The key section bars CLC affiliates from directly or indirectly issuing propaganda that:

1. Implies any other affiliate is guilty of undemocratic practices, corruption or any other improper conduct.
2. Attacks the principles of international, national, provincial or regional unionism.
3. Attacks the craft or industrial structure of other unions.
4. Criticizes the benefits received from or the dues and initiation fees paid to another affiliate.

The code also bans unions from setting up boycotts against products or services produced under a bonafide agreement held by another union.

"GOAT"—Ink and wash study by Nita Forrest.

A WRITER'S DIARY

By ROBERTSON DAVIES

Three weeks ago I attempted to describe what happens to a new play during the rehearsal period, as a playwright sees it. Several readers have told me they found it interesting and hoped I would say more on the subject; in particular, some of them wanted to know what happened as the day of the first performance drew near.

Did the playwright find his work increasingly lighter, until at last he was no longer needed?

Nothing so simple happens, in my experience. A playwright is not just a man who writes plays; he is somebody who "wrights" them, and his work is akin to that of the shipwright or the wheelwright; the old word comes from the verb "wreak" and it implies a considerable amount of effort.

The playwright goes right on wreaking until the first night of the play, and if it is opening outside New York for a tryout period, he may do his most intense wreaking after that.

Audience Reaction Unpredictable

The reason is that nobody, however experienced or intuitive, can tell just how a play will strike an audience.

The scenes which seemed so telling in the rehearsal room may somehow fail to impress in the theatre. Then they have to be altered, and tried on an audience again, until the right effect is achieved. This does not mean complete re-writing, but careful tinkering, adding or deleting a word or two; trying to bring whatever is important into greater prominence; sometimes moving a scene to a different point in the play.

But, some people will say, that isn't real writing at all! That is fiddling around with words and sentences, and a real writer — a fellow who worked when the Muse inspired him—would have nothing to do with it.

Perhaps they are right. But writing a play is somewhat like making a clock; it is not enough to cram the wheels and springs inside the case; they must, with patience and cunning, be made to work.

Some clocks, even when they bear the names of famous makers, never "go" quite right; there are plays, too, that won't "go" and it is just as hard to tell why. Putting the finishing touches on a play after the first night is not unlike regulating a clock.

This is not to say that the first night is unimportant. Everything that can be done is done to make the performance as effective as possible.

After all, the people who come then pay for their seats with money just as good as those who see it later in New York, and they must not be cheated of anything that careful preparation can give them. But they cannot, in the nature of things, have a performance which is seasoned by what they themselves first bring to it—a fresh, unprejudiced response.

Theatre Is a Co-operative Art

The composer of music has a great advantage over a playwright in that he can summon up for himself an ideal and perhaps a perfect performance of his work.

The playwright cannot tell what his play will sound like and look like when the actors, the director and the designer have finished with it. If it is a success, he cannot take all the credit: if a failure, certainly not all the blame is his. The theatre is an inescapably co-operative art.

Although the first night performance is not final in form, it is exciting and everybody, including the audience, attaches great importance to it.

The actors, the director and certainly the playwright reach it in a condition of fatigue which must be overcome by nervous energy. They have probably been in the theatre for 12 or 14 hours for several days beforehand, and though theatres are exciting, nobody has ever found them airy, light or physically refreshing; they smell of canvas, glue, dust and the ghosts of mink coats.

Furthermore, as the first night approaches, theatre people go on an almost exclusive diet of sandwiches and coffee in cardboard cups, and anybody like myself whose enthusiasm for picnicking is limited, suffers.

When the first night actually arrives, what does the author do?

It is easier to tell what he does not do. He does not sit in the audience; he hangs about at the back of the auditorium, trying to be invisible. He does not mingle with the audience at intermission time, asking people how they like his piece; he wants to know, but he would rather die than ask.

He does not bother the actors; they have their own troubles and don't want to see him.

OUTCAST

He is a lonely creature, and however much a philosopher he may be, he cannot escape a sense of being an outcast. He watches the audience with the intensity of a cannibal surveying a missionary conference. In Row D there is a fat man who laughs at every joke; the playwright's soul goes out to that fat man in gratitude.

At the first intermission three expensively dressed people—a man and two minky women—leave the theatre declaring loudly that they do not want to see any more. The playwright pursues them with his hatred; he wishes he had the power to send them to Siberia.

He is a man torn by irrational but understandable emotions. When the play is ended he is very tired. The actors, stimulated by the practice of their art, are fresh as daisies, ready for more sandwiches and cardboard coffee. But the playwright desires only to go to bed.

But not to sleep. To think of cuts, of expansions, of tinkering that may improve the play.

ART IN REVIEW

By ARTHUR CORRY

Creativity, Fine Drawing Mark Nita Forrest's Art

Once in a while one finds an exhibit of artist's work that is inspiring, elating and on the whole a joy to view. Nita Forrest's collection at The Point comes under this classification and although a suggestion of "Siebner" can be seen in such paintings as "Quiet Rocks" and "Blue Nude," the artist has shown great skill in creating and a masterly hand in drawing.

Corry

Mrs. Forrest was born in Quesnel, B.C., studied art in Vancouver and locally under Herbert Siebner. Winning a prize at the Port Alberni show last month, exhibiting with the Canadian Group of Painters, and a member of a "two man" show at the Victoria Art Gallery, are among a few of the accomplishments of this artist.

"On the Telephone," "Seated Nude," "Figure in Shadow," and "Goat," are water colors, or ink sketches, which show a free, easy, creative style. These I feel are elating: achievements, which bring out an excellent aspect of Nita Forrest.

Many of her compositions are concerned with the sea, or rather with the sea-coast. "Low Tide," of browns, orange and black, in an antique frame, stripped and whitened, has warmth, interest, and an arresting arrangement of spherical shapes.

Shades of light blue, and yellow green, with interesting forms complete the design of "Sea Mystery," so well framed in bird's-eye maple.

An elongated body composes the oil sketch "Figure in Repose" and like the ink drawings has a free, inspiring feeling.

Mrs. Forrest, year by year, is advancing in the "Art World" and I feel in time will become one of Western Canada's "Greats."

Enchanted

Some 14 years ago I first met Emily Sartain and my admiration for her studies is as great now as it was then. Anything I might say in the way of praise, I fear, has already been said.

Miss Sartain has, in conjunction with the performance of "The Enchanted" at Langham Court, painted three exquisite botanical studies, "Mandrake," "Henbane" and "Black Hellebore" or Christmas Rose, which are to be displayed at the theatre during the performance.

All three herbs are mentioned in the script and the artist has created arrangements worthy of Mother Nature herself.

SHARING SOLO SPOT with baritone John Dunbar on the Scottish concert program by Vera Barclay Singers, Nov. 30, is lovely contralto Eunice Dockree. Mrs. Dockree was an outstanding contender in senior classes of the 1960 Victoria Music Festival. Other soloists will be Ronnie Chisholm, accordionist, and two dancers from the Adelaide Duncan Studio. There will also be a children's ensemble. Conductor will be Mrs. Barclay with James Saunders at the piano. Concert will take place at Holyrood House at 8.15.

Louis Braille's system of printing for the blind was introduced in 1829.

Young Canada Bookshelf

ACCENT ON APRIL, by Betty Cavanna. Geo. J. McLeod Ltd. ($3.50).

With sympathetic insight Betty Cavanna has captured the happy carefree school days of young Kathy McCall and her older brother Jonathan. And for added interest a boy from Sweden stays at their home while attending school in Boston.

The story reveals the close relationship between the members of a typically middle class American family and tells how the bewildering problems of teen-agers are resolved in this wholesome atmosphere of love and understanding.

The book has a tender appeal that will strike a responsive chord and at the same time exert a sound influence on young teen-agers.—M.L.

Belafonte Ensemble Was Overnight Hit

Who are the Belafonte Folk Singers? A company of 14 selected male voices with three instrumentalists and their conductor, Robert de Cormier.

They are also, in every individual instance, highly qualified musicians of soloist calibre.

Actually they became an outstanding concert and recording group almost over night and more or less by accident.

Originally, like a jury, they were 12 picked men engaged to accompany Harry Belafonte for background and dramatic effects on his nationwide tours. The blending of these distinctive voices was so effective, however, that several solo numbers were arranged for them.

After that audience reaction made it quickly apparent that the group was becoming a unique entity, well meriting major billing.

With their first recorded album the Belafonte Folk Singers were born and all subsequent appearances and recordings have been greeted with mounting enthusiasm.

Their conductor-arranger, Robert de Cormier, is Belafonte's own musical director. He has arranged and conducted all the Belafonte recording sessions.

A graduate of Juilliard School in New York, he has composed and conducted for every theatrical media, ranging from work with New York's famed off-Broadway Phoenix Theatre to a TV film about Lincoln.

He recently completed a concert tour with Charlton Heston, presenting a musical setting of "The Reading From the Five Books of Moses," and was musical director for TV's "World of Sholom Aleichem" and the "Tonight With Belafonte" program.

Tickets for the Belafonte Folk Singers are available from Famous Artists box office, Kent's Ltd., Fort St.

Organ Virtuoso At Metropolitan

World-famous Dutch organ virtuoso, Feike Asma, who will give a concert at Metropolitan United Church next Wednesday at 8.15, travels far and wide as a dedicated ambassador of the "king of instruments."

He plays an astounding 200 recitals annually to international audiences of approximately 125,000 persons.

Top request numbers to be played here include Mendelssohn's Sixth Sonata and Boellmann's "Suite Gothique."

Tickets are available at Eaton's and Western Music.

By AUDREY JOHNSON

Visitors to Langham Court Theatre during the ensuing week will be variously charmed by the Victoria Theatre Guild production of "The Enchanted."

For some its whimsical dream-world atmosphere will appear as a welcome change from the humdrum; others will be tickled by the lightsome tongue-in-cheek satire on bureaucracy and its deadening effect on the human spirit. Some will be impressed by the endless flow of poetically expressed philosophies.

It is this last quality, however, which tends to undermine the play's ultimate effectiveness. There is too much talk.

It would take consummate skill on the part of director and actors to overcome the impression of scene following scene at the same pace and tonal level; for the play, as a piece of dramatic craftsmanship does not, in itself, provide sufficient contrasting episodes or accents.

This means that opportunities and means of imposing such, devolve upon the company.

Nevertheless, when all's said and done, this is challenging material, rewarding for the actors and in many aspects, for the audience, who will find its piquant humor, poignancy and visual beauty well worth the price of a ticket.

The production is scenically delightful, well lighted, costumed, and on the whole, adequately cast.

As winsome a group of little girls as one could find supply a great part of the enchantment, playing with excellent concentration and verve.

Robin Hall was an ethereally entrancing and convincing Isabel and clear, consistent characterizations were provided by Ron Gilmore (well personified officialdom), Don Jacobs, Ken Bostock, John Hodder and Margaret Hall and Ethel Lloyd Jones as two amusingly endearing old ladies.

"The Enchanted" will be repeated tonight and throughout next week.

Symphony Expands for Berlioz

There will be more than the usual stagefull of musicians, I hear, at next weekend's Victoria Symphony concerts. Aside from a pair of guest artists in place of the customary single, Hans Gruber is temporarily enlarging his orchestra.

This is necessary because Hector Berlioz supplies two-thirds of the three-item program, and Berlioz was in love with great orchestral masses of tone. And not only in love with them but had the genius to use them superbly.

To balance that statement it should be added, however, that the grandoise and gigantic only expresses one side of the French composer's musical personality.

Gallic grace and delicacy, tenderness and romantic lyricism are amply represented in his work.

His "Benvenuto Cellini" Overture will open the program and the Symphonie Fantastique will close it, with Brahms' Double Concerto for 'cello violin and orchestra as the rich filling in the sandwich.

The Symphonie is an exciting affair, moving and theatrical, based, as was customary with Berlioz, on a literary idea and anticipating the Wagnerian leit-motif with a love theme that is recurrent throughout the work.

His passionate infatuation with the Shakespearean actress, Harriet Smithson, inspired this remarkable work, so that ardor, as well as its theatricality are completely genuine—in fact, inevitable.

Berlioz was only 27 when he composed the Symphonie. Through it he visualized—"A young musician of morbid sensibility and ardent imagination in a paroxysm of lovesick despair has poisoned himself with opium. The drug, too weak to kill, plunges him into a heavy sleep accompanied by strange visions. His sensations, feelings and memories are translated in his sick brain into musical images and ideas. The beloved one herself becomes for him a melody, a recurrent theme (idee fixe) that haunts him everywhere."

Significantly, Berlioz himself attempted suicide when thwarted in his wish to marry Miss Smithson, but was revived to win his heart's desire. It was a marriage that ended in separation a few years later.

Symphony fans will get all this powerful drama and romanticism in its marvelous and intricate orchestral fabric — and Brahms' too, with Mary and Clifford Evens, who are almost sufficient a bonus in themselves.

If anyone thinks the November entertainment front has been heavily engaged let them pause for a moment and take a look at what is already being offered for the first half of December.

Events are in sufficient variety to please most tastes, young and old, popular and specific.

First comes Victoria High School with one of its big "specials," involving all the various talents in the student body and staff.

On Dec. 2 and 3 a "Festival of Fine Arts" will feature an art exhibition from Mrs. Frances Cameron's classes, choral music by a massed choir of 60 voices as well as duets and trios under the direction of Miss Norma Douglas; the VHS band and orchestra conducted by Rowland Grant and Miss Marie Milburn respectively, with several solo performances.

Dramatic art will be represented by a one-act play, "Elizabeth Refuses," directed by T. W. Mayne.

Tickets will be available from students and at the door.

A much anticipated treat is promised in the December 5, 6 and 7 performances at the Royal Theatre by Victoria Gilbert and Sullivan Society of "HMS Pinafore."

Honoring the RCN 50th anniversary on this coast, this production is getting full technical co-operation from local naval authorities.

Musical director is Stanley Hoban, stage director, Tony Nicholson.

On Dec. 9 at Duncan, and 11 and 12 at the Royal, Victoria Symphony Orchestra will have the most fascinating little people in the world as guest artists.

Llords' fabulous puppets are entirely unique and quite accustomed to appearing with symphony orchestras.

Victoria Choral Society will give a performance of the "Messiah" on Dec. 14. Under Stanley Hoban's direction this will feature soloists Peggy Walton Packard, Michael Rogers, Eleanor Duff and Stanley Martin.

Musical Art Program Presents Fine Artists

In an interesting presentation of local artists next Wednesday, a Victoria Musical Art Society program will feature duo pianists Margery Vaughan and Rita Wallis, contralto Sara Dillistone and solo clarinettist Barry Moncur.

Accompanists will be Dorothy Gough for Mrs. Dillistone and Faith Webster for Mr. Moncur.

Both Miss Vaughan and Mrs. Wallis (the former Rita Nevard) studied locally under Stanley Shale, who is now a professor and examiner for the Royal Academy of Music in London.

Under scholarship, both also studied at London, Ont., with Max Pirani. In 1951 they decided to begin working as a two-piano team, but their busy lives as teachers of piano have allowed them little time to make public appearances.

On this somewhat rare occasion they will play an arrangement of Elgar's "Enigma" Variations as well as a group of shorter pieces.

SARA DILLISTONE

Mrs. Dillistone has lived in Victoria less than a year and is now a member of the Gilbert and Sullivan Society. Her lovely voice has provided her with an interesting musical career to date.

She obtained an Associateship of Music from Mount Allison University, Sackville, N.B., in 1955 and subsequently studied at the Royal Academy in London under Professor Robert Alva, obtaining her licentiateship.

Back in Canada, she studied a further two years in Halifax, was a guest on a Young Artists series program, a church soloist and winner of oratorio, rose bowl and sight singing classes in the 1959 Halifax Musical Festival.

With Mrs. Webster at the piano, Mr. Moncur—who plays solo clarinet with the Navy Band and first clarinet in the Victoria Symphony Orchestra—will play an original composition for clarinet and piano by Rodney Webster of Victoria, and Erwinn Fantasia by G. Meister.

Tickets for the concert, which takes place at Holyrood House, are on sale at Eaton's Ticket Bureau.

Phil Lee's Two for the Show

AA (Oscar Class) BB (Worthwhile) A (Don't Miss) B (For Rainy Days) C (To put in time)

(A) "HIGH TIME" (Royal)—It is with regret that circumstances did not permit me to review 20th Century Fox's adaptation of Garson Kanin's story, "High Time," before this, the final day of the film's run at the Royal.

For although lighter than air plotwise, it is none the less an engaging comedy that has a few sensible things to say during the picture's 103-minutes running time. What's more, its color treatment and unusual photographic effects as implemented by the smart hands of director Blake Edwards and producer Charles Brackett lend to its overall enchantment.

The story concerns Bing Crosby, a successful businessman and widower who, at 51, decides to return to college—in spite of the vigorous objections of his grown son and daughter. In spite of his age he gets along well with his younger roommates, Fabian, Richard Beymer and Patrick Adiarte. He even manages to find companionship in French teacher Nicole Maurey.

From beginning to last the film is full of fun not the least of which stems from Bing's arrival at a formal party dressed as a woman—all part of his fraternity initiations. That his own pluty kids are there makes it all the funnier.

All contribute to the whole nicely, treating their chores with a feeling for what is needed. Also showing to good effect is young Tuesday Weld. The ending, by the way, is a gasser.

If there is a complaint against "High Time" I would suggest that it is the "trailer," that short preview you see the week before the film is to open. If anything put patrons off from wanting to see "High Time" it was this.

Destructive Love Theme of Drama

Much has been written and said about "the silver cord," that deceptively benign, subtly destructive bond that often strangles the life from the offspring of over-possessive mothers.

Is there any remedy, any escape? Theatre fans who attend a Peninsula Players' production at the Legion Hall, Sidney, Nov. 25 and 26, will see how playwright Sidney Howard presents the case in a tense three-act drama, "The Silver Cord."

In the demanding role of the adoring — and adored — widowed mother of two sons, will be Ginger Norman. Mrs. Norman, who, several years ago was frequently seen on stage at the Langham Court Theatre, scored a success last year in the Peninsula Players' presentation of "Outward Bound," in which she played a leading character role.

Mrs. Lesley Allen of Victoria is directing the cast of popular North Saanich actors. Curtain time is 8.15.

ALL-STAR CAST

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Tab Hunter has joined the cast of players in "The Pleasure of His Company,", the Perlberg-Seaton screen version of the Broadway stage hit. Already signed for the Paramount release are Fred Astaire, Debbie Reynolds, Lilli Palmer, Charles Ruggles and Gary Merrill.

BEASTALL ADVISES

Wall Climbers, Painters Will Like Hinged Trellis

By JACK BEASTALL

Climbing wall plants have never reached the degree of popularity here that has been accorded them in other countries, and there may be some good reasons for this.

One reason could be that the materials we use for construction lend themselves to the making of pleasing lines more readily than do bricks and stone.

When the building itself has soft contours and artistic adornments it is questionable if anything is gained with a covering of plants.

Another point is that most of our materials depend in part on applied color for beauty, and the frequent renewing of the color coat for preservation.

Jack

It is well known that painters dislike wall climbers as much as the plants dislike painters.

Yet we see many instances where a suitable climber could be used to enhance a certain portion of the house, soften a sharp, unpleasing outline, or effect an apparent reduction in size of a space which lacks other ornament.

OVERCOME

Objections to climbing wall plants can be overcome by using what might be called a hinged trellis which would permit the painter access to the wall without the unpleasant task of removing the climber and risking the possibility of damage to the plant.

Such a trellis could be of fancy design in wood, or a simple wood or metal frame supporting chicken wire or fencing.

Instead of being permanently attached to the wall it is bolted to one or more treated wooden posts driven into the border, so that the top can be leaned outward (with climber attached) to expose the surface for painting.

In most instances the posts need not reach higher than 12 inches above soil level, just sufficient to facilitate attaching the trellis, but if the border already contains tall permanent plants the use of longer posts will provide clearance.

Wood blocks attached to the wall support the top of the trellis, which is held secure by using screws, large hooks and eyes, or suitable turn-buttons.

When climbing wall plants are mentioned it is surprising how many gardeners jump to the conclusion that you are referring to roses.

Roses are but one of the many lovely climbers, and are not necessarily the best, the easiest to maintain, nor are they suited to every condition and aspect.

When the rose is desired, a suitable color will be found among the climbing hybrid teas which give large blooms over a long period, or we can resort to some of the older varieties such as Paul's Scarlet.

Among the honeysuckles will be found climbers which bring back memories of childhood in another land. Fragrant, neat, and requiring little attention, these are suited to covering small areas.

Even among the hydrangeas we find climbing forms. Hydrangea petiolaris will cover a larger area, giving chestnut buds and stems for winter ornament, whitish flowers in flat clusters through May and June, and colored leaves for the fall.

THE JASMINES

The winter flowering jasmine (Jasminum nudiflorum) is well known, and in favored locations is already showing its yellow blossoms. Less known are the summer flowering kinds.

Jasminum officinalis has white flowers through mid to late summer and very attractive foliage which usually persists throughout the winter. Jasminum beesianum is a pink flowered summer bloomer.

All these jasmines are fragrant, some more than others depending on the gardener's sniffability. Adjacent trellises of summer and winter flowering kinds would give a wall of year-round interest.

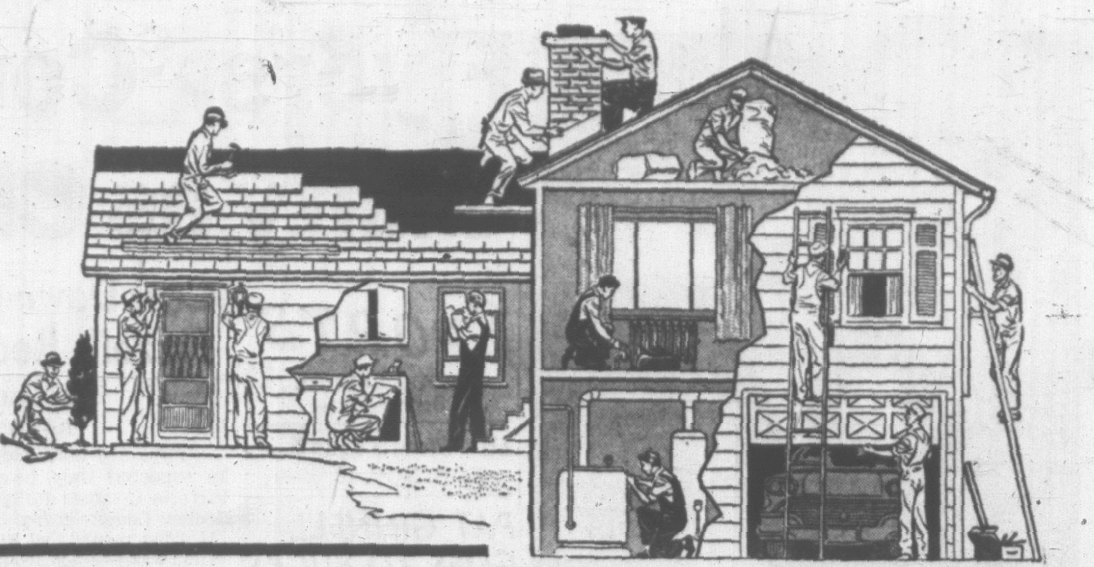
PLAN NOW



Keep Winter Employment at its Highest Possible Level. Plan NOW to have your building improvements done during the off season. Business firms and householders who contemplate repairs and alterations are urged to plan them for this winter's slack employment period when workmen will be available for all types of work.

Remember! When Everybody Works—Everybody Benefits!

THE WEEK'S WORK

By JACK BEASTALL

Plants in cold frames being protected from excessive rain should have covers removed on rainless days, and be well ventilated at other times.

Straw mats, sacking or building paper kept ready and dry, will be useful as added protection over the glass in severe frost.

The pot plants, winter cherry (Solanum capicastrum), poinsettia and the Christmas flowering cactus all require warm temperatures now (60-70 deg. F.) to bring them along for Christmas. Well diluted liquid fertilizer once in two weeks for the next month (two feedings only) will help.

Plan Repairs, Projects For Dull Winter Months

It seems that many important national campaigns tend to "die out" at the local level. This is unfortunate, but in many ways not surprising. There are so many appeals for help nowadays that it is understandable that we pass some of them by.

An appeal to help 50,000 people in some far off land hasn't the impact of an appeal to assist just a few persons right here in our own community.

It is this fact that makes the local aspect of the Winter Employment Campaign so important because, although what you do may have some bearing on Canada's economy, even more important it could have a direct effect on the livelihood of your friends down the street.

MAINTENANCE

As a householder you can arrange to have all types of inside work, such as renovation, decoration, repairs, and other maintenance work around your home done during the winter months, including tune up of lawnmowers and outboard motors, dry cleaning, and so forth.

As a member of a business organization you can recommend that your firm arrange for construction and maintenance work to be done in the winter, plan the production and stockpiling of standard products during the winter months, organize special campaigns and discounts to encourage winter work, and encourage the use of annual vacations in the off-season and the training of personnel in winter instead of summer.

As a member of a service club, church or other community organization you can urge your group to schedule any construction, repairs or decorating and any other type of work to the winter months.

These are some of the things that you can do to provide winter employment for men and women in our community and our committee believe that you will find it is to your advantage to do them during the winter. Skilled tradesmen are available and you will get a better job done.

This is one campaign that should not "die out" at the local level. The benefits affect, not someone miles away but the citizens that make up our community.

This is a local campaign and warrants everyone's support.

PAT GINNELL GOES TO BUCKS

Victoria Cougar manager-coach George Agar announced Friday night that winger Pat Ginnell is being sent to Portland Buckaroos.

The 23-year-old winger got off to a disappointing start with Victoria's Western Hockey League entry, scoring only one goal and two assists in nine games.

Cats Down League-Leaders; Fizzell Records Hat-Trick

Edmonton 3, Cougars 5

By ERNIE FEDORUK

Fans are both judge and jury, and today it must be reported they have found Edmonton Flyers and Victoria Cougars guilty of playing a wide-open Western Hockey League game.

It didn't matter that a confession was recorded about the moment the charges were being made. For the record, however, counsel for the defence, Capt. Hugh Currie, pleaded guilty for all parties involved in Friday evening's exciting escapade at Memorial Arena.

"The Flyers," Currie's admission read, "always play it wide-open when they come here."

Major evidence introduced were the shots on goal. Testimony of witnesses—identified as goal judges—showed that 48 shots were fired at Edmonton's Dennis Riggin and 41 at Marcel Pelletier of Victoria.

The total of 89 shots proved damaging evidence.

Pelletier missed only three and Riggin failed to stop five.

The judge and jury—numbering 3,376—may be ruled as biased. The official recorders, who sit in the press boxes, must report the fans were unusually "alive."

All this, of course, has nothing to do with what went on on the ice but it does seem that the story today should deal with the fans. They were hopping Friday.

Delightfully noisy.

It would be a shame not to recall the fans were equally violent last Friday. The Cougars lost that one to Portland, 3-2. But the fact remains it has been a long time since Victoria audiences pulled away from the Arena delighted with what had just transpired—win or lose.

The fans have done just that after the last two games.

Good Reason for Changing Mind

The reaction of the customers must be, therefore, a tribute to coach George Agar and the players who were designated by many, including some of the noisy ones, to a suite in or near the cellar.

Don't fault the folk for changing their minds. Stepping on the leaders in the manner they did Friday shows that Cougars are certainly not the worst team in the league.

For 59 minutes, the frisky Cats looked like the best club around. The other minute of the game—when Flyers suddenly started skating — belonged to Edmonton.

Defenceman Lloyd Haddon, who ignited Flyers' brief spark, old pro Bob Solinger and Don Poile counted Edmonton's goals in the space of 57 seconds.

Standout in the Victoria effort was rookie winger Bert Fizzell. He scored three goals—his first hat-trick in pro company—and skated as if he suddenly remembered that clippings of his junior days don't mean a thing in professional ranks.

He skated hard, shot well and bulled his way around in delightful fashion.

Gerry Goyer, also brilliant, and Bill Saunders added Cougars' other goals.

But it was the line of Doug Anderson, Fizzell and Don Wilson that dominated the show. Thus coach Agar sheepishly, but happily, discarded a thought into the trash can. Agar tossed around the idea of breaking up his "kid line," and even broke them up briefly in practices this week.

Went for a Walk

ICE CHIPS: Flyer manager Bud Poile never saw Edmonton's glorious minute. . . After Fizzell scored to make it 4-0 for Victoria in the second period, Poile tossed up his hands in digust and left for a secluded spot under the stands to rest his ulcer. . . Flyers promptly scored their three goals but Poile didn't get the hint. . . He returned later. . . Edmonton coach Bud MacPherson had to juggle his line-ups slightly when winger Ed Diachuk wasn't able to dress because of a leg injury.

Edmonton drew seven penalties and Cougars six. . . Victoria's total included a misconduct to Pat Ginnell and Goyer, and Flyers' Lou Marcon were tagged with majors for a spirited slugfest in the second period.

Linesman Injured

Agar got a good performance out of Ginnell, who was to leave for Portland earlier in the day. . . An injury to Jim Moro, who is troubled by a bad back, kept Ginnell in town for an extra day. . . Defenceman Wayne North also missed the game. . . Don McLeod, turning in a strong performance on defence, suffered a nasty cut over an eye. . . Ditto linesman Red Smith. . . Other casualties included two fans sitting in almost the same spot along the boards. . . An elderly gentleman received a face cut when struck by a skate. . . That happened after McLeod caught rookie Bruce MacGregor of Edmonton with the night's best check. . . The rookie almost wound up in the third row. . .

And Victoria forward Elliott Chorley, who took over North's spot alongside Jim Hay, looked as if he had played defence most of his career.

GUESS WHO SCORED

Jumping with jubilation, Cougars Bill Saunders (8) and Gerry Goyer provide usual victory salute after combining for Victoria's final goal in 5-3 Western Hockey League victory over Edmonton Flyers Friday night. Dejected Flyer in background is Gord Strate (2). Saunders scored this goal—his fourth in three games since joining Cats. Goyer also tallied once.

Canucks Take Second in Row

The defending champion Canucks, coming back by leaps and bounds after their early-season troubles, defeated Seattle Totems, 3-2, at Vancouver Friday night to jump from fourth place into a second-place tie in the Western Hockey League.

Bruce Carmichael's brilliant goal with eight minutes left in the game gave the Canucks the victory after Orland Kurtenbach had moved them into a 2-2 tie five minutes earlier. It was the second straight win for the revitalized Canucks.

The other Vancouver goal was by Larry Popein in the first period.

FERGUSON SCORES

Seattle scorers were Gerry Leonard and George Ferguson. Ferguson joined the Totems from Trail Smoke Eaters of the amateur Western International League for a replacement for Gordon Tansley.

Despite the win, it appeared Vancouver's goaltending problem is still not solved. George Wood had only 12 shots fired at him but looked shaky on both Seattle goals and was caught out of position several times.

CYR INJURED

Canucks lost centre Ray Cyr with a twisted knee early in the third period when he was crashed to the ice by Seattle defenceman Frank Arnett.

Canucks used forward Danny Belisle, obtained earlier this week from Kitchener-Waterloo of the Eastern Professional League.

Lorimer Paces Viking Victory

Victoria College Vikings, getting 19 points out of sharpshooting Darrell Lorimer, downed Victoria Optimists 57-47 in an exhibition basketball game at the Gordon Head campus gym.

Dave Collett scored 13 points and Mike Soltice added 14 for the losers.

In a preliminary game, Victoria Pedagogues defeated the College "B" team 53-36 with Ken McCulloch supplying 15 points for the teachers.

GRIFFIS HAS TO AGREE NEW HABITS ARE BEST

Ron Griffis enjoys the change of pace, so it won't be too great a surprise if Independents hold on to their lead atop the four-team Commercial Hockey League Monday night.

The youthful goalie suffered through several heavy barrages last season when Independents (nee Vics) finished third in the league standings. But it's a different story this year. Getting solid support from his defencemen, Griffis has been a standout in Independents' surge to the top.

The league's leading netminder will be out to preserve his glossy record when Independents play Pattersons in the second half of a Memorial Arena doubleheader Monday.

Army and Navy's inter-service rivalry launches action at 7 p.m.

Bantam Title

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Brazil's Eder Jofre captured the National Boxing Association's version of the world bantamweight championship Friday night with a spectacular one-punch knockout of Mexico's Eloy Sanchez in the sixth round of their scheduled 15-round fight.

The victory earned the 24-year-old Brazilian a chance to meet Alphonse Halimi of France, recognized in Europe as the champion, to clear up the world title dispute.

HOW TO KEEP TRIM

Advising how to keep fit through exercise is old story for Jean Gray and Lloyd Henderson. Mrs. Gray helps pass on hints via television and Henderson, former RCN physical training instructor, currently directs fitness class at YMCA. Both believe more people should take regular exercise. PICK UP WEIGHTS

Do You Want To Discourage Sand-Kickers?

By MICHAEL ROSE

Remember when you were a youngster and poured over the body-building ads?

There probably isn't an undersized 12-year-old living that hasn't dreamed of loading himself with muscle and slugging the bully that kicks sand in people's faces at the beach.

Exercises and weight-lifting have been claimed certain systems to turn any guy into a Greek god type and the acquisition of bulging biceps, triceps and taurus sinews can become a way of life.

"Muscle boys" is what some call the bar-bell addicts—muscled from ear to ear.

Well, it isn't like that at all.

Proper exercises and controlled use of weights, says Victoria YMCA physical director Art Burgess, are highly desirable and indeed vital pursuits in these days of spectator sports and "executive spread."

At YMCAs and clubs across the nation, men and women are now beginning to find out that it's all very well to sneer at the bar-bell boys, but a bulging chest has a little something over a bulging stomach.

Burgess says no one, particularly women, need fear putting muscles in the wrong places.

"We start out with regular exercises," he says, 'to get people back in shape.

"Breathing, rhythm routines and progressively longer workouts get lungs back in condition and improve blood circulation which, in turn, helps tone up neglected muscles."

How Many Pushups Can You Do?

Once this is done comes the process of adding strength by improving muscular ability. And you can do as much or as little of it as you wish.

"It's astonishing how badly-conditioned men are nowadays," he said, "I've found that only one man in 50 can do more than three pushups.

"And women are even worse. One woman in a thousand can chin herself and this is appalling since women should be just as fit as men for their size and structure."

Returning to the subject of prejudice against exercise and body building, he showed me a photograph of former Mr. America, John Grimek.

Grimek was the co-ed's dream, a symphony of beautiful, bunched muscle in one of those typical poses.

I wouldn't have thought he could turn his head, led alone be normally supple.

Burgess smiled at this and said Grimek was not only immensely strong but, when asked to he was able to put his hand behind him, scratch his back and to the top of his head.

You Can't Manufacture Muscle

"You see," Burgess continued, "we are all given a certain amount of muscle fibre and we never get any more. No amount of exercise can manufacture muscle.

"What actually happens is that normally we only use about 30 per cent of our muscle and exercise utilizes more and they expand.

"That's all body building is . . . just bringing into play more than this 30 per cent of the muscle fibre."

"What about weight-lifting as an aid to other sports," was the next question.

Talk about weights ruining athletes for running, jumping, swimming et al is nothing but a passel of ill-informed, ill-timed, malicious gossip, Burgess insists.

Although athletes in other fields do not actually build themselves up with weights, they use them selectively to improve the condition of muscles they use in their sport.

A swimmer, for instance, might concentrate on the muscles of the upper chest rather than on arm or stomach muscles.

A high jumper would devote himself to turning ankle, leg and stomach muscles into one long, efficient cord designed to get him maximum altitude and let his upper torso go all to pot.

Three-Pound Anklets Helped Ken

The most extreme case of this, Burgess said, was Australian jumper Ken Mouney.

Three months before the 1956 Olympics, Mouney strapped on three-pound anklets and a 15-pound belt and left them on day and night.

Just before he made his first big jump he took them off and then "darn near shot clear out of the stadium."

An important field of weight lifting is the correction of postural or body defects, and this is handled at the "Y" by ex-navy physical training instructor Lloyd Henderson.

Specific exercises with weights are designed to correct various deficiencies.

It may come as a shock to dieters in the audience, but you are not likely to shed that "bay window" you carry around under your chest by merely laying off the daily dumpling.

What is required, say the experts, is exercises to strengthen muscles of the abdomen and thus pull the bulge in and out of sight.

Whether for athletic purposes or just a little "toning," exercise and proper use of weights can help and are helping dozens attending classes at the "Y".

I'm convinced.

Next time someone kicks sand in my face, I'm going to join Burgess and his body-building buddies.

BOOTIN' BEN NOW 41

ON ANOTHER COMEBACK

Old Aggie's Still Having Fun

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Considering that some of his present teammates were only three or four years old when he started in professional football, Ben Agajanian must be regarded as an amazing specimen.

Add to this the fact that the place-kicking specialist of Los Angeles Chargers of the American League lost all but the little toe of his right kicking foot in an elevator accident in 1941.

Now 41 and a trim 200 pounds, "Bootin' Ben" is in his fifth—or sixth or seventh—comeback.

He is the oldest player in United States pro ranks and in 18 years has played in every major and bush league in the U.S.

"Quit?" I'm having too much fun," Agajanian said Tuesday.

His greatest years were with New York Giants of the National League in 1950-51-52 and 1955-56-57 and part of 1958, which was when Pat Summerall sent him into another "retirement."

Philadelphia Eagles, Washington Redskins, Los Angeles Rams; Los Angeles Dons of the old All-America Conference, Pittsburgh, Hollywood Bears—Agajanian has played for the best.

Aggie, who has kicked six field goals this year, doesn't take his 1941 foot injury seriously.

A father once asked him how to make a place-kicker out of his son.

"Cut off his toes," answered Ben.

Island Final Comes First For Oak Bay's TD Twins

JACK COLLINS

A good one-two punch is helpful in pounding out unanimous decisions, and for that reason Vancouver Island Juvenile Football League rivals have always been wary of Oak Bay Police.

Oak Bay has perhaps one of the best double-wallop combinations in minor gridiron circles, and Oak Bay's "touchdown twins" are one of the major reasons the young Policemen are favored to repeat as Island juvenile kings.

Defending B.C. champions, Police hope to put the handcuffs on the Island trophy Sunday when they face Campbell River Raiders in the second game of their total-point final.

They'll kick off at Carnarvon Park at 2 p.m. with Oak Bay holding a one-point lead by virtue of last week's 20-19 victory in Campbell River.

And, as has been the case all season, the combination to watch is the touchdown-scoring pair of fullback Jackie Heath and halfback Jack Collins. The two 18-year-old speedsters have accounted for 29 touchdowns in nine games.

Heath, the veteran of the team after playing seven years in the Oak Bay organization, scored 20 majors himself to capture the league scoring title. Collins, who only started playing the game last year, accounted for nine TDs.

Both were among the first players named to the Vancouver Island All-Star team which will play Winnipeg Rams in the "Little Grey Cup" game against Winnipeg Rams next Wednesday night at Royal Athletic Park.

But first things being first, the touchdown twins' main concern now is Sunday's outing at Carnarvon Park.

Esquimalt Trips Surprising Oaks

Surprising Royal Oak saw its basketball bubble break and Esquimalt Dockers emerged as a new threat for Inter-High Senior Boys' League honors Friday night.

Dockers, making their first start, handed Royal Oak its first defeat, 46-35, in one of three games played Friday.

Oak Bay won its second game by edging Belmont 31-29, and the once-mighty Victoria High Totems posted their first win of the year by thumping Mount View 41-25 in other games.

Bruce Mitchell turned in a brilliant shooting display, sinking 24 points, in pacing Esquimalt. Scoring leader Jim Cunningham fired 16 for the Oaks.

The night's thriller was at Oak Bay, where the host club built up a 25-19 lead at the half and hung on to win.

Scorers follow:

Mills Invited To ABC Meet

By MICHAEL ROSE

Jim Mills says the turning point in his bowling life came 18 months ago.

Rolling in a tournament at Vancouver, Wash., Jim suddenly realized he had overcome a few major faults and was spilling pins with a new consistency.

The 22-year-old kegler's swing was still in the groove during the recent B.C. tenpin championships at Vancouver and his efforts established him as one of the top maple maulers in the province.

Trundling with the Dickie and Shaver Realty squad, Mills placed high in singles, doubles and team competitions and emerged as the tourney's all-events king.

He posted 598 in the team event, bowled 628 in the doubles and then jumped to 676, with a 276 game, in the singles event. All were scratch scores.

The 276 was high tournament single.

His team wound up ninth out of 12 teams in the money and Jim teamed with Jimmy John to grab eighth spot in the doubles with 1,259.

Another Victoria duo, Jack Lim and Gil Wong, finished seventh with 1,267.

In the singles, Mills finished second behind Vancouver's Gordon Penford.

As a result of his fine performance Mills has been invited to attend the ABC 1961 championships in Cobo Hall, Detriot. The tournament will be on an elimination-qualification basis for all but top-seeded bowlers.

Some Aurora notes:

Midge Bouch gets a handsome badge from the WIVC for rolling an all-spare game.

The James Island group broke a lane record and became the first team to go over 1,000 with a 1,001 in the Tuesday senior league.

The evening total was 867, 954 and 1,001 for 2,822 (another record) and anchor man Andy Nelson had 645, (244, 209) for a new individual Aurora mark.

Others on the team were: Cec Dixon 551 (224), Walter Sidwell 515 (201), John Roper 562 (220), and Tom Nute 549 (213).

Southpaw Anne Goodman rolled to lane record with 616 (186, 212, 218). Marg Cooper registered the previous high of 603.

Still on the subject of tenpins we find Jack Goldie the winner of $55 for bowling 255 in Gibson's jackpot event.

John Newton was high man at the lanes with 606 (225).

Getting down to five pinners, it is apparent that the new association executive is not gathering moss.

Planned for next week is a booster tournament that requires little effort to enter. Bowlers merely register for the tourney on their regular bowling nights and play in their usual leagues.

Entry fee is $1 per team and league scores will count in the tournament. The tournament is not restricted to association members.

Object of the booster event is to educate teams to tournament play and to encourage membership in the association. It will last Monday through Sunday.

Membership, by the way, now stands at about 250.

At Gibson's Doug Lowe was high with 845 (307) followed by: Bill DeFrame 810 (314), Nels Martin 809 (344), W. Wood 805 (308), Jack Goldie 791 (322), Stan Gallop 775 (324), N. Cockburn 758 (369), B. Jones 753 (340).

Lynn Tupper topped girls in the Victoria High School annual marathon and Russell Heughan was best boy.

Victoria all-stars won a challenge match against a University of B.C. team and Jack Lapp took the $25 jackpot with a 382 single.

Pete Vieweg, a 15-year-old Esquimalt Junior High School student showed a peck of promise this week at Esquimalt Bowladrome by rolling 308, 279 and 240 for a very commendable total of 827.

A former pin-boy, Pete is not new to the game but is just starting regular league play.

Proprietor Bert Nelson opened his purse strings and unloaded $129.50 to Reg Waggoner who broke the 350 mark in open play with a 376, after depositing 50 cents in the pot.

In attendance was Emil Liska who must be at the nail-biting stage by this time.

During the week, having complied with contest rules, he rolled 341 and 348.

Fivepinners should not forget the Esquimalt 10-game rolloff Dec. 3. It will be all scratch bowling and the prize is an expense-paid trip to the 50-game marathon in Vancouver, Dec. 17.

Also at Esquimalt: Alex Pylyppa 868 (304), Pete Vieweg 827 (308), Jack Goldie 785, Bob McLeod 768, Des Nex 768 (303), Alec Kirker 751 (338), Ben Price 759 (339), May Wallace 733, Marg Goldie (319), Marian Haine 700 (300).

Strathcona bowlers were paced by Ross McKinnon's 739. He was followed by Dunc Tolson 724, and Sheila Sandwith 670. Jim McCullough had a 291 single.

More tenpin scores at Aurora: Jack Lim 620 (243, 200), Chuck Bennett 611 (214, 226), Norm Gamble 606 (211, 204), Ron Wilson 602 (208, 213), Watson Sindley 600 (214, 218), Len Mourant 599 (201, 212), M. Lead Could Evaporate If Tobin's Arm Is Hot

TORONTO (CP)—Toronto Argonauts, battered and bruised as never before this season, pin their hopes Sunday on the great passing arm of quarterback Tobin Rote to carry them farther along the comeback trail in what has been their best year since 1952.

Everything for them now practically comes down to what kind of day the former National Football League star has as Argos go into the second game of the Big Four football final against Ottawa Rough Riders.

The way it looks, going on the old pro's past history, Ottawa's 12-point lead from its 33-21 win in last Saturday's opening game could rapidly disappear if the big Texan gets good protection and has one of his better days.

The Sunday game, second of a two-game, total-points series, will be played at 10.30 a.m. PST and will be nationally televised.

In event of a tie on the round after regulation time, two 10-minute halves will be played. If Riders and Argos are still tied after that, the Big Four football championship and the eastern berth in the Grey Cup final will go to Toronto on the strength of their first-place finish.

LEG INJURIES

Riders appeared in good physical shape with the possible exceptions of fullback Dave Thelen, rushing champion of the Big Four for the last two seasons, and end Bill Sowalski, who operates as a linebacker as well. Both have leg injuries.

Argos, who this season finished in first place over the regular schedule after missing the playoffs in the last three years, aren't in the best of shape. But the weather and the condition of the field, which earlier in the week appeared possibly unsuited for their vaunted passing attack, now are not expected to have any important bearing on the outcome.

The weatherman has forecast a fine day—cloudy skies, little or no precipitation, light winds and a temperature between 45 and 50 degrees. He did, however, admit the possibility of a few light showers earlier in the day.

The only man definitely out for Argos is defensive halfback Bob Dahlinger, who suffered a torn knee cartlidge in the bruising opening game.

Halfback Dick Shatto will play despite a painful chest injury. Defensive halfbacks Stan Wallace and Jim Rountree, the other key men on the injury list, are reported ready but like Shatto are far from being 100 per cent fit.

NUMBER OF APPLICANTS

More Time Needed To Consider Move

NEW YORK (AP) — The American League, undecided about what action to take concerning the new Los Angeles franchise, Friday recessed until Tuesday after deliberating almost eight hours.

"We have a number of applicants for the Los Angeles franchise," said league president Joe Cronin. "We will consider all of them in the meanwhile.

"We met with commissioner Ford Frick and had an agreeable meeting. Del Webb (co-owner of New York Yankees and a representative of the American League) is on his way now to Los Angeles to discuss the situation with Walter O'Malley.

"We told the commissioner we would be glad to sit down with O'Malley (Los Angeles Dodgers' owner) to talk over matters pertaining to an American League club playing in the Los Angeles Coliseum."

INDEMNITIES DUE

It has been Frick's stand that indemnities would be due O'Malley from any American League team that moves into Los Angeles.

Cronin said that because of the uncertainty of the Los Angeles situation, the draft session to select players for the new Los Angeles and Washington franchises has been put off until Nov. 25.

Cronin said further bids for the Los Angeles franchise will be heard Tuesday when the meeting resumes.

Oak Bay Splashers Reach Nine Finals

VANCOUVER (CP) — Mary Stewart of Vancouver's Kitsilano High School broke meet records in all her three events Friday night at the B.C. high school swimming championships and they were all records which she had set herself.

The 14-year-old grade 10 student set new marks in the 50-yard freestyle, the 100-yard freestyle and the 50-yard butterfly in the elimination events.

Miss Stewart's times in the eliminations were (old records bracketed): 50-yard freestyle, 26.6 seconds (26.7); 50-yard butterfly 29.8 (30.6); and 100-yard freestyle, 1.00.1 (1.01.7).

Swimmers from Victoria's Oak Bay High school made their way into nine of today's final events.

Doug MacFarlane entered the 50-yard butterfly with a time of 40.6; Robin Olson, 50-yard freestyle, 32.5; Dave MacFarlane, 50-yard breaststroke, 26.7; Wendy Lowett, 50-yard backstroke, 36.8; Bob Panton, 50-yard butterfly, 31.5.

The Oak Bay teams entered both boys and girls 200-yard medley and 200-yard freestyle relays.

Three other records were set, all by Vancouver girls.

Ann Harvey of Magee did the 50-yard backstroke in 32.4, one second faster than the mark she set last year. Pam Wilson of Vincent Massey did the 50-yard breaststroke in 36.1, two-tenths of a second less than the time set last year by Pat Hoffman of Ocean Falls.

The Lord Byng 200-yard medley team set a new mark of 2.17.1, compared with the old record of 2.20.8 held by Kitsilano.

Game Club Switches Venue of Meetings

Members of the Victoria Fish and Game Protective Association are switching the site of meetings for the remainder of the winter season.

Starting with Monday night's general meeting, the sessions will be held at HMCS Naden auditorium. Activity gets under way at 8.

The VFGPA fishing chapter will meet at the Naden auditorium Monday, Nov. 28.

DON SAYS HE WON'T BE THE GOAT

BOSTON (AP) — Boston Bruins' goaltender Don Simmons says he is quitting hockey.

Simmons, 29, told general manager Lynn Patrick he was through after the Bruins called up Bruce Gamble from Providence of the American Hockey League to take over netminding chores. "I won't go to Providence," Simmons said.

Patrick said Simmons' demotion to Providence was not a permanent move, but added that a change in goaltenders sometimes helps pull a club out of a slump. Boston has had a dismal season so far, and is only one point out of the National Hockey League cellar.

"They're trying to make me the goat," Simmons said.

Kanhai Bats For 252 Runs

MELBOURNE (Reuters) — A magnificent 252 in 6½ hours by Pohan Kanahai today helped the West Indies touring side to a commanding 375-run first innings lead over Victoria on the second day of their four-day cricket match here.

Kanhai, with skipper Frank Worrell and opener Conrad Hunte—each with 82 attractive runs to his credit—built the tourists' overnight 122 for one into a massive 493.

WEEK IN BUSINESS

Foreign Trade In News

By JACK LEFLER

NEW YORK (AP) — Foreign trade — with its many problems and vast opportunities — held the spotlight in the United States business world this week.

Businessmen and politicians were worried by the continuing adverse balance of payments—the difference between what the U.S. imports and what it exports, spends abroad for military purposes and gives away.

President Eisenhower took steps to cut down the outflow by about $1,000,000,000 a year.

He ordered federal agencies to pare their spending overseas and to "Buy American" when possible in purchasing goods for shipment to underdeveloped countries.

The president also directed that the number of military personnel's dependents overseas be reduced by 248,000 to slow down the spending of U.S. dollars.

ENTER EXCITING ERA

H. E. Humphreys Jr., chairman of the United States Rubber Co., told the national foreign trade convention here: "Abroad we are entering on an era of trade which promises to become more exciting and challenging as each year passes. We are seeing the beginning of an explosion in business overseas."

Domestic business continued to struggle against the cross-currents which have been swirling for months. One encouraging development was a new high for personal income in October for the eighth straight month.

A survey by the national industrial conference board indicated consumers are planning greater purchases of expensive items such as new cars, furniture, dishwashers, refrigerators and other appliances.

Industrial production remained steady in October at 107 per cent of the 1957 average.

Automobile sales and production figures looked good but the heavy inventories in dealers' hands dimmed the outlook.

New car sales for the first 10 days of November set a record for the period, totalling 180,000 U.S. models. This was 2½ per cent ahead of early October.

However, the inventory of new, unsold domestic cars reached an estimated 913,000 on Nov. 1, a record for the date. Because of its big inventory, Chrysler Corp. announced it would shut down three assembly plants for the U.S. Thanksgiving week.

Steel production continued to slip, edging down to 51.4 per cent of capacity from 51.5 last week. Bethlehem Steel Corp. closed four more open hearths at its Lackawanna works in Buffalo. This left 13 of 35 furnaces working.

N.Y. Editor Resigns Post

NEW YORK (UPI)—Robert M. White II, president and editor of the New York Herald Tribune, has resigned and Ambassador John Hay Whitney will take over the duties of president and publisher soon, it was announced Thursday.

Whitney said in a statement that White "Has informed me of his desire to resign those offices, and his resignation has been regretfully accepted, effective when I return."

Whitney also said that when he retires from the court of St. James' in London, he will make management of the newspaper his primary interest.

"Upon my return I will become president and publisher, assuming many of the duties that have been handled so well for me since July, 1959, by Robert M. White II, president and editor," Whitney said.

Ford Asks British Approval to Buy Subsidiary Stock

LONDON (Reuters) — The Ford Motor Company of Detroit has formally applied for British government permission to buy all outstanding shares in its British subsidiary, it was announced Friday.

The treasury office announcement said the request was being studied.

The American Ford Company now owns 54.6 per cent of the common stock of British Ford and wants to buy the remaining British-owned shares.

Political sources said it appeared certain treasury chief Selwyn Lloyd will approve the deal, but that he might demand assurances there would be no retrenchment in production at British Ford plants.

ROY THOMSON BIDS FOR TOP IRISH PAPER

BELFAST (Reuters) — Roy Thomson, Canadian newspaper publisher, is negotiating to take over the Belfast Telegraph, Northern Ireland's only evening newspaper, it was learned Friday.

The Telegraph has a circulation of about 195,000—the highest in Northern Ireland.

The purchase price is estimated at between £1,800,000 and £2,000,000.

Thomson controls about 70 daily and weekly newspapers in Britain, Canada and the United States and recently acquired newspaper interests in Nigeria.

De Soto Line All Finished

DETROIT (UPI)—Chrysler Corp. will halt all production of its De Soto line next month and there will be no car with the De Soto name plate for at least another year, auto industry sources said Friday.

The sources said the halt of production on the De Soto next month will signify the end of that name on cars of the size and description of the current models.

The corporation is considering introducing a small sports car in 1962 and using the De Soto nameplate on it, but the history of De Soto as a standard passenger car will come to an end next month, the sources said.

Canadian Wheat Going to Burma

RANGOON (AP) — The Canadian government has agreed to supply Burma with wheat worth $350,000 on a grant basis under the Colombo Plan, it was officially announced here.

An exchange of notes between the two governments stipulates the sales proceeds of the commodity will be used for economic development projects within Burma.

The agreement is the third of its kind between the two countries. Last year Canada granted Burma commodity aid totalling $850,000.

Canadian Collieries Reports Net Loss

VANCOUVER (CP) — Canadian Collieries Resources Ltd. reported Friday a net loss of $48,100 for the six months ended Sept. 30, compared with a net profit of $177,500 in the same period last year.

Earnings before depreciation and depletion were $617,300, compared with $560,800.

President Norman Whittall reported an improvement of $305,000 in working capital which now stands at more than $4,000,000 despite a capital modernization program.

Vehicle Sales Up

OTTAWA (CP)—Sales of cars and trucks climbed 1.2 per cent to 31,588 in September from the 31,218 units sold in the corresponding month last year.

The bureau of statistics reported today that retail value of the September sales fell by an identical 1.2 per cent to $93,835,000 from $94,969,000 in the same month last year.

WEEK ON MARKETS

Lack of Volume, Note of Caution

By GREG MacDONALD
Canadian Press Staff Writer

A lack of volume and a note of caution; a slowdown following the U.S. presidential election flareup; plus a lack of business here—mixed well—these added up to a stopper on Canadian stock markets this week.

The Toronto market dropped in all four index sections and volume was "exasperatingly low," as one broker put it.

Oil refineries saw some spotty actions in British American and Imperial Oil. In pipe lines, Interprovincial struck a new high on company news that it expected a sharp increase in daily crude oil delivery this month. Papers acted on news that the industry had its best output of newsprint this year in October.

Manufacturers were active but most issues suffered minor losses. Liquors were fairly active.

Banks were lower on the week with the exception of Toronto-Dominion Bank which rose slightly. Steels were unusually quiet and so were foods. Construction and motor stocks were lower.

GOLD GLITTER FADES

The gold glitter paled during the week as shown by the decline of the price of the Canadian gold kilo bar to slightly above the official U.S. figure of $35 an ounce.

At the close Friday it was quoted at $35 to $35.25.

Base metals failed to do much of anything and were down slightly more than a point on index.

Western oils lost nearly two points and were exceptionally quiet with Canadian Devonian being the only active issue. It continued to carry on last week's activity which began when the company announced it wanted to sell.

DEMAND OFF

B.C. Pulp Prices Cut Up to 10%

VANCOUVER (CP) — Spokesmen for British Columbia's multi-million dollar pulp industry confirmed Thursday that pulp prices have been cut by amounts ranging up to 10 per cent in face of weakening U.S. demand, the industry's biggest market.

B.C.'s $250,000,000 pulp and paper industry employs about 6,000 people. Newsprint is not affected by the price cut.

The weakening in the demand for pulp has hit the industry at a time when plywood production is running about 25 per cent below year ago levels and when the North American market is severely depressed.

All producers of bleached sulphate and sulphite pulp are believed to be affected by the price drop, initiated by U.S. west coast producers earlier this week.

The weakness in the U.S. domestic market was attributed by one industry spokesman to a weakness in some sections of the U.S. fine-paper industry.

Brokers, Investors Await News Of Ottawa Plans on Loan Refund

By GORDON BELL,
Times Business Editor

Bell

OTTAWA has set Nov. 28 as the date on which federal government plans will be announced for refunding of the $600 million loan which matures Dec. 15.

Until government plans are known the uncertainty and confusion plaguing the stock and bond markets are likely to continue.

It's not only the bond dealers who are confused by the market. The large institutional investors are sitting tight as well, sadly lacking in confidence.

What will the government's pre-Christmas "baby budget" reveal about government spending? Taking the Throne Speech at face value there is little real indication of any spending splurge in the offing.

Nothing was said about more federal money going into housing, merely changes in mortgage terms.

CMHC loans covering up to two-thirds the cost of projects to correct community water pollution problems will not likely boil down to much in the long run since not many communities will be able to take advantage of the offer.

Pension increases will be announced but the over-all total is not likely to be high and the same is largely true of most of the other plans which might have price tags on them.

The picture could, of course, change when the problem of unemployment hits the floor of the House. Public sentiment could persuade the government some massive spending is necessary to provide jobs. But as things stand now there is no indication of a heavy spending program in the works for the federal government.

G. K. Henkinson, president of Pacific Chrysler Products Ltd. of Vancouver and Victoria, has denied the rumor that Chrysler is going to drop its Simca line.

Two of the Simca models, the "Elysee" and the "Grande Large," are on sale at price reductions of $502 and $634 respectively on the regular list price in what Mr. Henkinson describes as a "genuine promotion designed to make the public better acquainted with the Simca line."

Pacific Chrysler can offer this deal to the public, Mr. Henkinson said, because of the purchasing power of a large firm.

Chrysler of Canada sold Pacific Chrysler a large consignment of Simcas with a reduction in price allowed for a volume sale. This reduction, says Mr. Henkinson, is being passed on to the public.

So far as Chrysler dropping the Simca line is concerned, Mr. Henkinson said, the same cars now being offered at reduced prices, along with the other Simca models, will be on sale in the firm's showrooms at regular prices next January or February and in the suceeding months.

The Vancouver grain handlers' strike may shortly cut into Canada's export trade.

Japan, second largest market for Canadian wheat and flax for the past several years, is reportedly receiving offers of flaxseed from the Argentine at prices which nearly match Canadian.

It is feared in the trade that because of the strike Japan may start buying in Argentina. Worst feature is that historically it has been shown that lost grain export shipments are never recovered. Whatever wheat or other grain sales are lost because of delivery failures can only add to present surpluses.

Another cause for concern in the important Japanese wheat market is the recent subsidy granted by the U.S. for trial exports of hard wheat to Japan.

Canadian Devonian Petroleums has announced that it has received several offers from integrated and larger independent oil companies to take over the firm. As a result of the interest the deadline on offers has been pushed back to Feb. 4—after which time offers will be considered for submission to Canadian Devonian shareholders.

Canada's Foreign Debt 'Frightening'

LONDON (CP)—The Times says Canada's load of foreign debt now is "almost frightening."

The newspaper's financial editor discusses measures outlined Thursday in the speech from the throne in the Canadian Parliament to encourage greater Canadian participation in the ownership and control of Canadian industry and resources.

"When one looks at the figures . . .," says The Times, "one wonders whether or not it is not already too late.

"Not only is a large slice of Canadian industry under foreign control, but the weight of foreign debt has mounted year by year."

The newspaper quotes an "impressive" speech by James Coyne, governor of the Bank of Canada, in the same vein, and adds: "Yet it was precisely on this issue—on the need to curb evcessive foreign influences—that the present Canadian government received such remarkable support when it first came to office."

Special Presentation Made to Local Firm

Twenty-five years ago, New Method, pioneer Victoria Cleaning and Laundry Company, became one of the first in Canada to adopt the famous Sanitone Cleaning system. Today, over 2,000 licensees all over North America, Australia and New Zealand use this nationally recognized, better method of clothes care.

To mark the occasion, a 25-year plaque was recently presented to Mr. H. R. Stephen, right, New Method Vice-President, by Mr. L. E. Francis, Advertising Director of Emery Industries, producers of Sanitone. The plaque reads: "Inasmuch as New Method Laundries has spared no effort to improve constantly the quality of the services it offers by strict adherence to ethical standards, by demanding of is employees the highest degree of professional competence and by its foresight in modernizing plant facilities, this award is bestowed to commemorate its 25th year as a Sanitone Licensee." The handsome plaque may soon be viewed at New Method's call locations on View Street and in the Shelbourne Plaza.

Recently Sanitone received national recognition when it was chosen by Warren K. Cook, makers of fine clothes for Canadians, as the system recommended for the care of their suits.

Franciosa Is a Very Honest Gent

By DICK KLEINER

NEW YORK (NEA) — The fan magazines always trot out their juicest adjectives for Anthony Franciosa — rugged, handsome and like that. But the one they never use, but should, is honest.

Honest Tony admits he has never been offered his own TV series, (He says the TV producers simply don't dangle opportunities in front of actors who work steadily in the movies.)

Honest Tony says he took his part in the recent Show of the Month production of "Heaven Can Wait" because it is a comedy, and most of his recent film work has been in "heavy dramatic stuff". He wanted to show that he could do something else.

Honest Tony feels "a void" in his career, because he's usually cast in a modern role—a romantic tough guy, for example—and he never gets a crack at anything even remotely classical. "Of course," he says, "I realize that I'm more commercial in modern parts."

Honest Tony says he turned down a chance at a Broadway musical, even though he took singing lessons, because "I got cold feet".

And Honest Tony, talking about the reason he uses his difficult-to-pronounce name professionally, says that he was already fairly well established on Broadway before he went to Hollywood; nobody even suggested that he change the name.

"Besides, I must be honest," he says, honestly. "Franciosa isn't my real name."

Nita Talbot, Hollywood's favorite wisecracking blonde of the moment, reports on the successful solution of a problem. As Jim Backus' girl Friday on the new Jim Backus Show, she appears in every episode. The producers wanted her to look a bit different each week, feeling that otherwise the pubilc might get bored with the character.

So she uses a different hairstyle for each show. As Nita says, "There are a million and one ways to wear one's hair, clothes and cosmetics, and I intend to try them all. Actually, I like changing my hair style, anyhow."

Alcoa Presents, the ESP series with John Newland as host, will go to Europe this summer and film 13 shows there. Producer Collier Young, in New York to work out the details, says the shows will be filmed at places haunted by famous ghosts—castles in England, chateaux in France and perhaps even Elsinore in Denmark where Hamlet's father's ghost had a sub-lease.

Grey Cup 1 P.M., Saturday

Channels 6, 2 Set to Carry East-West Clash

Parade Covered Live at 9.30 A.M.; Series on Churchill Starts Wednesday

Next Saturday is "Grey Cup Day," the one day in the year when east and west join in good-natured rivalry over who owns the best football team in Canada.

It's all the more exciting for British Columbians this year as the game for the football championship of Canada takes place at Vancouver's Empire Stadium.

Game time is at 1 p.m., our time. It will be carried by Channels 6 and 2 and via the CBC-TV network from coast to coast without blackouts to mar it.

The teams at time of writing this will be either Edmonton or Winnipeg for the west against either Ottawa or Toronto for the east.

At 9.30 the morning of the game CBC cameras will focus on the famous Grey Cup parade as it rolls down Vancouver streets. This, too, will be carried by Channels 6 and 2 and by the CBC to the nation.

But the game is only the ending of a very busy week and it would be sound if the reader took some care in studying next week's schedules to avoid disappointment.

For instance, Thursday morning—the U.S.A. Thanksgiving Day—is chock-a-block with parades and football games, both professional and college. At 4 in the afternoon, Leonard Bernstein will be heard conducting for an hour on 7, 11 and 12.

On Monday, Garry Moore heads an hour-long special at 9.30 on Channels 7, 11 and 12 reporting on "Big City—1980."

At 8, Tuesday, it is the Wayne and Shuster hour; at 10 it is Hoagy Carmichael's special Project 20 program covering music from 1900 to 1917.

At 10, Wednesday, Channels 6 and 2 will telecast the first half-hour in the new Winston Churchill series as based on his Second World War memoirs.

At 10, Thursday night, Channel 2, there will be an hour-long documentary on Canadian pianist Glenn Gould, and at 9.30 Friday CBS will report on the sad plight of the migrant farm worker, "Harvest of Shame."

Two-Hour 'Macbeth' at 6 Sunday; Harry Belafonte Entertains 10 Sunday

The final game in the two-game, total-point series for the football championship of eastern Canada between the Ottawa Rough Riders and the Toronto Argonauts will be carried live from coast-to-coast Sunday morning starting at 10.30 Victoria time, Channels 6, 2.

The Ottawa team carries a 12-point lead into the game, the points being earned from their first contest. However, they may need this edge as Toronto is known for its fast-breaking, fast-scoring plays.

In addition to the Big Four finals two other highlights are worthy of mention.

At 6 Sunday night Channel 5 will carry the two-hour adaptation of William Shakespeare's "Macbeth," starring Maurice Evans and Dame Judith Anderson. It is a superior performance by all concerned and should be a "must" for all students and any who are interested in Shakespearean theatre.

MAYOR HOPEFUL

Early Start To Stop Rot

Victoria should be able to start an urban renewal program next year, Mayor Percy Scurrah told the citizens' "Stop the Rot" conference at the Empress Hotel Friday.

He said the area around Douglas and Hillside, including the Roundabout, would most likely call for redevelopment.

"We are fortunate in that the problem of rundown areas in Victoria is of manageable size," the mayor said. "If we start now, we may be able to turn the city over to our children, saying 'Here it is, with no slums and no blighted areas'."

About 150 men and women attended the one-day conference sponsored by the Capital Region Branch of the Community Planning Association of Canada, with the co-operation of the Victoria Advisory Planning Commission, the Community Welfare Council and the Chamber of Commerce.

Mayor Scurrah said the Capital Region Planning Board is making good progress with its $25,000 survey of urban renewal requirements in the Victoria area. (Three-quarters of the cost is contributed by the federal government).

"There is need for increased federal assistance for urban renewal," he continued, adding that this was discussed at the recent meeting of mayors and municipalities in Ottawa.

"I am glad that the federal budget contained some of the suggestions that were made at that meeting, especially the one about urban renewal. We simply cannot allow large sections of our cities to fall into decay.

"We hope that this conference will help to create a better public understanding of the problem, for we are going to need that understanding."

Stanley Pickett, assistant director of urban renewal and public housing for the Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation, said the time for redevelopment of blighted areas is "right now."

MAJOR REPAIR

He said the 1951 census showed there were more than 1,600 houses in need of major repair in metropolitan Victoria and more than 1,300 were overcrowded.

"In my opinion, the census of 1961 will reveal little significant improvement in the condition of our urban housing, or the circumstances under which thousands of Canadian families are living."

Mr. Pickett said surveys show that municipal costs are usually higher in slum areas. Blighted areas contribute six cents in every dollar of tax revenue, yet at the same time they swallow up 45 cents of the municipal expenditure dollar.

"When blight sets in, real estate taxes in the area decline," Mr. Pickett continued. "Business re-locates in other parts of the city, or, worse still, in other communities. And the cost of city services increases.

"Therefore, redevelopment is in your interests because blight is felt where it hurts most—in the pocket book."

Citizens Prescribe 'Beauty Treatment'

Downtown Victoria should be stripped of commercial signs and "ugly street furniture," a woman shopper told the one-day "Stop the Rot" conference in the Empress Hotel Friday.

"We have the prestige—why don't we live up to it?" asked Mrs. Constance Shaw, giving the shopper's viewpoint during a panel discussion on "Who Cares About Downtown?"

Mrs. Shaw made such an impression on the conference that an anonymous questioner asked, in writing, if she could be nominated as an alderman.

She contributed a number of suggestions to the conference which were received with enthusiastic applause. Among them were:

Adequate parking facilities for shoppers so that they can "concentrate on their shopping without worrying about parking meters."

Removal of overhead cables and billboards from downtown streets.

Establishment of nurseries in downtown stores for mothers with small children—perhaps even store kennels for people with dogs.

Pleasant airy restaurants and sidewalk cafes.

Chairs in stores for older shoppers who "get tired walking from one counter to another."

TAX RELIEF

Taxation relief for downtown property owners who improve the appearance of their premises.

Installation of concrete shelters under new city stores to provide protection from radiation in the event of war.

More space between downtown buildings.

Mrs. Shaw did not agree that the new shopping centres outside the city are a threat to downtown stores.

"The discriminating shopper—especially the woman—wants to choose from the widest possible selection of goods. For instance, a woman would not go to a suburban shopping centre to choose a hat.

"If the downtown stores are afraid of competition from the suburban centres they should open branches in them."

Emphasizing the importance of pleasing the woman shopper, Mrs. Shaw said:

"It is the man who earns the money, but it is the woman who spends it."

Gordon Whitnall, leading Los Angeles planning consultant, summed up the one-day conference by saying:

"You give me the impression you intend to do something about cleaning up your blighted, run-down areas."

"Everything that man makes begins to deteriorate the moment it is finished, with the possible exception of liquor and cheese, and buildings and their environments are no exception.

"Where decay has set in, surgery may be necessary. I have yet to find a case where cancer has cured itself."

Hugh Stephen said to keep the downtown shopping area healthy, it must be given an atmosphere competitive with that of the outside shopping centres—it must be less of a sterile group of buildings and more of a market place."

Bruce Cook, a builder, won applause with his suggestion that home maintenance should be encouraged by part remission of property taxes.

Also contributing to the panel discussions were realtor Jack Mears, planning commissioner Arthur Saunders, housewife Mrs. D. R. McLeod, teenager Robert Smith, housewife Mrs. A. Young, senior citizens' housing representative Mrs. May Campbell, welfare administrator William Hooson, realtor J. G. Austin, banker George Maycock, transport representatives Dick Gough and Robert Irwin, parking lot operator Jack Robbins and store retailer Cliff Rutledge.

Art Stott was moderator.

IN PRIVATE SHIPYARD NEAR CANOE COVE

Largest Plywood Boat Building Here

By MONTE ROBERTS

The largest all-plywood boat ever to be built anywhere is taking shape on a wooded island five-minutes water taxi from Canoe Cove, north of Sidney.

The main reason it's being built is because its owner, Californian oilman Peter Whittier, was told it couldn't be done.

Mr. Whittier has the resources—financial and mental—to rise to a challenge.

As a result, beneath a specially-built aluminum shed, on Goudge Island (owned by Mr. Whittier) a team of privately-retained boat-builders is creating a plywood giant.

From laminated stem to laminated sternpost, the big motor cruiser (tentatively named "Passport") is nothing but plywood.

But don't let the word "plywood" fool you into a picture of fragility. Passport is as solid as an iron-hulled monitor. Her planking runs from inch-and-a-half from keel to waterline, to three-quarter-inch at the sheer.

As for size, her dimensions are not only large, they're unusual. She is 67 feet overall, nine foot molded depth—but in beam, only 14 feet.

SHELL FORM

Even the shell form she's in today gives you the impression of the lean aggressiveness of a motor torpedo boat.

Her raking clipper-bow is one of the features which brought down the scorn of those who said it couldn't be done. Admittedly, moulding plywood to give the flare of the clipper-bow was no easy task, but the team of expert woodworkers retained by Mr. Whittier accomplished it.

The team is headed by Len King, manager of the island estate, who learned his trade in England. One of his three assistants is John Guzzwell, lone round-the-world voyager, who proved his skill with his hands when he built Trekka, the tiny yacht which carried him safely through many a storm.

The Passport was designed by famed Seattle naval architect Edwin Monk, to personal specifications of the owner, who wanted a boat big enough to go almost anywhere, simple enough to be handled without crew.

The result is a master stateroom the full width of the ship, just aft of 'midships; a special guest cabin in the stern; and a double cabin forward, giving accommodation for owner and three guests. There is no provision for crew's quarters, but it can be presumed the galley will be equipped with everything modern, including the kitchen sink.

The cruiser will be completely air-conditioned. She'll cruise at about 14 knots, powered by twin Caterpillar engines giving a hoped-for 200 shaft horsepower.

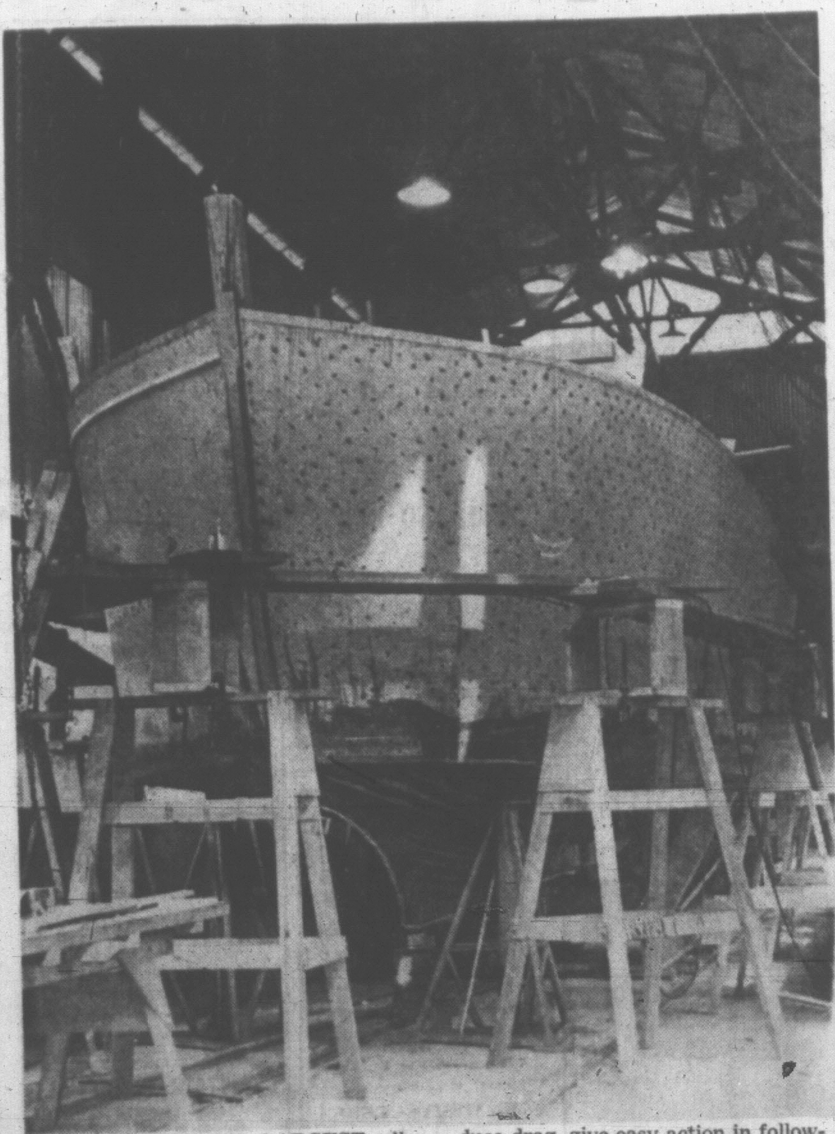
As one of the reasons for use of plywood is ease of maintenance, the entire hull and superstructure will be covered by fiberglas — reducing refit needs to a bare minimum.

To build the Passort, Mr. Whittier has a completely equipped machine shop, hoists, tractors, trucks, work boats to bring materials across from Canoe Cove, everything needed.

The builders have received whole-hearted co-operation from B.C. Forest Products, producers of the plywood, and Moore-Wittington, supplier. Specially molded planks up to 65 feet long have been supplied. And odd specifications have been filled—remember, even the keel, stem and stern post are laminated.

Target date for launching of Passport — engined, furnished, fueled and provisioned —has been set for the spring of 1962.

The cost? In the $100,000 latitudes, possibly a bit north.



STERN VIEW OF LARGEST all-plywood cruiser ever built shows "lifeboat" like design, intended to reduce drag, give easy action in following sea. Even stern post is of laminated wood. (Times Photo.)

Visiting here from Buena Park, California, Mrs. J. Gordon tells me they have a Ghost Town Grill similar to the Wake Up Jake restaurant the B.C. government is building at the old gold-town of Barkerville.

She showed me the boisterous menu, which invites you to "enjoy eating in the pioneer atmosphere of the Old '49 Gold Rush Days," and offers Goldburger-in-the-Basket for 50 cents—with cheese 60 cents.

Then there is Pioneer Beef Stew at $1.50, Ghost Town Chili (with beans) 90 cents and Swordfish Steak at $2 (I guess the swordfish are harder to catch).

Next summer no doubt we shall be selling Barkerville Sockeye Burgers at anything from 50 cents to the price of a share in the Pacific Northern Railway.

Veteran broadcaster Bill Ward has found the ideal formula for making a public apology. Asked to apologize to a large business organization he had offended on the air, Bill replied:

"I feel like the editor of a small-town newspaper who had published the headline Half the City Council are Crooks. When forced to retract he published another headline Half the City Council are Not Crooks."

"Why do we make smoking and drinking so uncomfortable?" asked a Victoria resident as we stood in a cool wind at the entrance to the Royal Theatre.

He had, of course, been asked to withdraw from the lobby after lighting a cigaret,

"It's always the same in British countries," sighed this world traveller. "If you want a drink you must go to the wrong place at the wrong time.

"Even at London Airport I couldn't have one because I arrived there after 3 p.m. when the pubs close for the afternoon. Yet in European countries you can drink anywhere anytime—and how seldom you ever see a drunk.

"I can't remember three."

CLOUDS, SUN FOR SUNDAY

Partial clearing and southwest winds of up to 30 miles per hour were predicted by weatherman William Mackie for this evening in the wake of a weather disturbance which passed over the city today.

Sunday will be cloudy with sunny periods, but there will be the possibility of a few showers, the weatherman said. Temperatures will range between 40 and 50 degrees tonight and Sunday, and Sunday's winds will remain strong.

CITY'S FOURTH traffic death this year was recorded just before midnight Friday when Mrs. Elizabeth Annie Armitage, 84, of 3116 Steele, died in St. Joseph's Hospital without recovering from a coma she entered Oct. 26. On that day in rush-hour traffic, Mrs. Armitage was in collision with a car driven by William H. Neill, 3855 Rowland, on north Douglas. She was born in Malden, England, and is survived in the old country by a brother F. Bielby and a number of nieces. Funeral will be by Hayward's.

FROM MONTREAL TO VANCOUVER

City Motor Buffs To Enter Big Rally

Several Victoria automobile enthusiasts are planning entering one of the longest and most gruelling car rallies in the world next spring.

A 3,000-mile drive from Montreal to Vancouver will include highway as well as rough territory and will be the first of its size in this country.

Sponsored by the B.C. International Trade Fair and the Shell Oil Company of Canada, Limited, the rally is scheduled to finish May 6 at Exhibition Park, Vancouver.

A total of $25,000 in prize money will be offered.

Several members of local car clubs have already expressed interest in competing, although starting time and other details have not yet been released.

TOURING CLUBS

Shorter rallies of similar type are run regularly on Vancouver Island and the mainland by sports car and touring clubs.

The local enthusiasts are gathering a pool of drivers from which they hope to make three teams of either two or three members each.

The rally is not a race or speed competition, but a problem in covering a certain distance at a prescribed average speed with penalties for arriving early or late and for having more or less mileage than the official total.

MAP READING

Events of this kind require driving skill but, more important, an ability to read maps, follow clues, do time and distance problems and calculate remaining gas to the cup.

All average speeds set will be below speed limits and organizers say severe penalties will be imposed on competitors running afoul of the law.

INTERNATIONAL

The rally is recognized by the Canadian Automobile Sport Club and has been given international status by the Federation Internationale de l'Automobile of Paris and the Royal Automobile Club of England.

As a result it should attract a number of the world's top flight rallyists. Several automobile manufacturers are said to be entering teams. Three cars from Mercedes have already been pledged.

The rally will last six days and it is understood $1,000 will be given to the car leading on points at the conclusion of each day.

LIGHT TURNOUT MARKS EARLY SCHOOL VOTING

Voting on the $784,000 school building bylaw for rural School District 63 was light at all polls this morning, but returning officer Gordon Hayward predicted voting will pick up during the latter part of the afternoon.

A heavy vote is expected at Royal Oak, where overcrowding exists at the school, and at Cordova Bay and Brentwood.

Lots Going On For Travellers

By FRANK RUTTER
Times Legislative Reporter

Business is so good for the B.C. Toll Authority ferry service it's expanding all the time—this time it's parking lots.

"We're expanding parking areas on both sides," says manager Monty Aldous. "We are adding space for 150 cars at Tsawwassen and a further increase will be made later. We will have space for approximately 200 when we finish this side (Swartz Bay)."

On possibility of a liquor licence for new dining rooms going up this winter: "Impractical on a voyage of this duration."

Things are warming up in Esquimalt-Saanich for the hottest contest in years.

The in-fighting for nominations is as tough as an election itself, and the federal government hasn't even announced a by-election date.

"I've been approached," admitted Saanich Social Credit MLA John Tisdalle. "But it's not my intention at all to run."

Another Socred approached, but cooling rapidly, is Einar M. Gunderson, who's lost a few elections.

The word is at least six hats are being waved around the ring in the Socred camp alone.

All isn't so well behind the other party lines: the Liberals are still considering, and it looks like there'll be some opposition for Capt. David Groos for the nomination. Apparently a strong faction is looking for another man. Liberals nominate Nov. 28.

As for the Tories, they have a runner, but they're not sure they asked him. It's John Keane, of Oak Bay.

All coffee-spoon-tinkling ceased when George Lindsay made his anti-politics speech at a government luncheon for 25-year civil servants Wednesday.

The motor-vehicle chief spurned a nice little thank-you speech prepared for him, and delivered his bombshell from a handful of suddenly-produced notes.

Said one 25-year man afterwards: "It was a bit sickening."

But another commented: "It had to be said."

Punch line: Somebody locked the door during the speeches in Duke of Kent Room at the Empress.

Football, farmers, formality are lined up for Lieutenant-Governor George Pearkes next week.

On Tuesday he opens the B.C. Federation of Agriculture convention. (Among those not expected to attend, B.C.'s Agriculture Minister Newton P. Steacy, down east).

On Thursday it's a luncheon for Education Minister Leslie Peterson and Group Capt. A. F. Avant.

On Saturday the general takes the Grey Cup parade salute in Vancouver and then takes in the game.

Farmers Hail Plan On Rehabilitation

A federal government plan to assist farm organizations in rural rehabilitation schemes today was hailed by Vancouver Island farmers as a major move towards a sound policy of soil conservation.

Jack Arnold of Duncan, president of the B.C. Federation of Agriculture, said the proposed legislation disclosed in the Speech from the Throne Thursday, will do much to curb soil erosion and the flooding of valuable farm lands.

"We have been fighting for such legislation for years," he said. "Any conservation measure is important to this country."

But Mr. Arnold said the federal scheme will be of little use to B.C. unless the provincial government passes complementary legislation to facilitate the program.

"It will be effective only if both the dominion and provincial governments co-operate," he said.

NEW JOBS

He said he hoped the proposed new legislation would include a plan whereby farmers occupying "marginal lands," can be rehabilitated into new occupations.

"We feel that land which is unsuitable for agriculture should be bought by the federal government and used for a purpose it is suited for, such as forestry," he said. "The owners of such farm lands should be rehabilitated into other occupations."

Mr. Arnold said under the proposed rehabilitation legislation, something could be done to stop the Cowichan River from flooding farm lands. Drainage schemes could also be undertaken, he said.

ASK The TIMES

Q.—Will you please tell me exactly where the riots started in this city, I think it was in 1914 or 1915?—W.E.G.B.

A.—The anti-German riots were triggered by the news of the sinking of the Lusitania, May 7, 1915, and the death aboard of popular Lt. James Dunsmuir, youngest son of James Dunsmuir. The riot started in the German club, at that time occupying premises on Government Street, above what is now the TCA office. They spread to the Kaiserhof Hotel (now the Kent) at Blanshard and Johnson Streets, and many German-owned businesses and stores. The riots recurred in varying intensity for three nights. Soldiers were called out from Willows camp to stop them.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the problem along to The Times, addressed to "Ask the Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily.

All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest. The Times does not undertake to solve conundrums or legal problems. Nor will it attempt to put a value on old coins, stamps or antiques. These should be submitted to dealer.

SOME DIDN'T BOTHER TO WAIT FOR BOMB

Servants Heed Home's Siren Call

"Operation Go Home" was well heeded by Victoria's 2,800 civil servants Friday evening —many of the were on the way before the siren hooted.

Mass evacuation of the Legislative Buildings was a great success though — complete in 17 minutes, according to Civil Defence Warden G. S. Oldfield.

One of the snags was all the civil servants knew they were going to be "bombed" and some sneaked out before the 4.30 announced target time.

Others were on their marks in the various departments with hats and coats already donned.

Usual quitting time for the civil service is 5 p.m.

The big civil defence test, said Maj. Oldfield, "went a great deal better than I anticipated."

"The siren was a bit late," he admitted.

It didn't blow until 4.47. Streams of civil servants were jogging out at 4.35.

Electricians worked on the siren and it sent its belated message around the Buildings.

In the meantime, Warden Oldfield had triggered the alert by a single call to the telephone operators for a "phone fan out" of 30 calls. These alerted wardens on each floor of each building and were completed in 4 minutes 33 seconds.

"Traffic was back to normal in 17 minutes," said the warden.

He said some badly-congested spots showed up, particularly Government at the Belleville Street traffic light. Part of the gum-up there was caused by a stream of traffic from the dockyards, where work stops at 4.30.

Warden Oldfield said a new siren will soon be put atop the Douglas Building, with 10 horsepower.

The one that was a little behind the "enemy bombers" Friday has only 2½ h.p.

"You can't hear it very well," said the warden. "In fact in one end of the Douglas Building you can't hear it at all when there's a strong south west wind."

NEW BISHOP ACCEPTS POST

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Dr. Robert William Coleman, principal of Huron College in London, has accepted his election as Anglican bishop of the Kootenays, B.C.

Dr. Coleman was elected Wednesday night after nine ballots failed to elect a successor to the late Rt. Rev. Phillip Rodger Beattie.

Dr. Coleman says he has no immediate plans. "I have to await a letter from the archbishop of B.C. telling me the date of consecration," he said, "and I also have to await the consent of the bishops of the province."

Minister, 6 Children Die in Crash

DOVER, Minn. (UPI) — A Presbyterian minister and his six children were killed Friday night when their car crashed into a bridge abutment on a county road four miles north of here.

Sheriff's officers identified the victims as Rev. John Eastman, 28, of Lewiston, Minn.; his three daughters, Pamela, 7, Mary, 5, and Jane, 3; and three sons, Carl, 2; Thomas, 1, and John, 5 months.

Conditions on the 22-foot wide blacktop road were good, officers said. The car hit the three-foot high concrete abutment headon, driving the abutment nine feet into the vehicle.

His wife was at home at the time of the accident. Police said the clergyman's car was demolished and cause of the accident could not immediately be determined.

MISSIONARY SERVICE conducted by Rev. and Mrs. William J. Pease will be held in the First Church of the Nazarene, 2571 Qaudra, next Wednesday at 8 p.m. With their two sons, Rev. and Mrs. Pease are on their first furlough home from their charge as Nazarene missionaries to India, and will show pictures and curios of their work there.

NO 'SMOKE SCREEN' JOHNSON'S PLEDGE

WILLIAMSBURG, Va. (AP)—Vice-President-Elect Lyndon Johnson promised today the incoming Democratic administration will give the "fullest possible freedom of public information."

"In the years ahead, those of us in the executive branch must see that there is no smoke-screen of secrecy. The people of a free country have a right to know about the conduct of their public affairs," Johnson said.

The Senate majority leader addressed the annual meeting of The Associated Press Managing Editors. He said that in recent years the "people's right to know . . . has been considerably muted."

"That will no longer be true when Senator Kennedy begins his presidency," Johnson said. "He will not of course make any ridiculous promise to conduct all government affairs in a gold-fish bowl."

IN PARLIAMENT

'Massive National Assault On Unemployment Problem'

(From Times News Service)

OTTAWA—The national productivity council proposed by the federal government heralds the beginning of an "integrated massive national assault on the problem of unemployment," Donald MacInnis (PC—Cape Breton South) told the Commons Friday.

Some of the most effective measures to combat unemployment found in the Western world may result if the council does its job, the former coal miner said in moving the traditional reply to the speech from the throne.

Both management and labor must play a major role, said Mr. MacInnis, a member of the United Mine Workers of America (Ind.). While unemployment existed in Canada, the general economic situation was healthy with record levels touched in the labor force, savings, earnings, exports and the gross national product—or total of all goods and services produced.

Remi Paul (PC—Berthier-Maskinonge - Delanaudiere), seconding the reply in French, agreed that the economy is moving ahead.

"By almost any standard you care to use, the Canadian economy is prosperous, progressive and dynamic," said Mr. MacInnis.

The economic situation is good, echoed Mr. Paul in his French-language address.

Record Mark in Jobs, Savings

The work force, savings, earnings and exports are at record levels, said Mr. MacInnis. The gross national product — sum total of all goods and services produced—was at an all-time high.

In this context, unemployment is a phenomenon due to a big increase in the younger work force, technilogical displacement, shift of the agricultural population and more working women and pensioners, said Mr. MacInnis.

The government's attack on this problem had earned support from "all thinking Canadians."

The two government supporters were the only speakers in the two-hour sitting whose highlight was the announcement by Prime Minister Diefenbaker that government ministerial mediation in the rail strike set for Dec. 3 will start in Montreal today.

The Commons' second day of the new session was confined to the two addresses but Prime Minister Diefenbaker made statements on two matters.

One was the beginning today in Montreal of government ministerial mediation in the railway strike set for Dec. 3. Labor Minister Starr and Transport Minister Balcer head a cabinet team to talk separately with both sides.

Mr. Diefenbaker also gave an indirect reply to Opposition Leader Pearson's request for prompt consideration of the government's measures for combating unemployment. The prime minister said that after the leaders' day addresses by Mr. Pearson, himself and CCF Leader Argue which are set for Monday, government-opposition talks could be arranged for proceeding with legislation that is ready.

41 Private Members' Bills Coming

Also to come out of this session are 41 private members' bills.

Frank Howard (CCF-Skeena) gave notice of nine of the bills, twice the number from any other MP.

He proposed an amendment that would make the solicitor-general's job either a civil service appointment or a cabinet post, without the $17,000-a-year salary.

Another of his proposals was that prisoners in penitentiaries be given dormitories instead of separate cells. Mr. Howard was also in favor of a bill to outlaw trading stamps.

There was also the familiar sound of a divorce bill from CCF members.

Arnold Peters (CCF-Timiskaming) gave notice of a new, wider and more modern bill to govern divorces.

Frank McGee, remembered for his battle for abolition of capital punishment in the last session, said he would reintroduce the bill.

External Affairs Minister Green informed Mr. Howard that there have been informal discussions but no negotiations with the United States on a "marine highway" between the Alaska panhandle and Prince Rupert, B.C.

Final result of an Alaska plebiscite on the matter was not yet known.

Citizenship Council Elects Officers

Victoria Citizenship Council will attempt to get permission for students to attend naturalization ceremonies when the new courthouse is completed.

Annual meeting of the council Friday was told by president, Mrs. H. L. Smith, the idea is not new, but there are not enough seats in the old court house.

Each of the council's supporting organizations will be asked to look after one of the nine citizenship ceremonies in the coming year.

Mrs. A. H. Plows was elected first vice-president; Mrs. J. Rose, second vice-president; C. S. Yarwood, recording secretary; Mrs. A. H. Phipps, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. H. Ketchell, treasurer. Nomination for president has not been confirmed.

Next year's executive will include Miss H. Hesson, Peter Wong and John Sidaway.

'National Jewellery Week'

Rare Treasure

. . . And A Diamond Was Born

As the owner of a diamond, you are the possessor of a rare treasure.

Nowhere in the world is there another diamond exactly like the sparkling gem which you are wearing or giving to your betrothed.

Your diamond is the culmination of a process which began millions of years ago, deep inside the earth. Under great heat and pressure, a deposit of carbon became completely crystallized, and a diamond was born.

As the years passed, some other tremendous force pushed this crystal up toward the surface of the earth.

SOUTH AFRICA

In all probability, your diamond came from the vast diamond fields of South Africa, the world's chief source of diamonds. Here miners have gone down into the earth, bringing up ore to be washed and searched for the precious crystals.

When your diamond was discovered it bore little resemblance to the resplendent jewel you now own? The diamond as produced by Nature is simply a crystalline rock, covered with an oily film. But where Nature stopped, man took over—to cut, polish and set your diamond, converting it into a gem of rare beauty.

The objective of diamond cutting is simple—to fashion the stone so that it will reflect the greatest amount of light. But the job itself is complex, indeed—so complex that diamond cutters are among the world's most highly skilled craftsmen.

Price Tag Far From Fancy For 'Fancy-Cut' Diamonds

It would seem to be gilding the lily to endow anything as beautiful as a diamond with a characteristic described as "fancy."

Yet, on the word of the Canadian Jewelers Association, in the jewelers' vocabulary, "fancy-cut" diamonds are stones that are unusual in shape as compared with the round brilliant.

And, says the association, fancy cuts, which some women prefer to the round cuts, need not be fancy in price.

The fancy cuts include the pear shape, with one end rounded and one end pointed; the two-pointed marquise; the emerald cut, with its clean, straight lines, and the romantic heart shape.

TRADITIONAL

For years, of course, the round brilliant has been the traditional bridal stone.

But some girls have looked longingly at the pear and the emerald cut. Heretofore, these particular patterns have been found usually in stones that were large and fairly expensive.

But now the fancy cuts may be chosen as solitaires in sizes from a half-carat up. With other characteristics of purity and color considered, a fancy-cut diamond needn't cost more than a standard brilliant.

However, even the smallest diamond looks bright and sparkling in the round cut, whereas the novelty contour is better adapted to a stone that is larger.

If the outlay is to be around $300, the choice well may be a fancy cut. If the outlay is to be $200 or less, it's wiser to start with a brilliant and get the fancy cuts in the form of a little baguette set on either side of the centre stone. Baguettes are fancy cuts, too.

The shapes and patterns of facets in diamonds have evolved over hundreds of years and the histories of some of them are rich in romance.

Bracelets In Pairs For Balance

It's not always easy to come up with an exciting idea for a personalized Christmas gift sure to please right "off the cuff," but your jeweler advises that the new, shorter-sleeved suits and dresses give an excellent gift clue for Christmas lists this year.

The higher rate of exposure on wrists and forearms showing beneath the sleeves of new ready-to-wear points up the need for a jeweled cover-up—and bracelets—in pairs—are the answer.

There's an exciting new look to fashion's latest bracelets that are designed to give color and eye appeal to new costumes.

New bracelets include colorful, dome-shaped beauties, encrusted with bright stones, and others that give a dimensional look through textured metal surfacing. There are shapes and even metallic fringe accents in new bracelets as well as the classic narrow bangles that remain popular.

For Cocktail and Evening Wear

New Watches Change Color To Match Wearers' Ensemble

. . . classic simplicity

Swiss watchmakers, leaders in watch quality and styling for centuries, each year hold a Watch Fair at Basel, Switzerland, to show their newest, most dazzling developments in timekeeping.

This year, their 30th annual Watch Fair featured knife-thin men's watches, cocktail models that change their form and color to match wearer's ensembles, a watch that is cased in a vacuum, and many other fascinating timepieces.

The most expensive watch at the fair was a diamond-crusted bracelet valued at $17,500 in Switzerland.

There were many versions of travellers' watches to meet the demands of today's jet-age citizens.

One of the most attractive permits the traveller, slipping through time zones at almost the speed of sound, to move the watch hour hand backward or forward one hour at the push of a button. The hour hand moves without disturbing the rest of the movement.

UNIVERSAL TIME

Other travel watches provide universal time—showing the time at any given moment in all major cities around the world.

One manufacturer exhibited a cocktail and evening wear watch for women which can be converted in seconds into any one of 35 possible color and form combinations.

The watch comes with a selection of seven straps of different hue, and five different forms that snap on over the case. Thus the owner can match her various ensembles and could sally forth into the world 35 different times with ent watches.

Men's watches showed a definite trend towards ultra-thin styling for daytime and evening wear. Many pocket watches—showing a surprising gain in popularity—were as thin as a knife blade, and wrist watches followed suit. Even self-winding watches were thinner than ever. Thanks to new Swiss technical developments, one manufacturer showed the thinnest automatic watch in the world, only .08 of an inch thick.

The manufacturer of the watch cased in a vacuum claims the movement is thereby protected from moisture due to condensation, that the oils are preserved, and naturally, the movement is dust-proof. The movement is self-winding, and the setting crown—sunk into the attractive case—is all but invisible.

COMPLICATED

As in the past, Swiss watchmakers exhibited the smallest what appears to be 35 differ- and thinnest watches in the world, and the most complicated. Many special purpose watches were shown, specially designed to aid doctors, airplane pilots, the blind, engineers, business executives, divers and other sportsmen.

There is a wrist alarm watch for ladies, wonderful for pulling the turkey out of the oven, feeding the baby or meeting hubby on time. There is even a gambler's watch — one side fo. roulette, the other dog racing. The outer rim spins and you place your bet.

SATURN

A timely novelty is a new satellite watch featuring a wrist-sized solar system, with a white arrow serving as the hour indicator, the planet Saturn revolving around the dial is the minute hand, and a atellite circling the earth is the second hand.

And for the fisherman, or fisherwoman, Swiss watchmakers have come up with a moon-phase watch which tells the phases of the moon and measures the tides—important factors for ardent fishermen to determine when the big ones are biting.

'It's Every Woman's Right'

The gift of pearls carries a special connotation — in that pearls grow more beautiful in contact with the wearer.

Because of its gentle color and smooth shape, the pearl is the symbol of modesty and purity, says jewelry designer Marianne Ostier, in her recent book, "Jewels and the Woman."

No wonder women love the pearls and prize it, as a gift, for the compliment it carries as well as for its beauty.

It should be the right of every woman to own at lease one strand of beautiful, carefully selected and lovingly matched cultured pearls.

Her first pearl necklace—unless the recipient has expressed a definite preference to the contrary — should be a single strand just long enough to fill in the hollow of the throat.

After the first necklace may be added chokers, one-stranders, two-stranders, three or four-stranders and really long lengths.

THE "GOLD AND ICE" look for evening! The necklace is a band of curling ribbons with a centre clip containing 333 diamonds. Resting on the bodice of the black silk brocade ball-gown is a spray of five leaves, paved with diamonds. The matching ear-clips emphasize the black and white wig, the "brilliant cut" by the designer.

Some Shining Examples

'Success Look' for Men

If you want to tell some man you think he's headed for the top of the heap, there is no better way this Christmas than with the new men's jewelry because it fairly breathes success.

The new cuff links of textured gold or silver with perhaps the gleam of a precious or semi-precious stone provide the spark of brightness that suits in dark colors call for. They are also the sort of touch that identifies a man who thinks a lot about his appearance—or knows a woman who does.

Shining examples include those of black onyx mounted on textured gold plaques, lapis lazuli in a three-dimensional silver setting, curved gold bands set with rubies, and tigers' eyes mounted on gold. There are also reflections of Edwardian elegance in cameo links banded with textured gold. And, of course, gold cuff links with the owner's initials engraved in fine script are timeless in their appeal.

Masculine rings, whether stone set, signet or emblematic, quickly bespeak, through their modern appearance, a hint of distinction or achievement in the wearer.

Easier to Cut

Once only genuine rubies or sapphires were used as watch jewels, but Swiss scientists discovered synthetic jewels were easier to cut and polish, lasted longer and were cheaper to use.

They are fitted at friction points to reduce the wear caused by steel rubbing against steel.

Qualities-Plus In Dinnerware

When you select your dinnerware, it will likely be in either semi-porcelain or fine china.

What is the difference? Well, there are many qualities in both. The value varies with the qualities, plus the kind of pattern.

Semi-porcelain runs the gamut from the very low-priced to those finer qualities bearing the names of famous potteries, to be found on your jeweler's shelves.

The best semi-porcelain is made from fine china clays mainly found in some parts of England. Usually the famous potteries make many of their most popular patterns available in both a fine semi-porcelain as well as bone china.

HARDER

Fine china, especially bone china, is much harder and longer lasting than even the best semi-porcelain. Seldom does it chip or crack with normal usage, and usually gives a lifetime of service.

As in semi-porcelain, the quality of bone china varies, depending on the amount and type of bone used, and whether the pattern has been put on entirely or only partly, by hand.

As the number of colors used determines the number of times each piece goes to the baking ovens, this also can influence the price. Also those patterns using a good deal of gold and cobalt blue are more expensive.

So you see there can be a great many factors responsible for the wide range of prices in dinnerware.

Whatever you want to spend for your fine dinnerware service your jeweler can offer you the very best for your money.

He will show you patterns in both semi-porcelain and English bone china and possibly fine china imported from Germany (such as Rosenthal's), Japan, and the United States.

He will compare qualities, explain place settings, and advise you about the best patterns for your type of home.

Remember, if your dining room is extremely modern, it isn't wise to choose a "formal" pattern. However, you will find that many of the beautiful traditional shapes and patterns your jeweler will show you, will be right at home in any setting.

Magazine Probers In Vancouver Monday

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada's westward-bound publications royal commission has completed the feeling-out phase of an inquiry involving every Canadian who browses in a neighborhood news stand or has a mail subscription to an American magazine.

The three-man body received briefs here in public hearings assessing charges that American competition in the publications field is gaining an overwhelming advantage that could lead to slaughter of all remaining Canadian periodicals.

Lacking in the opening hearings were specific recommendations by any of the Canadian publishers and printers on suggested courses of action toward ensuring maintenance of a healthy Canadian periodical press.

All said there is a need for action—and most reported plans to make recommendations in future hearings.

The commission, headed by chairman M. Grattan O'Leary, president of The Ottawa Journal, picks up public hearings again Monday in Vancouver, with Mr. O'Leary and fellow members John George Johnston of Toronto and Claude P. Beaubien of Montreal arriving on the west coast Saturday night.

After three days in Vancouver, they will work their way east in carrying out a cross-country swing.

3 New York Firemen Die, 12 Injured

NEW YORK (AP)—A nine-alarm fire roared through six old buildings in Lower Manhattan Friday night, trapping and killing three firemen and injuring a dozen others.

The flames, belching dense black smoke, vari-colored sparks and embers high over the Manhattan skyline, could be seen for miles.

The three firemen, literally "slid to their death" into the basement of the five-storey Loft Building where the fire started. The men, first to reach the scene, rushed in and started down to the basement only to find the stairs had been converted into a chute for sliding merchandise to the cellar.

Once in the smoke-filled basement they were unable to find their way out, yet they died within 10 feet of a stairway that remained intact despite the fire.

The fire broke out shortly after 5 p.m. in the 100-year-old brick building housing textile concerns at Broadway and Grand Streets. The area has been the scene of some of the city's worst fires.

The dead were identified as Lieut. John McDermott, 34; Francis Sammon, 34, and John Cosner, 25.

MOSCOW (Reuters)—Death of one of Russia's leading test pilots, Col. Alexander Grigorievich Vasilchenko, was announced in the Soviet Army newspaper Red Star today. The newspaper did not give the cause of death of the 49-year-old pilot. Vasilchenko tested planes for more than 25 years.

Novel Children's Mugs Are Bound To Be Popular

By PENNY SAVER

If you know a toddler that refuses to drink milk—get him or her one of the colorful china mugs that are bound to break any milk strike. These are the cutest I've ever seen and china handles are also built-in straws.

Ones for little girls have a picture of a perky little miss perched on a rocking horse that's towing a little wagon on which is perched a beribboned parcel. Brown spots are splattered over the curving golden giraffe that forms the handle. To encourage her to finish the milk, there's a pink-eared rabbit waiting to greet her at the bottom of the mug. Mugs are priced at 75 cents.

Instead of a giraffe, a jolly elephant forms handle and straw of mugs for little boys. Mug is decorated with a picture of a little boy astride a green and yellow train that's also pulling a gift-wrapped parcel. Tiny blue and pink teddy bear centres bottom of mug. These would make wonderful Christmas gifts.

Tiny pairs of crocheted shoes—they measure about four inches—are latest "best sellers" in one downtown store. Shoes are being made by a Victoria woman and come in several pretty colors including blue, mauve, yellow, white and gold, pink and rose and gold. Crochet work has been stiffened to preserve form of shoes and each shoe has dainty high heels and trim of either flowers or sparkling rhinestones.

Store owner tells me that many shoppers have bought them for gifts. Some are going to use them as novel containers for bottles of perfume while others intend stuffing them and transforming them into exquisite pin cushions. Shoes are selling at $1.50 a pair.

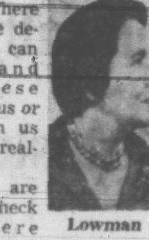
If you are wondering what to send to an overseas friend for Christmas, why not mail one of the original mail bags that come in the form of a rotund Santa Claus. These are about two feet long and made of weather resistant felt, edged with a lavish gold trim. Santa holds a roomy bag, inscribed with "Holiday Mail Bag," that will hold dozens of greeting cards. These sell at $1.25.

If you would like to know where Penny shopped today give her a ring at EV 2-3131.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Put These Things on Personal Check List



Lowman

If you want to become your most attractive self (and what woman doesn't) it is essential that you look at yourself objectively and check yourself periodically. There always are defects we can improve and often these happen to us or slip up on us before we realize it.

If you are going to check yourself here are some of the things to put on your list. What about your hair? Have you neglected it? Would you profit by a new hair style or rinse or tint? Do you have it shampooed and set often enough to keep it well-groomed?

Your complexion: Do you cleanse it regularly twice a day? Do you lubricate it daily? This is one of the greatest aids if you are serious about remaining youthful in appearance for as long as possible.

What about your make-up? This can make a tremendous difference in the way you look. Experiment. Don't use the same thing just because you started using it years ago. Be sure that your powder has the right tone. Avoid a white, powdered look. Your powder should be one shade darker than your natural coloring. Check and experiment with colors in lipstick and rouge. If you have not tried eye make-up learn to use it subtly.

Observe your posture in a full-length mirror. You will look old at 30 if you slump and droop and shuffle along. Good posture gives the impression of youth at any age.

Your figure: Weigh yourself. Learn what your correct weight is and begin working toward it. Measure your bust, waist, abdomen and hips. Measure straight around the body at the fullest part of the bust, at your natural waistline, around the largest part of your abdomen and hips. If you find that you are out of proportion begin special exercises for the spot you wish to reduce or build up.

Let these suggestions act as a skeleton for a more detailed, individual chart. I think you will find this fun because having definite goals adds zest to a beauty routine.

If you would like to have my exercises for waist or abdomen or hip-slimming, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 5. Address Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

New Knits Good 'Buys' For Budget-Minded Women

By NONA DAMASKE

Damaske

Sometimes a fashion trend sneaks up on us. For several seasons knits have been popular, a few have been included in dress departments and some two-piece styles have found their way into the sportswear sections.

Now all of a sudden knits are demanding their own space in local shops.

When you stop to think of the easy-to-wear styling of these knits it is easy to understand their popularity. Newness of line is merged with easy application to the average figure. The over-blouse look, shapely in a loose manner and the pipe-stem skirt give a tapering illusion to the figure.

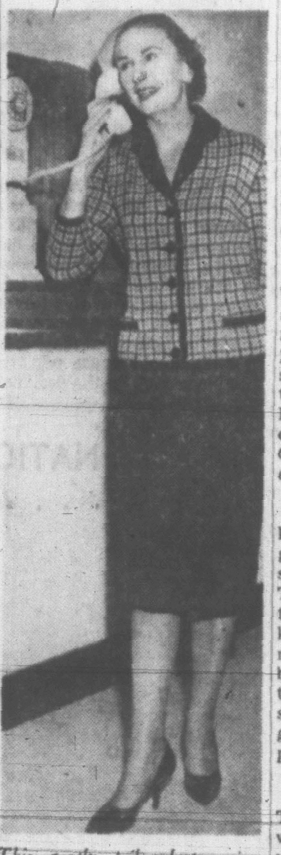
New knits must not be confused with the clinging wool jersey which is more difficult to wear. Wool jersey garments are cut from bolts of fabric. New knits are woven, garment by garment.

A dress or suit of double knit is a long term investment. There is no "season" for these garments. Occasions for wearing them are limitless. Cosmopolite, suburbanite, intercontinental traveller or what have you, a knit can be the perfect companion. They pack like a dream and if the skirt is lined, as many of them are, you can sit all day without being all creased and baggy.

One particularly smart costume is an amber-toned dress and jacket. The dress, starkly simple, has short sleeves, an unadorned round neckline and an elasticized waistline. The long-sleeve jacket has for its only trim a row of glistening gold buttons down the front.

Quite different is a dress and jacket in charcoal grey. The dress, broken at the waist by an inset of paler grey and white is topped with a slip-on Chanel jacket which is also piped in the pale grey and white.

If your wardrobe is limited and you must purchase with the years ahead in mind, you would find one of these new knits a very worthwhile investment.



This gently tailored two-piece double-knit costume worn by Betty Ward of this city has a black and tan jacket in an over-size houndstooth pattern. Slender skirt is sooty black. Betty's dashing hat, fashioned in the Tyrolean manner, was designed in Austria.

Rents Low for Refugee Housing

Letter from the United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees at Geneva, in answer to a question concerning rentals, charged in the new housing accommodation for families moved from the worn-out refugee camps of Europe, was read at meeting of Lake Hill Women's Institute.

It assured institute members that "rentals in the new dwellings are kept within the limit which the refugee can pay. This means that in some cases the accommodation is even provided free."

Refugees in the old camps were charged merely a nominal rent, ranging from two to seven dollars a month, depending on number of rooms occupied, the letter pointed out. Same general rule is being applied when refugees are moved to the new housing.

Each case for re-housing is carefully scrutinized by the High Commissioner's office and where it is found that the refugee has sufficient income a reasonable rent is charged.

"Through our negotiations with the governments, building societies and voluntary agencies in the countries where refugees are to be settled we arrange rents in the new housing.

"In the case of some elderly couples a voluntary agency assumes the life-long responsibility of medical and other care that may be required."

Miss Ethel Bruce read the letter to the meeting and suggested that "any idea that excessive rents are charged in the new housing may have arisen from the refugees' own apprehensions that when moved from their former emergency shelters they would have to pay proportionately higher for the much more comfortable new housing."

DEAR ABBY

Always An Excuse

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: When my husband goes out of town he makes sure our car is never left at home for me to use. He doesn't come right out and say he doesn't want me to have it, but he either leaves it with his brother (who has a car of his own) or else he promises it to "one of the boys" at the office.

I've never had an accident or a ticket, so he doesn't have to worry about that. And I've never given him any cause to doubt me or to be jealous. Why does he do this, and how can I change him?

DISCOURAGED.

DEAR DISCOURAGED: Your husband's insecurity is showing. In the "old days" men would keep their wives pregnant or barefoot to make sure they didn't stray. Today, they remove the "wheels". Bring the subject out into the open and discuss it freely. Once he's gained self-confidence he'll leave you the car.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I am what is known as a "brain". I always get straight A's. This may sound wonderful, but it isn't. The other kids are so jealous, they shun me. Even the smart kids. I try to be friendly and never brag about my grades, but the resentment is always there. I would like to have some friends, but I am not going to get poor grades on purpose to do it.

THE BRAIN.

DEAR BRAIN: Face it. There are plenty of "brains" who have lots of friends. If you are disliked generally, there must be another reason. Use some of that brain power to figure out why.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: Please advise me if I was right or wrong for accepting a diamond ring from a man who, at the time, was still married, claimed he was going to get a divorce, but instead was trying for a reconciliation with his wife. We have nothing to do with each other any more. Am I right in keeping the ring, or should I return it to him?

TYLER.

DEAR TYLER: You were wrong to accept the ring under those circumstances. Return it.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: That foolish girl who whined because she has to wear braces on her teeth in high school doesn't know when she's well off. I am 13 years old and will have to wear a 14-pound brace on my back for the rest of my life.

GOLDINE.

Identically styled chiffon gowns were worn by the attendants. Matron of honor, Mrs. D. Teacher Believes Europe Has Education Edge

By SUSAN BUTT

Western educators continue to puzzle over why standards of education in Europe are so much higher than those in America.

Miss Gillian Scott-Moncrieff, recently returned to Victoria after five years abroad, can supply some of the intangible causes. She spent three years studying at famed Froebel Educational Institute in London and two years teaching at Wallingford Girls and Infants Church of England School in Berkshire.

For one thing, children start school earlier and work harder.

"They begin school at five," says Miss Scott-Moncrieff.

At age 11 children are screened through the "11 +" test. "This is similar to an IQ test based on English and arithmetic. Those who pass go on to grammar schools and others to technical schools where practical courses are given. This inevitably raises standards in the grammar schools."

BETTER EXAMINATIONS

Exams may also effect educational standards.

Even in Canadian colleges, this young teacher notes, you get some objective type questions consisting of "yes" and "no" answers and "filling in the blanks." Even in grammar school in England, emphasis is on subjective and essay-type examinations. "You jolly well have to know your subject then," she smiles.

European children are more seriously minded, on the whole, and not subject to the materialistic sense of values sweeping parts of this country. Many with the "don't care attitude" are eliminated from higher education.

Miss Scott-Moncrieff

The daughter of Dr. R. Scott-Moncrieff and Mrs. Scott-Moncrieff, 663 Radcliffe Lane, this traveller was no stranger to England when she went there to study. She has relatives in that country and had made a previous trip overseas.

Before she left Victoria she attended Norfolk House, St. Margaret's School and Victoria College. Well known in Victoria for her skill when handling a grass hockey stick, she continued her favorite sport abroad by playing on the Froebel Institute's team during her three years there.

MANY MEMORIES

Experiences mount up in five years spent far from home and for Miss Scott-Moncrieff musical shows in London is one of them.

Trips to continental Europe also stand out over the years including a visit to the Salzburg musical festival. A summer spent instructing at children's camp in Cornwall and weekend "crewing" at the big annual regatta at Falmouth added to excitement.

Although she is sad to have left her many friends she refers to notorious heating systems in English homes when she says: "It is nice to be back where houses are warm for a change. Believe it or not, the first school I taught at in Wallingford had gas lighting."

This vivacious young woman is now eagerly waiting to launch out on a teaching career in Victoria. "I've missed not teaching this term," she says. Her friends are wondering how long she will remain in Victoria, but she assures them "I have no plans to go back. I'm here for a bit."

From Vancouver

Mr. and Mrs. Eric V. Chown of West Vancouver were guests at the Quest Motel when they spent last weekend in Victoria. While here they visited their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. William Smith and their three children, and Mrs. Chown's sister, Mrs. Muriel Luten and her daughter Dorothy Louise.

St. Andrew's Night Ball In the Scottish Tradition

Special guests invited to the St. Andrew's Night Ball, arranged by the St. Andrew's and Caledonian Society next Friday, Nov. 25, in Holyrood House include Lt.-Col P. F. Ramsay and Mrs. Ramsay, Dr. J. L. W. McLean and Mrs. McLean, Pipe-Major Frank Knight, Pipe-Major Ian Duncan and Mr. and Mrs. John Dunbar.

Committee in charge of arrangements includes Mrs. G. Inglis, Mr. and Mrs. C. Cameron, Maj. N. Featherstone, and Mr. T. Hamilton.

The ball is in keeping with a tradition started in 1849 when the St. Andrew's and Caledonian Society was first founded in the city of Victoria. In the beginning St. Andrew's Day was observed with a concert at which guest artists were presented, followed by a tea and dancing.

After World War Two, it was decided to hold the concert on the meeting night of the society prior to St. Andrew's Day and the dance on the Friday on or before observation of the Saint's day.

On Sunday, Nov. 27, members of the St. Andrew's and Caledonian Society go to a special service in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, conducted by Dr. J. L. W. McLean.

Canadian Media Given Support

(From Duncan Bureau)

DUNCAN—Cowichan Chamber of Commerce will submit a resolution to the Royal Commission on Publications in Vancouver Monday and Tuesday, giving full support to Canadian magazines and periodicals in their fight against the "growing inroads of American media."

The resolution will urge that all-Canadian publications not only be encouraged but that some means, short of subsidy, be found to make their position more competitive.

Weekly newspaper editor W. Dobson suggested a return to Liberal legislation, repealed by the present government, which taxed the Canadian advertising revenue of American magazines.

He said the problem of Canadian versus American magazines was a complex one, but that some method must be found "to safeguard against the complete encroachment of the American outlook on the Canadian public."

Judge Regrets Registering Conviction

Mr. Justice A. D. Macfarlane told a West Saanich man Friday that he should never have pleaded guilty to a charge of indecent assault.

"I am very sorry I have to register a conviction against you," the judge told Edward G. Paul, in B.C. Assize Court here.

Paul appeared for sentence on the charge to which he had pleaded guilty after another charge at attempted rape had been withdrawn by crown prosecutor Alan Begelow.

"I think he pleaded guilty to an offence under a misapprehension of what was involved," said Mr. Justice Macfarlane.

He suspended sentence on Paul.

"Well," I mused . . . "to get

I did my best . . . but I couldn't

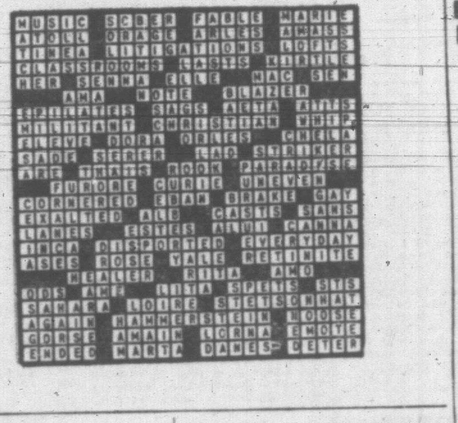
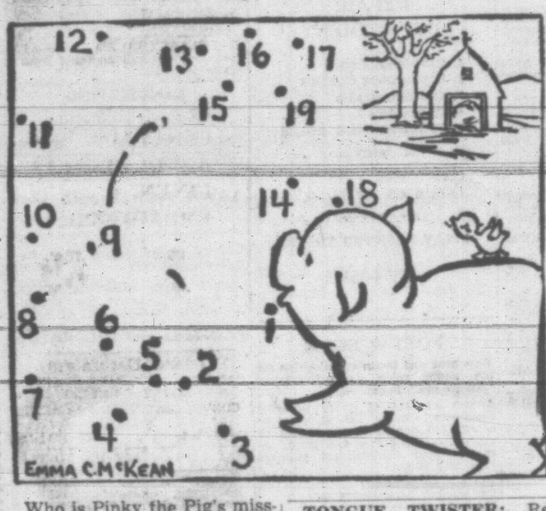
Solution of Last Week's Puzzle



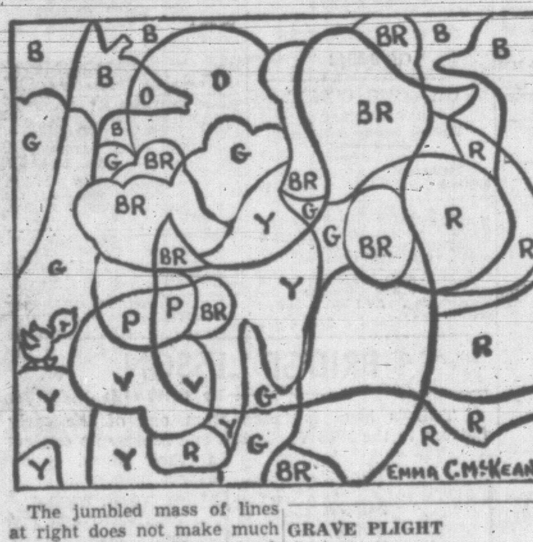
FOLLOW DOTS, SIGHT A PEN PAL



Who is Pinky the Pig's missing barnyard pal? To find out, simply draw a line from dot 1 to dot 2, etc., until you have used up all of the dots.

TONGUE TWISTER: Repeat these words aloud as rapidly as possible: Six hippy misses mixed hisses with kisses.

COLORING CAPER FOR JUNIORS



The jumbled mass of lines at right does not make much sense until you add some colors. Then, as if by magic, a surprise picture appears. Colors required are indicated in various segments by these initials: O—Orange, G—Green, Br—Brown, Y—Yellow, R—Red, V—Violet, P—Pink. If you do not have pink, use red lightly.

What is the picture all about?

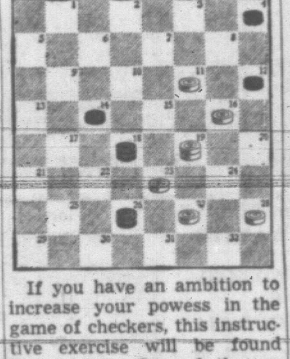
IT'S YOUR MOVE TO WIN



If you have an ambition to increase your powess in the game of checkers, this instructive exercise will be found illuminating. One of the experts' trick combination is involved.

White checkers, moving up the board, to move and win in four moves is the challenge. If, after you have tried your hand at it, you find the White win is over your head, consult with the answer provided by long-time checker champ Millard Hopper below. No fair peeking beforehand, however.

Solution: White 27-24, Black 18-27-20, White 28-24, Black 20-27, White 19-15, Black 12-19, White 15-24-31-22.

```

X X X X T
X X X X S
```

1. Pre-electric light.

RATE OF EXCHANGE

At one shop, a hat and trousers cost as much as a coat. A coat and two pairs of trousers cost $52.50. Two hats and one pair of trousers cost $30.

Time limit: two minutes.

Answer: Forty-five dollars. The coat cost $22.50; trousers, $15; hat, $7.50.

WORD STANDS UPSIDE DOWN

There is a four-letter word in the English language which, when printed in capital letters, reads the same inverted as it does right side up. What word?

No fair peeking at answer below.

Answer: The word „noon" is such a word.

ROBERT'S HOW OLD?

Robert's father's age is the same as Robert's with the figures reversed. Last year Robert was just a quarter of his father's age. Give ages:

Solution: Robert is sixteen and his father is sixty-one.

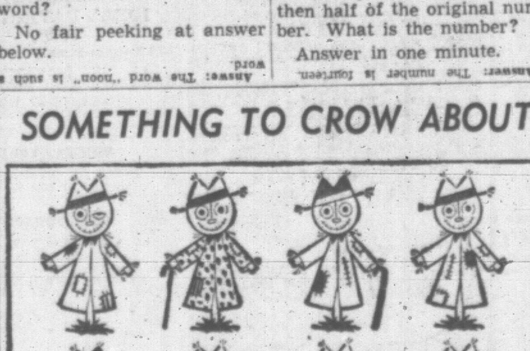
WHAT'S THE NUMBER?

If a certain number is increased by seven and the total divided by three, the result is then half of the original number. What is the number?

Answer in one minute.

Answer: The number is fourteen.

SOMETHING TO CROW ABOUT



Judging the merits, pro and con, of various scarecrows encountered recently, a flock of crows selected the group above as the most conducive to good digestion. While it is difficult to pin down the reasoning behind the crows' selection, it is obvious that all of the scarecrows pictured bear a close resemblance. You'll notice, in fact, if you take the trouble to look quite closely, that two of the scarecrows are exact duplicates. How quickly can you find this pair?

BRIDGE LESSON

By OSWALD JACOBY

Today's hand is taken from one of the early matches in the 1936 Vanderbilt and represents experts at their worst, or an expert named Jacoby at his worst, anyhow.

Opening lead—♠10

I sat North and my partner, Dave Bruce, opened one heart. In those days Dave used to bid an occasional psychic. When he made such a bid he always had a completely blank hand, but he also had at least a five-card suit. Also, he would pick a time when we were not vulnerable and the opponents were and this was the situation with this hand.

Anyway, I decided he had bid a psychic and made the safe bid of four hearts. We were going to make that, psychic or not.

Needless to say, I still hear about the hand. He had an opening bid and we had every high card in the pack and spread seven.

Our team went on to win the match and the tournament so my bad bid did not really hurt us.

It is interesting to note that if we were playing the Jacoby slam convention back then, I could have had my cake and eaten it too. I would have bid four clubs. With a psychic Dave would have bid four diamonds to show no aces. As it was, he would have bid four spades to show two and I would have bid the grand slam.

SURELY NOT
For $11,350
And $1850 Down?

YES SIR, THAT'S RIGHT!! And it's a modern 2-year-old, 3-BR full basement, oil-heated, stucco bungalow. Good location on a quiet, dead-end street. It needs some redecorating all right, but the vendors have allowed you over $2,000 to do what will cost you approx $200!! No fooling, this is a bargain at the price, but the owner is up against it and some lucky buyer is going to reap the benefit, it might as well be you!! And, immediate possession too.

B.C. Help Asked By Indians

Cowichan Indians feel there should be a division of authority in government which would give the province a greater responsibility to the Indian people, Saanich MLA John D. Tisdalle said today.

Speaking as a result of an informal meeting in Duncan Friday night with Indian leaders, he said Indians feel the provincial government would have more influence, and would be a closer source of authority.

"The older Indians say in all seriousness that they were better off when they dealt directly with the Queen rather than with Ottawa," Mr. Tisdalle said.

The Indians, who asked to meet with Mr. Tisdalle to discuss economic problems, expresed concern over salmon fishing rights in rivers "which run through their reserves and have been theirs since the beginning of time."

"Now they find they can fish in the rivers for themselves only five days a week—usually during their own working hours—while the white men with scientific lures fish nearby for seven days a week.

CONSERVATION

"They feel they are practising conservation for the benefit of the white people," he said.

Mr. Tisdalle advised that steps be taken by the Indians to achieve some unity of purpose among themselves, "which has been lacking in B.C.," and that the federal government make a land-use survey of Indian reserves toward making them more productive.

"Indians are great berry harvesters and always were," he said. "I feel if familiar products could be grown successfully on reserves, then the federal government should supply stock to start plantations."

B.C. Children Face No Danger Of Candy Jag

British Columbia children cannot get tipsy on candies with liqueur centres as some British children did recently.

A spokesman for the B.C. Liquor Control Board said similar candies are sold in Victoria, but the amount of alcohol inside is limited to 1 per cent by weight.

"That amount of alcohol is not intoxicating," he said. "Anything with more alcohol than that in it can only be sold through the Liquor Control Board, and we don't handle them."

Britain's liquor laws are now being tightened to control the sale of liquor-filled candies following complaints in the House of Commons.

One British manufacturer advertised that his hollow bottle-shaped candies contained "enough alcohol to make children tipsy."

TRAFFIC FINES

In city police court today:

Lyle Stewart Henderson, 885 Swan, $10 for failing to stop for a school patrol flag.

In Colwood RCMP court Friday:

Lester Melvin McConghy, 834 Esquimalt, $15 and $5 costs for speeding over 30.

Dianne Claire Roy, 175 Cleo, $25 and $3 costs for careless driving.

Herbert Winship, 653 Strandlund, $10 and $3 costs for failing to stop at a stop sign.

Frederick Arthur Walker, 635 Kelly, $10 and $3 costs for speeding over 40.

In Oak Bay police court Friday:

William George Heaney, 3290 Exeter, $40 for speeding over 30.

Canadians Must Retain Identity

NEW YORK (CP) — Dr. Norman MacKenzie, president of the University of British Columbia, said Friday night Canadians should staff all defence establishments in their country.

As long as Canada and the U.S. have common weapons, some should be made in Canada, he said in an address before the Canadian Society of New York.

"It would be highly dangerous for Canada to accept passively a situation in which she provided all the raw materials for manufacture in another country," he said.

HURT ECONOMY

"Our economy would suffer and many of our brightest young men would move over the 49th parallel, as so many have done in the past.

"Because of this, and to maintain our feelings of self-respect, I feel it desirable that Canada should insist upon manning all defence establishments within Canada except insofar as she invites others to come in and share her defence problems and burdens. That is the price that must be paid if we are to remain a free nation."

Dr. MacKenzie added the same argument was true of investment and industrial development.

"We have to reconcile our desire for rapid growth and affluent living with our concern for our separate identity."

When Canadians know that U.S. investment is greater in Canada than in South America and that Canada has a trade deficit with her neighbor of more than a billion dollars annually, "there are vague fears about the consequences of this unequal trade and a very real suspicion that the Canadian economy might be taken over completely by American business."

TOO MUCH DOMINATION

"The problem, of course, is to secure co-operation without absorption. If Canada is not to become an economic colony, then it is very important to make sure that there is an adequate use made of Canadian management, that there is no closed-door policy about the purchase of stocks, that policy affecting Canada is based upon Canadian interests and not made solely in the head offices in the United States . . ."

Similarly, Canadian culture should not be "a pale replica of the American."

Canadian sport is dominated to too great an extent by American athletes and too many Canadian unions are dominated by head offices in the U.S., he said.

FORT LANGLEY CABINET MEETING MARKS 'DAY'

FORT LANGLEY, B.C. (CP)—Surrounded by the bric-a-bac of a century ago, Premier Bennett and his cabinet met in the "big house" Friday, commemorating Douglas Day and British Columbia's 102nd birthday.

The big house, reconstructed in 1958 as an exact replica of the old Hudson's Bay Company trading post, is part of a museum and fort on the banks of the Fraser here.

At a banquet Friday, the premier paid tribute to the founders of the fort, B.C.'s first capital.

Dr. C. E. Gordon of the University of B.C. department of archeology, told of the Indians of the area and said discoveries show that Indians of the Fraser River existed in the Yale area 9,000 years ago.

Horse Trade Horror Crackdown Welcome

LONDON (CP)—Two British newspapers welcome new regulations restricting what they call the "horrors" of the Irish horse trade.

The Daily Mirror, in bold headlines, hails the "end of a great crusade" and the Guardian says the decision of the Irish government will be widely welcomed.

For many years humanitarians have campaigned against the practice whereby old horses were shipped live from Ireland across stormy seas for slaughter and sale on the Continent. Thousands of horses died at sea or on landing.

Under the new regulations, a company will be formed to buy and slaughter horses in Ireland under controlled conditions, and the meat will be exported.

REPORTER AIDED

The Irish traffic first came to public atention in 1954 after a series of five articles written by a Canadian reporter, Patrick Keatley, who came to the Guardian from the Vancouver Sun.

A week after the articles appeared, Sir Winston Churchill, then prime minister, ordered a committee of inquiry. The Guardian received more than 3,500 letters, including a six-stanza poem from a Saskatchewan farmer and a suggestion from a Toronto meat dealer that conditions in Eastern Canada also required investigation.

Keatley, now the Guardian's Commonwealth correspondent, said one of the worst things about the trade is that horses cannot vomit. The long sea voyages and train rides were marked by "confinement, seasickness and bloody death."

The British trade journal Newspaper World described the series as an investigation in the "best traditions of journalism." At one point, Keatley received a £1,500 bribe offer from a meat man who wanted him to "forget" the investigation.

Republicans Order Eight-State Recheck

WASHINGTON (AP)—Republican officials Friday ordered field checks which might lead to vote recounts in eight states—and even possibly a turnabout victory for Republican presidential candidate Richard Nixon.

The decision to send representatives into the eight states was reached by Leonard W. Hall, Robert H. Finch and Fred C. Scribner, top strategy planners in Nixon's election campaign against apparently victorious Democrat John Kennedy.

Finch told an interviewer that Nixon, now resting in Florida, hadn't been consulted about the meeting that produced the decision to send Republican representatives into Illinois, Texas, Missouri, New Mexico, Nevada, South Carolina, New Jersey and Pennsylvania.

About the time this was being announced, New Jersey Republicans moved for a recount in five counties where Kennedy rolled up a 139,000 plurality over Nixon. Kennedy won New Jersey and its 16 electoral votes by 21,800 votes.

The latest tabulation—with votes still trickling in—showed Kennedy maintaining a thin popular vote lead over Nivon, but more than enough electoral votes—300—to claim the presidency. The required number is 269.

Six New Paintings Added to Art Gallery

A special jury of five has selected six paintings by contemporary Canadian artists for addition to the permanent collection of the Art Gallery of Greater Victoria.

The current purchase exhibition, which will remain on view through Sunday, was organized as a result of a Canada Council offer to match the gallery dollar for dollar up to $1,000 for the purpose of buying works for the permanent collection.

Artists whose works were selected are Margaret Peterson and Herbert Siebner, Victoria; John Korner, Jack Shadbolt and Gordon Smith, Vancouver, and Tony Urquhart, Niagara Falls. Of the 18 painters represented in the 28 paintings exhibited, 14 are from B.C. and the balance from elsewhere in Canada.

Members of the jury were Prof. Ian McNairn, UBC; Prof. Tony Emery, Victoria College; Mrs. A. S. Wyllie, painter; Mrs. Ina D. D. Uhtoff, painter and critic, and Colin Graham, gallery curator.

ISLAND VIEWPOINT

Evasive

COWICHAN LEADER—The out-of-hand refusal of the provincial highways department to assume any responsibility for rockwork on the bank of the Cowichan River below Silver Bridge should not be the end of this matter.

The city has a duty to point out that the government built its new highway bridge and then created a river channel under it by diverting the stream from its former course.

The provincial government in 1950, in placing rock along the banks of the new channel, extended the rock farther along the south bank than the north bank. This in itself has helped to create the present problem. Can the government deny responsibility in respect of this one feature of the matter raised by the city?

Ladysmith Asset

LADYSMITH CHRONICLE—The Ladysmith Kinsmen Club can take great pride in the new health centre building which has been provided through their efforts and which was officially turned over to the community last Saturday. It was a tremendous undertaking for a service club in a community of this size and the fact that it was successfully completed speaks highly for the drive and community spirit which has characterized the local Kinsmen Club since it was organized.

There is no question that the new building will make a significant contribution to public health in this community because it not only provides ample space and excellent facilities for the local staff of the Central Vancouver Island Health Unit, it also provides office and meeting room for the voluntary agencies which are doing such a wonderful job in this area.

There have no doubt been many anxious moments for the club members since they committed themselves to this big project, but we are sure that now when they see it completed and in use, they will feel amply repaid for the time, worry and effort they spent in seeing it through.

How Bad?

COMOX DISTRICT FREE PRESS—How badly off are we in Courtenay?

There is talk of recession, unemployment and hard times—but let us look around.

Two merchants are extending their operations to take in more floor and selling space. This doesn't sound like depression.

At the post office, business is up over last year and a number of merchants, although inclined to go along with the crowd, saying "times are pretty bad" will, when pressed, admit that business is up a little over last year.

And times aren't so bad that servicemen rush to the door upon call. Instead there have been cases where they are so busy that they cannot even promise to give an estimate of when they can oblige the customer for a few days.

We have empty stores on Fifth Street but only two have gone out of business (to be replaced by a concern larger than both of them together). The others have moved into other stores; in some cases, newly built stores.

Prison Sentence For Purse Snatching

Two 21-year-old men were sentenced to 18 months in the Young Offenders' Unit at Oakalla jail Friday for snatching a woman's handbag on a Victoria street.

"There have been a number of these attacks . . . and some punishment must be imposed as a deterrent to others," Mr. Justice A. D. Macfarlane told Walter Trevor Donaldson and Garry Leo Groen, convicted in Assize Court last Monday of robbery with violence.

Mr. Justice Macfarlane added a recommendation that they be sent to Haney Correctional Institution.

They were found guilty of snatching a handbag containing $60 after assaulting a 61-year-old woman tourist outside a motel on Belleville Street last August.

"People generally look to the courts to see that young men doing these sort of things are punished," Mr. Justice Macfarlane said.

"But I don't think the sentence I am going to impose will prevent either of them, if he wants to, from correcting his attitude to society."

The sentencing brought the current Assizes in Victoria to a close. They began on Oct. 4.

Needs Unanimity

PORT ALBERNI — J. E. Brown, inspector of municipalities, has stated he will act as mediator in the dispute between councillors and Mayor Mabel Anderson only if council is "reasonably unanimous" in seeking his help.

He said Wednesday "obviously unless there is a degree of unanimity on council that I be asked to attend, my role as a mediator couldn't serve any useful purpose."

NO MONEY IN THIS APPEAL

Wanted: A Little Kindness

Yuletide cheer is pretty general at Christmas, touching rich and poor alike.

But sometimes it never reaches the lonely and forgotten in our mental hospitals.

"Put a gift for a mental patient on your Christmas shopping list," is the appeal this year by Victoria branch of the Canadian Mental Health Association.

This appeal isn't for money, but for kindness from one human being to another.

"We want gifts bought by the donor," said branch president Harvey Mickleson. "The whole motive of this project is to show the sick that someone who is well cares about him, wants him to recover."

Last year, many mental patients never received any gift at Christmas—forsaken by relatives, friends and society.

"This year lets show how deeply we care for these victims of mental illness," said Mr. Mickleson.

Gifts can range from pipes to articles of clothing to lipstick. They should be bought for adults. CMHA workers will sort them out and ensure the right gift goes to the right patient.

Victorians can phone CMHA's local branch at EV 5-8711 to get ideas for suitable gifts.

The gifts can be sent to the branch's office at 1551 Oak Bay Avenue.

New-Born Baby Pulled From Fire

MONTREAL (CP)—A new-born baby, abandoned to be burned in an apartment-block incinerator, was rescued from the flames Friday by the apartment janitor.

The baby boy was taken to hospital with burns over 40 per cent of his body.

His condition was serious. The boy had been wrapped in old rags and brown paper and left in the incinerator. He was less than 24 hours old.

Castro Francisco, building janitor, told police he lit the trash in the incinerator. Suddenly he heard a baby's cry and saw a tiny hand stretched out of the bundle of rags and paper.

He smothered the fire and pulled the crying baby out.

Honduras Wins Boundary Dispute

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras (AP)—Fireworks, shots, ringing bells, sirens and shouts greeted the news Friday that the World Court at The Hague had ruled in favor of this nation in its 54-year-old boundary dispute with Nicaragua.

President Ramon Villeda Morales declared a national holiday.

Crowds flocked to the Roman Catholic cathedral for a thanksgiving service.

The area in dispute is called Mosquitia. It is a wedge-shaped, sparsely populated region extending 150 miles along the Caribbean coast and 175 miles inland.

Around the World

By Art Buchwald

PARIS HAIRCUT BIG JOB

PARIS—To get a haircut in Paris used to be a very ordinary experience. You went into a barber shop, grabbed a copy of "La Vie Parisienne," sat in a chair and in a half-hour you were on the street again slightly colder and 75 cents poorer.

Buchwald

But in recent years Paris barber shops have been getting fancier and fancier, and now if you want to get a haircut you have to apply for an appointment days in advance, and some barbers will only take you if you've been recommended by Yul Brynner.

By far the fanciest shearing establishment in Paris is a plush three-storied building on the Avenue Matignon called Defosse. Here some of the best heads in France, including those of Jean Cocteau, Marcel Achard, Arturo Lopez, Antenor Patino and Gen. Salan are clipped by some of the best hands in the country.

Although Defosse has been open for seven months we were very fortunate, by applying five months ago, in getting an appointment. In the meantime, our wife trimmed our hair, so it wouldn't get too long.

★ ★ ★

Well, the big day arrived and we were so excited we didn't know what to wear. We were afraid to call Defosse and ask them in fear they would cancel our appointment. So we took a chance and wore a dark suit with a tie from the Traveller's Club, which we had bought at the Flea Market.

It turned out to be just the right thing and the doorman smiled as he opened the door and let us in.

A beautiful girl was sitting behind a large desk in the lobby, with a large appointment book in front of her — the same kind that Gen. de Gaulle's secretary uses at the Elysee Palace.

"Do you have a rendezvous?" she asked.

"Yes" we said. "I made one five months ago."

She looked up her records. "Ah yes. You asked for Michel. Unfortunately he was already booked up and we told you that you could have Dominique. That's correct?"

"That's right," we said. "You can't win 'em all."

The receptionist nodded to the doorman, who showed us into the main cutting room.

The men's hairdressing quarters in Defosse consists of a circular room with 15 chairs. But there were only seven barbers working there. This was puzzling until it was explained to us later.

First a uniformed attendant took our coat. Then we were greeted by a pretty blonde girl in a white smock who led us to one of the leather chairs.

★ ★ ★

"Where's Dominique?" we asked trying to make conversation.

"You're not ready for Dominique yet," she said.

"Yes I am," we said.

"Well he's not ready for you."

Then she made us get into a sky-blue gown which she tied carefully around us. She followed this by adding a matching blue bib around our neck. Then she dusted some powder around us, adjusted the chair, and finally we were ready for Dominique.

He came over and studied our head carefully from all angles. He pursed his lips several times, shrugged once, and at last picked up his instruments. Slowly and carefully Dominique clipped each hair. Occasionally he picked up a new comb and a new pair of scissors. Twice he called for talcum powder. In 30 minutes he had made a complete 360-degree turn around our head.

Then the blonde came back and Dominique left us.

★ ★ ★

We discovered at least why there were only seven barbers for 15 chairs. Each barber works on two customers at one time. While Dominique was cutting our hair, his blonde assistant was shampooing his other client, who turned out to be Guy Schoeller, Francoise Sagan's ex-husband.

We only mention it to show you what type of people you can share a barber with at Defosse.

While Dominique worked over M. Schoeller for a second time, the blonde shampooed our curly locks with her lovely hands and we were starting to realize what it meant to be a client of the Defosse Salon.

Unfortunately Dominique came back again and the blonde went to dry M. Schoeller's hair. This time Dominique used a razor, but we were so anxious to get the blonde back we hardly noticed.

★ ★ ★

She returned again to part our hair under Dominique's supervision. Dominique made the final touches, but the last thing we remember was the blonde powdering the back of our neck.

It only took an hour but we enjoyed every minute of it, and we have already made another appointment to come back in five months.

When we went home that night our wife said: "You don't look any different."

It was one of those cases where what a wife doesn't know won't hurt her.

Birds Vs. Planes

BOSTON (AP)—Officials at Logan International Airport looked forward today to federal funds to help them to victory in the battle of the planes vs. the birds.

They said they had been notified that the Federal Aviation Agency is transferring $100,000 to the fish and wildlife service to combat the bird problem at east coast airports.

Federal Aviation Agency administrator Elwood Quesada has said he believes a flock of hundreds of birds infested at Logan airport by the engines of an Eastern Airlines Electra plane caused it to crash Oct. 4 with a loss of 62 lives among the 72 aboard.

Last Thursday another Eastern Airlines plane — a jet DC-8B—came to a screeching halt on a runway at Logan after plowing through a big flock of sandpipers.

Because of the two incidents, officials at Logan set up a roving radio-equipped shotgun patrol which makes hourly runs along runways firing at flocks of starlings and sandpipers.

Other units plowed up nesting areas and burned marsh grasses to destroy birds' eggs. In addition, wooden replicas of owls were scattered about in scare-crow fashion.

Strike Agreement

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Tentative agreement in the Los Angeles transit strike, which tied up bus and trolley transportation in the city for four days, was announced after an eight-hour session that stretched into the early morning hours today.

Negotiators for the Metropolitan Transit Authority and 900 striking mechanics said a new 27-month contract had been approved, subject to ratification by individual union members.

State conciliators said terms of the pact would not be made public until acted on by the union membership at a meeting Sunday.

China Cuts Red Tape

SAN FRANCISCO—The Republic of China has done away with visas for tourists spending less than 72 hours in that country, it has been announced.

The new move to cut red tape for the pleasure traveler was effective November 1, according to C. K. Tseng, western sales manager for Civil Air Transport, whose Burbank, Calif., office also serves as U.S. headquarters for the Taiwan Visitors Association.

Commenting on the announcement, F. Marvin Plake, executive director of the Pacific Area Travel Association, said, "I am delighted to see this step in the right direction by the government of Taiwan. One of the chief goals of PATA is to encourage Pacific governments to cut down on frontier formalities that still face the tourist, eventually eliminating visas and other cumbersome forms altogether."

100 GAMBLERS NABBED IN NATION-WIDE RAIDS

WASHINGTON (AP)—At exactly 3.15 p.m. (EST) Friday, in 54 cities across the country, federal tax agents raided more than 100 gambling joints.

The results: more than 100 arrests, and at least $65,000 and eight cars confiscated.

What the tax agents were after were those who had not bought the required $50 gamblers' tax stamp, or the $250 stamp required for coin-operated gaming machines.

Europe's Finest Cuisine Found In Spain, Denmark, Not France

By JAMES BACON

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Everybody who returns from Europe is an expert on food. But who is better qualified than someone who gained 10 pounds in four weeks of continental gluttony?

This expert's opinions:

Best food in Europe — Denmark and Spain.

Worst—Paris.

That last may be culinary heresy but note I don't condemn French cooking. The provinces surpass Paris.

A North American cannot get a decent breakfast in Paris. What they do to bacon and eggs is unbelievable.

I askoed my waiter why.

"Monsieur," he replied, "we have no respect for breakfast. A Frenchman drinks a cup of coffee and eats a piece of cheese. Midday and night, ah, that's when the French eat."

CORN FLAKES

After that, I ordered corn flakes. No one can louse up corn flakes.

My other Paris meals were in bistros touted by Parisians. I found some poor meals, some mediocre and none outstanding.

Not so in Denmark or Spain. The best seafood dinner I've ever had was in Copenhagen. Ever hear of a fish called plaice? It's of the flounder family and caught in the cold Scandinavian waters.

My Copenhagen fish house fluffily French fried this white fish, topped it with a curry sauce and served plain buttered spaghetti on the side.

The sluice was akvavit—Scandinavian schnapps — and Danish draft beer.

BIG STEAK

In Spain I ate the biggest and best steak I've ever had, top sirloin 18 inches long and nearly four inches thick, charcoal broiled. Cost: $2.50.

In contrast, my wife and I ate lunch in Paris at a famous cafe surrounded by straving artists. Price: $18.

Spain and Ireland are the two best tourist bargains in Europe. In County Wicklow, I ate salmon trout caught only a few hours earlier. The meal—from soup to dessert—in the town's swankiest resort cost little over a dollar. Irish ice cream is the best I've eaten since my mother used to make the home-made variety in a freezer every Sunday.

ENGLAND

England, long berated for its food, came up with some delicious meals, especially breakfast. The English themselves may like kippers for breakfast but they know how to prepare bacon and eggs.

Italian food lived up to its billing, as always. In Santa Margharita on the French Rivera, I had lasagna with an herb sauce—not too far removed from creamed spinach—and it was delicious. The Italian white wine were the best I tasted in Europe.

'PUPPET OF U.S.' SAY REDS

CHINESE REDS ADMIT KILLING 25 MILLIONS

MONTREAL (CP) — Fu-sun Chu, minister of the Nationalist Chinese embassy in Ottawa, says the Chinese Communists have admitted killing more than 25,000,000 persons since 1949 to institue reforms in Red China.

He told the McGill International Students' Association Friday that the Communist Chinese have also admitted herding another 30,000,000 persons into slave labor camps.

"These figures are not my figures," he said. "They are taken from official Communist publications."

He said he "does not have the slightest doubt" that a revolt against the Communist regime will take place in Red China.

CABINET POST?

President-elect Kennedy, according to the New York Times "is giving serious consideration" to the appointment of his younger brother, Robert (above) as attorney-general.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP)—The Soviet Union, launching a determined effort today to prevent the UN General Assembly from seating a Congolese delegation headed by President Joseph Kasavubu, called the delegation an obedient puppet of the United States.

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian Zorin took the floor in the assembly to "characterize this as a political manoeuvre of the United States and its NATO allies designed to resolve this question in an improper manner, thus exerting an influence on the domestic political developments in the Congo in the interests of the colonizers."

Zorin accused the U.S. of leading a Western campaign against deposed premier Patrice Lumumba, whom he called the legitimate representative of the Congo.

KASAVUBU ABSENT

Kasavubu himself was not present during the debate, although he had been at UN headquarters earlier in the day for a private talk with Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold.

The specific proposal before the Assembly was a resolution drafted by the credentials committee recommending the seating of the Kasavubu delegation.

Guinea, a backer of Lumumba for the UN seat, proposed an amendment late Friday to the resolution to seat Kasavbu. It would reverse the committee's recommendation by calling on the Assembly to defer action on Kasavubu's application.

Western diplomats appeared confident they could block the delaying move and put through the original proposal to seat Kasavubu.

Their optimism was based on the defeat Ghana suffered Friday when she tried to get the Assembly to adjourn the Congo debate until an Asian-African conciliation commission tries to end the feud between Kasavubu and Lumumba.

'Cautious' Bulletin Issued on Churchill

LONDON (CP)—Sir Winston Churchill's doctors, although satisfied that "everything is all right," issued a cautious medical bulletin today saying the old statesman has less pain from his injured back but passed an uncomfortable night.

The language of the bulletin was less reassuring than the earlier comment of Sir Winston's personal physician, Lord Moran, or the word from informants on Churchill's recuperation from a fall in which he broke a small bone in his back.

The official bulletin said: "Sir Winston did not have a very good night but the pain from his injury is less."

Lord Moran told reporters as he emerged from Churchill's House:

"Everything is all right."

RED WALLS HOLD SECRET OF SUMMIT

MOSCOW (AP)—The Kremlin walls today hid the results of the Communist summit meeting, including even whether it is over.

Reports from usually authoritative sources said that communism's leaders had finished their work and all that was left was the final polishing of a communique expected to be issued next week.

Later, other sources said the conferees still were on the job.

The conference began Nov. 9.

Police said five persons, including one girl, were killed and 30 were injured. Some climbers were still listed as missing.

ROCKET-RATTLING STOPS

Castro Muted By K's Hints

HAVANA (AP)—The muting of Fidel Castro's rocket-rattling warnings to the United States heightened speculation here today that Moscow has advised him to take a more moderate course in his dealings with Washington.

The Kremlin's hand may be behind the lessening of attacks in the government press against president-elect John Kennedy—in contrast with the increased tempo against President Eisenhower and Vice-President Richard Nixon—possibly with a view to keeping a path open to later conciliatory approaches.

President Eisenhower's order for U.S. Navy ships and planes to set up anti-invasion patrols off Guatemala and Nicaragua, scenes of unsuccessful revolts in the last week, set off a chain furore. It included both critical and approving comment in Latin America on the naval action and a Cuban letter of protest to the United Nations.

Guatemalan President Miguel Ydigoras also said he favored a Korean-type police action by the Organization of American States against Cuba, and both Guatemala and Nicaragua were reported considering invoking the hemisphere's 1947 Rio de Janeiro treaty of mutual assistance.

RCMP HUNT SMALL CAR IN HIT-RUN

A small dark-colored car is hunted by Colwood RCMP after a hit-run accident that broke a Saanich man's leg outside Six Mile House Friday midnight.

William J. Clayton, 50, of 3231 Harriet, is in good condition at Royal Jubilee Hospital.

There may be demage to the front of the auto, probably on the left side, police said.

Witnesses told police the car, headed west toward Colwood as it approached Parsons Bridge, crossed to the south side of the Island Highway and Clayton thrust his wife Helen out of the way, leaving him no chance to jump aside himself.

The man and his wife were crossing the highway at the time.

Simple Rites Mark Clark Gable Funeral

GLENDALE, Calif. (AP)—Two hundred mourners filed into the Church of the Recessional today where Clark Gable's coffin lay amid banks of floral sprays.

Three hundred spectators stood a considerable distance from the church, and there were no displays of fan adulation that have marred other Hollywood funerals.

An American flag stood at the head of the rose-covered coffin and a squad of steel-helmeted airmen stood at attention outside the church, honoring Gable's service during the Second World War.

The mourners who came to the hilltop church recalled Gable's long film career.

There was white-haired Spencer Tracy, who co-starred with Gable in Boom Town, Test Pilot and other films; Robert Taylor and James Stewart, other leading men; Norma Shearer, Gable's co-star in Idiot's Delight; Frank Capra, who directed him to an Oscar in It Happened One Night; and Van Johnson, Robert Stack, Keenan Wynn, Roy Rogers, Dale Evans, George Murphy and John Huston.

SHORT AND QUIET

The services were conducted by air force Chaplain Johnson E. West. According to Episcopal (Anglican) tradition, there was no eulogy.

The widow, Kay Williams Gable, arrived early with her two children by a previous marriage, Joan, nine, and Benker, 11.

The ceremony was short and quiet, in accordance with Gable's wishes.

"I don't want to be a freak," he had told friends before his death.

Gable's body will rest beside that of his third wife, Carole Lombard.

Gable died last Wednesday night at 59 after suffering a coronary thrombosis 10 days earlier.

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP)—Four persons were injured, two fatally, today when their car smashed into a cement island on the Lougheed Highway then careened into a lamppost. Dead are Robert A. Embley, 20, and Edward Allan Lee, 20, who died in hospital. (See page 24.)

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — Thomas Gibbons, 69, one-time contender for the heavyweight boxing championship and a former sheriff, died in his sleep today.

No Indication Of Any Progress

MONTREAL (CP)—Three cabinet ministers met top union and management officials today in a dramatic attempt to head off a nation-wide rail strike scheduled for Saturday, Dec. 3.

All participants in the closed meetings were carefully noncommittal when they ended, but it was apparent from their grim faces that little had been accomplished.

Labor Minister Starr, who led the three-man delegation from Ottawa, said as he headed for a telephone to call Prime Minister Diefenbaker after the meetings ended that they were conducted in a "cordial" atmosphere and were "useful".

He said an official statement on the talks would have to wait until there was some "reaction".

SHORT MEETING

He, Transport Minister Balcer and Postmaster-General Hamilton were to return to Ottawa this weekend and no further meetings were scheduled.

The cabinet ministers first met Frank Hall, chief negotiator for the 111,000 non-operating employees who have called the strike, and 11 other union leaders, for less than an hour.

Mr. Hall, to meet the union's negotiating committee Monday, had no comment.

The cabinet ministers' talks with Donald Gordon, CNR president, and N. R. Crump, CPR head, lasted more than two hours but apparently made no headway.

The rail chiefs declined to answer any questions.

LITTLE ADVANCE

Mr. Starr and his cabinet cohorts had little more to add to their comments after the meeting with the union leaders.

It was apparent before the meetings that little real advance could be made.

Mr. Hall said he was not empowered to accept any proposals for settling the dispute other than the 14-cents-an-hour increase which a conciliation board has recommended for the non-ops.

The cabinet ministers indicated they had come principally to study the situation and report back to the prime minister.

BLUE BOMBERS LEAD AT HALF IN GRID FINAL

WINNIPEG—Continuing to play the same tough, defensive football that marked their two earlier battles Winnipeg Blue Bombers led Edmonton Eskimos 1-0 at halftime today in the third and deciding clash of their western Canada football final.

Winner of today's game will meet the eastern Canada champions in the Grey Cup clash at Vancouver a week today.

In the first two games of the series Winnipeg took the opener 22-16 and the Eskimos the second 10-5.

Only score in the first half today came in the second quarter when Charlie Shepherd kicked to touch for a single.

East Wins Junior Football Crown

Traffic Trouble Tips

TIMES INVITES QUERIES

By AB KENT

Broken any traffic laws lately, or were you inconsiderate of other people using the streets?

Of course—if you are an average person.

Maybe you have never been to court, but the chances are you break a rule, annoy a pedestrian or other driver, perhaps quite unconsciously, every time you go out.

It has even been snidely suggested that Victoria drivers are worse than in other larger cities. Whether that is true, or just a canard, the fact is that the continual increase in number of cars travelling the enclosed Victoria area presents a mounting problem.

To help you, the average citizen and non-professional motorist, the Times starts today a daily column dealing with common traffic problems, because traffic is everyone's problem, particularly with winter and its poor travel conditions and the hustle and bustle of the holiday season in the offing.

To gain the widest possible range of situations, we invite readers to send us any problems they have encountered as motorists or pedestrians.

We will deal with crosswalk courtesy, school zones, jay-walking, slow driving, traffic lights and any other matters relating to the movement of foot and vehicular traffic.

The column will try, with co-operation of Victoria police departments, to answer questions and increase public knowledge of traffic laws.

"This has long been needed," Deputy City Police Chief Harry Mercer said. "We think it is a fine idea."

A traffic division spokesman said:

"I am appalled at the number of people who walk through the traffic bureau door and pay tickets for violations committed in complete ignorance of the law,

"Ignorance of the law, of course, is no excuse.

"This column is beamed in the right direction as an educational outlet, to disseminate knowledge of our traffic laws."

And here's a little tip to motorists to start things off: Have you checked your driver's licence expiry date lately?

Dozens of people right here in Victoria are fined regularly for driving without a licence, usually because they have forgotten to renew on or before their birthdays every five years.

The problem will diminish gradually because this year the motor-vehicles bureau began issuing reminders as individual expiry dates approach, but the system will need five years to catch up with all licence holders.

Mills Invited To ABC Meet

By MICHAEL ROSE

Jim Mills says the turning point in his bowling life came 18 months ago.

Rolling in a tournament at Vancouver, Wash., Jim suddenly realized he had overcome a few major faults and was spilling pins with a new consistency.

The 22-year-old kegler's swing was still in the groove during the recent B.C. tenpin championships at Vancouver and his efforts established him as one of the top maple maulers in the province.

Trundling with the Dickie and Shaver Realty squad, Mills placed high in singles, doubles and team competitions and emerged as the tourney's all-events king.

He posted 598 in the team event, bowled 628 in the doubles and then jumped to 676, with a 276 game, in the singles event. All were scratch scores.

The 276 was high tournament single.

His team wound up ninth out of 12 teams in the money and Jim teamed with Jimmy John to grab eighth spot in the doubles with 1,259.

Another Victoria duo, Jack Lim and Gil Wong, finished seventh with 1,267.

In the singles, Mills finished second behind Vancouver's Gordon Penford.

As a result of his fine performance Mills has been invited to attend the ABC 1961 championships in Cobo Hall, Detriot. The tournament will be on an elimination-qualification basis for all but top-seeded bowlers.

Some Aurora notes:

Midge Bouch gets a handsome badge from the WIVC for rolling an all-spare game.

The James Island group broke a lane record and became the first team to go over 1,000 with a 1,001 in the Tuesday senior league.

The evening total was 867, 954 and 1,001 for 2,822 (another record) and anchor man Andy Nelson had 645, (244, 209) for a new individual Aurora mark.

Others on the team were: Cec Dixon 551 (224), Walter Sidwell 515 (201), John Roper 562 (220), and Tom Nute 549 (213).

Southpaw Anne Goodman rolled to lane record with 616 (186, 212, 218). Marg Cooper registered the previous high of 603.

Still on the subject of tenpins we find Jack Goldie the winner of $55 for bowling 255 in Gibson's jackpot event.

John Newton was high man at the lanes with 606 (225).

* * *

Getting down to five pinners, it is apparent that the new association executive is not gathering moss.

Planned for next week is a booster tournament that requires little effort to enter. Bowlers merely register for the tourney on their regular bowling nights and play in their usual leagues.

Entry fee is $1 per team and league scores will count in the tournament. The tournament is not restricted to association members.

Object of the booster event is to educate teams to tournament play and to encourage membership in the association. It will last Monday through Sunday.

Membership, by the way, now stands at about 250.

* * *

At Gibson's Doug Lowe was high with 845 (307) followed by: Bill DeFrame 810 (314), Nels Martin 809 (344), W. Wood 805 (308), Jack Goldie 791 (322), Stan Gallop 775 (324), N. Cockburn 758 (369), B. Jones 753 (340).

Lynn Tupper topped girls in the Victoria High School annual marathon and Russell Heughan was best boy.

Victoria all-stars won a challenge match against a University of B.C. team and Jack Lapp took the $25 jackpot with a 382 single.

Pete Vieweg, a 15-year-old Esquimalt Junior High School student showed a peck of promise this week at Esquimalt Bowladrome by rolling 308, 279 and 240 for a very commendable total of 827.

A former pin-boy, Pete is not new to the game but is just starting regular league play.

Proprietor Bert Nelson opened his purse strings and unloaded $129.50 to Reg Waggoner who broke the 350 mark in open play with a 376, after depositing 50 cents in the pot.

In attendance was Emil Liska who must be at the nail-biting stage by this time.

During the week, having complied with contest rules, he rolled 341 and 348.

Lead Could Evaporate If Tobin's Arm Is Hot

TORONTO (CP)—Toronto Argonauts, battered and bruised as never before this season, pin their hopes Sunday on the great passing arm of quarterback Tobin Rote to carry them farther along the comeback trail in what has been their best year since 1952.

Everything for them now practically comes down to what kind of day the former National Football League star has as Argos go into the second game of the Big Four football final against Ottawa Rough Riders.

The way it looks, going on the old pro's past history, Ottawa's 12-point lead from its 33-21 win in last Saturday's opening game could rapidly disappear if the big Texan gets good protection and has one of his better days.

The Sunday game, second of a two-game, total-points series, will be played at 10.30 a.m. PST and will be nationally televised.

In event of a tie on the round after regulation time, two 10-minute halves will be played. If Riders and Argos are still tied after that, the Big Four football championship and the eastern berth in the Grey Cup final will go to Toronto on the strength of their first-place finish.

LEG INJURIES

Riders appeared in good physical shape with the possible exceptions of fullback Dave Thelen, rushing champion of the Big Four for the last two seasons, and end Bill Sowalski, who operates as a linebacker as well. Both have leg injuries.

Argos, who this season finished in first place over the regular schedule after missing the playoffs in the last three years, aren't in the best of shape. But the weather and the condition of the field, which earlier in the week appeared possibly unsuited for their vaunted passing attack, now are not expected to have any important bearing on the outcome.

The weatherman has forecast a fine day—cloudy skies, little or no precipitation, light winds and a temperature between 45 and 50 degrees. He did, however, admit the possibility of a few light showers earlier in the day.

The only man definitely out for Argos is defensive halfback Bob Dahlinger, who suffered a torn knee cartlidge in the bruising opening game.

Halfback Dick Shatto will play despite a painful chest injury. Defensive halfbacks Stan Wallace and Jim Rountree, the other key men on the injury list, are reported ready but like Shatto are far from being 100 per cent fit.

DON SAYS HE WON'T BE THE GOAT

BOSTON (AP) — Boston Bruins' goaltender Don Simmons says he is quitting hockey.

Simmons, 29, told general manager Lynn Patrick he was through after the Bruins called up Bruce Gamble from Providence of the American Hockey League to take over netminding chores. "I won't go to Providence," Simmons said.

Patrick said Simmons' demotion to Providence was not a permanent move, but added that a change in goaltenders sometimes helps pull a club out of a slump. Boston has had a dismal season so far, and is only one point out of the National Hockey League cellar.

"They're trying to make me the goat," Simmons said.

Kanhai Bats For 252 Runs

MELBOURNE (Reuters) — A magnificent 252 in 6½ hours by Pohan Kanahai today helped the West Indies touring side to a commanding 375-run first innings lead over Victoria on the second day of their four-day cricket match here.

Kanhai, with skipper Frank Worrell and opener Conrad Hunte—each with 82 attractive runs to his credit—built the tourists' overnight 122 for one into a massive 493.

NUMBER OF APPLICANTS

More Time Needed To Consider Move

NEW YORK (AP) — The American League, undecided about what action to take concerning the new Los Angeles franchise, Friday recessed until Tuesday after deliberating almost eight hours.

"We have a number of applicants for the Los Angeles franchise," said league president Joe Cronin. "We will consider all of them in the meanwhile.

"We met with commissioner Ford Frick and had an agreeable meeting. Del Webb (co-owner of New York Yankees and a representative of the American League) is on his way now to Los Angeles to discuss the situation with Walter O'Malley.

"We told the commissioner we would be glad to sit down with O'Malley (Los Angeles Dodgers' owner) to talk over matters pertaining to an American League club playing in the Los Angeles Coliseum."

INDEMNITIES DUE

It has been Frick's stand that indemnities would be due O'Malley from any American League team that moves into Los Angeles.

Cronin said that because of the uncertainty of the Los Angeles situation, the draft session to select players for the new Los Angeles and Washington franchises has been put off until Nov. 25.

Cronin said further bids for the Los Angeles franchise will be heard Tuesday when the meeting resumes.

Oak Bay Splashers Reach Nine Finals

VANCOUVER (CP) — Mary Stewart of Vancouver's Kitsilano High School broke meet records in all her three events Friday night at the B.C. high school swimming championships and they were all records which she had set herself.

The 14-year-old grade 10 student set new marks in the 50-yard freestyle, the 100-yard freestyle and the 50-yard butterfly in the elimination events.

Miss Stewart's times in the eliminations were (old records bracketed): 50-yard freestyle, 26.6 seconds (26.7); 50-yard butterfly 29.8 (30.6); and 100-yard freestyle, 1.00.1 (1.01.7).

Swimmers from Victoria's Oak Bay High school made their way into nine of today's final events.

Doug MacFarlane entered the 50-yard butterfly with a time of 40.6; Robin Olson, 50-yard freestyle, 32.5; Dave MacFarlane, 50-yard breaststroke 26.7; Wendy Lovett, 50-yard backstroke, 36.8; Bob Panton 50-yard butterfly, 31.5.

The Oak Bay teams entered both boys and girls 200-yard medley and 200-yard freestyle relays.

Three other records were set, all by Vancouver girls.

Ann Harvey of Magee did the 50-yard backstroke in 32.4, one second faster than the mark she set last year. Pam Wilson of Vincent Massey did the 50-yard breaststroke in 36.1, two-tenths of a second less than the time set last year by Pat Hoffman of Ocean Falls.

The Lord Byng 200-yard medley team set a new mark of 2.17.1, compared with the old record of 2.20.8 held by Kitsilano.

Game Club Switches Venue of Meetings

Members of the Victoria Fish and Game Protective Association are switching the site of meetings for the remainder of the winter season.

Starting with Monday night's general meeting, the sessions will be held at HMCS Naden auditorium. Activity gets under way at 8.

The VFGPA fishing chapter will meet at the Naden auditorium Monday, Nov. 28.

N.Y. Editor Resigns Post

NEW YORK (UPI)—Robert M. White II, president and editor of the New York Herald Tribune, has resigned and Ambassador John Hay Whitney will take over the duties of president and publisher soon, it was announced Thursday.

Whitney said in a statement that White "Has informed me of his desire to resign those offices, and his resignation has been regretfully accepted, effective when I return."

Whitney also said that when he retires from the court of St. James' in London, he will make management of the newspaper his primary interest.

"Upon my return, I will become president and publisher, assuming many of the duties that have been handled so well for me since July, 1959, by Robert M. White II, president and editor," Whitney said.

Ford Asks British Approval to Buy Subsidiary Stock

LONDON (Reuters) — The Ford Motor Company of Detroit has formally applied for British government permission to buy all outstanding shares in its British subsidiary, it was announced Friday.

The treasury office announcement said the request was being studied.

The American Ford Company now owns 54.6 per cent of the common stock of British Ford and wants to buy the remaining British-owned shares.

Political sources said it appeared certain treasury chief Selwyn Lloyd will approve the deal, but that he might demand assurances there would be no retrenchment in production at British Ford plants.

Brokers, Investors Await News Of Ottawa Plans on Loan Refund

By GORDON BELL

Times Business Editor

Bell

OTTAWA has set Nov. 28 as the date on which federal government plans will be announced for refunding of the $600 million loan which matures Dec. 15.

Until government plans are known the uncertainty and confusion plaguing the stock and bond markets are likely to continue.

It's not only the bond dealers who are confused by the market. The large institutional investors are sitting tight as well, sadly lacking in confidence.

What will the government's pre-Christmas "baby budget" reveal about government spending? Taking the Throne Speech at face value there is little real indication of any spending splurge in the offing.

Nothing was said about more federal money going into housing, merely changes in mortgage terms.

CMHC loans covering up to two-thirds the cost of projects to correct community water pollution problems will not likely boil down to much in the long run since not many communities will be able to take advantage of the offer.

Pension increases will be announced but the over-all total is not likely to be high and the same is largely true of most of the other plans which might have price tags on them.

The picture could, of course, change when the problem of unemployment hits the floor of the House. Public sentiment could persuade the government some massive spending is necessary to provide jobs. But as things stand now there is no indication of a heavy spending program in the works for the federal government.

G. K. Henkinson, president of Pacific Chrysler Products Ltd. of Vancouver and Victoria, has denied the rumor that Chrysler is going to drop its Simca line.

Tow of the Simca models, the "Elysee" and the "Grande Large," are on sale at price reductions of $502 and $634 respectively on the regular list price in what Mr. Henkinson describes as a "genuine promotion designed to make the public better acquainted with the Simca line."

Pacific Chrysler can offer this deal to the public, Mr. Henkinson said, because of the purchasing power of a large firm.

Chrysler of Canada sold Pacific Chrysler a large consignment of Simcas with a reduction in price allowed for a volume sale. This reduction, says Mr. Henkinson, is being passed on to the public.

So far as Chrysler dropping the Simca line is concerned, Mr. Henkinson said, the same cars now being offered at reduced prices, along with the other Simca models, will be on sale in the firm's showrooms at regular prices next January or February and in the suceeding months.

The Vancouver grain handlers' strike may shortly cut into Canada's export trade.

Japan, second largest market for Canadian wheat and flx for the past several years, is reportedly receiving offers of flaxseed from the Argentine at prices which nearly match Canadian.

It is feared in the trade that because of the strike Japan may start buying in Argentina. Worst feature is that historically it has been shown that lost grain export shipments are never recovered. Whatver wheat or other grain sales are lost because of delivery failures can only add to present surpluses.

Another cause for concern in the important Japanese wheat market is the recent subsidy granted by the U.S. for trial exports of hard wheat to Japan.

Canada's Foreign Debt 'Frightening'

LONDON (CP)—The Times says Canada's load of foreign debt now is "almost frightening."

The newspaper's financial editor discusses measures outlined Thursday in the speech from the throne in the Canadian Parliament to encourage greater Canadian participation in the ownership and control of Canadian industry and resources.

"When one looks at the figures . . .," says The Times, "one wonders whether or not it is not already too late.

"Not only is a large slice of Canadian industry under foreign control, but the weight of foreign debt has mounted year by year."

The newspaper quotes an "impressive" speech by James Coyne, governor of the Bank of Canada, in the same vein, and adds: "Yet it was precisely on this issue—on the need to curb evcessive foreign influences—that the present Canadian government received such remarkable support when it first came to office."

Special Presentation Made to Local Firm

Twenty-five years ago, New Method, pioneer Victoria Cleaning and Laundry Company, became one of the first in Canada to adopt the famous Sanitone Cleaning system. Today, over 2,000 licensees all over North America, Australia and New Zealand use this nationally recognized, better method of clothes care.

To mark the occasion, a 25-year plaque was recently presented to Mr. H. R. Stephen, right, New Method Vice-President, by Mr. L. E. Francis, Advertising Director of Emery Industries, producers of Sanitone. The plaque reads: "Inasmuch as New Method Laundries has spared no effort to improve constantly the quality of the services it offers by strict adherence to ethical standards, by demanding of is employees the highest degree of professional competence and by its foresight in modernizing plant facilities, this award is bestowed to commemorate its 25th year as a Sanitone Licensee." The handsome plaque may soon be viewed at New Method's call locations on View Street and in the Shelbourne Plaza. Recently Sanitone received national recognition when it was chosen by Warren K. Cook, makers of fine clothes for Canadians, as the system recommended for the care of their suits.

MAYOR HOPEFUL

Early Start To Stop Rot

Victoria should be able to start an urban renewal program next year, Mayor Percy Scurrah told the citizens' "Stop the Rot" conference at the Empress Hotel Friday.

He said the area around Douglas and Hillside, including the Roundabout, would most likely call for redevelopment.

"We are fortunate in that the problem of rundown areas in Victoria is of manageable size," the mayor said. "If we start now, we may be able to turn the city over to our children, saying 'Here it is, with no slums and no blighted areas'."

About 150 men and women attended the one-day conference sponsored by the Capital Region Branch of the Community Planning Association of Canada, with the co-operation of the Victoria Advisory Planning Commission, the Community Welfare Council and the Chamber of Commerce.

Mayor Scurrah said the Capital Region Planning Board is making good progress with its $25,000 survey of urban renewal requirements in the Victoria area. (Three-quarters of the cost is contributed by the federal government).

"There is need for increased federal assistance for urban renewal," he continued, adding that this was discussed at the recent meeting of mayors and municipalities in Ottawa.

"I am glad that the federal budget contained some of the suggestions that were made at that meeting, especially the one about urban renewal. We simply cannot allow large sections of our cities to fall into decay.

"We hope that this conference will help to create a better public understanding of the problem, for we are going to need that understanding."

Stanley Pickett, assistant director of urban renewal and public housing for the Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation, said the time for redevelopment of blighted areas is "right now."

MAJOR REPAIR

He said the 1951 census showed there were more than 1,600 houses in need of major repair in metropolitan Victoria and more than 1,300 were overcrowded.

"In my opinion, the census of 1961 will reveal little significant improvement in the condition of our urban housing, or the circumstances under which thousands of Canadian families are living."

Mr. Pickett said surveys show that municipal costs are usually higher in slum areas. Blighted areas contribute six cents in every dollar of tax revenue, yet at the same time they swallow up 45 cents of the municipal expenditure dollar.

"When blight sets in, real estate taxes in the area decline," Mr. Pickett continued. "Business re-locates in other parts of the city, or, worse still, in other communities. And the cost of city services increases.

"Therefore, redevelopment is in your interests because blight is felt where it hurts most—in the pocket book."

Citizens Prescribe 'Beauty Treatment'

Downtown Victoria should be stripped of commercial signs and "ugly street furniture," a woman shopper told the one-day "Stop the Rot" conference in the Empress Hotel Friday.

"We have the prestige—why don't we live up to it?" asked Mrs. Constance Shaw, giving the shopper's viewpoint during a panel discussion on "Who Cares About Downtown?"

Mrs. Shaw made such an impression on the conference that an anonymous questioner asked, in writing, if she could be nominated as an alderman.

She contributed a number of suggestions to the conference which were received with enthusiastic applause. Among them were:

Adequate parking facilities for shoppers so that they can "concentrate on their shopping without worrying about parking meters."

Removal of overhead cables and billboards from downtown streets.

Establishment of nurseries in downtown stores for mothers with small children—perhaps even store kennels for people with dogs.

Pleasant airy restaurants and sidewalk cafes.

Chairs in stores for older shoppers who "get tired walking from one counter to another."

TAX RELIEF

Taxation relief for downtown property owners who improve the appearance of their premises.

Installation of concrete shelters under new city stores to provide protection from radiation in the event of war.

More space between downtown buildings.

Mrs. Shaw did not agree that the new shopping centres outside the city are a threat to downtown stores.

"The discriminating shopper—especially the woman—wants to choose from the widest possible selection of goods. For instance, a woman would not go to a suburban shopping centre to choose a hat.

"If the downtown stores are afraid of competition from the suburban centres they should open branches in them."

Emphasizing the importance of pleasing the woman shopper, Mrs. Shaw said:

"It is the man who earns the money, but it is the woman who spends it."

Gordon Whitnall, leading Los Angeles planning consultant, summed up the one-day conference by saying:

"You give me the impression you intend to do something about cleaning up your blighted, run-down areas."

"Everything that man makes begins to deteriorate the moment it is finished, with the possible exception of liquor and cheese, and buildings and their environments are no exception.

"Where decay has set in, surgery may be necessary. I have yet to find a case where cancer has cured itself."

Hugh Stephen said to keep the downtown shopping area healthy, it must be given an atmosphere competitive with that of the outside shopping centres—it must be less of a sterile group of buildings and more of a market place."

Bruce Cook, a builder, won applause with his suggestion that home maintenance should be encouraged by part remission of property taxes.

Also contributing to the panel discussions were realtor Jack Mears, planning commissioner Arthur Saunders, housewife Mrs. D. R. McLeod, teenager Robert Smith, housewife Mrs. A. Young, senior citizens' housing representative Mrs. May Campbell, welfare administrator William Hooson, realtor J. G. Austin, banker George Maycock, transport representatives Dick Gough and Robert Irwin, parking lot operator Jack Robbins and store retailer Cliff Rutledge.

Art Stott was moderator.

U.S. Consulate in Vancouver Picketed

VANCOUVER (CP)—A group of young CCF members paraded in the rain today in front of the United States consul here. They carried banners with slogans reading: "Lift the economic quarantine on Cuba," "Aid not blockade," "No U.S. troops in Cuba."

Indictment Ordered in Triple Murder

OTTAWA, Ill. (UPI)—Chester (Rocky) Weger was indicted today for clubbing three vacationing housewives to death in a snowbound, starved, Rock State Park Canyon.

The 23-year-old ex-marine must stand trial on three indictments charging he murdered Mrs. Frances Murphy, 47; Mrs. Mildred Lindquist, 53, and Mrs. Lillian Oetting, 50, in the state park near Ottawa last March 14.

Arctic Nuclear Test for Harbor

NOME, Alaska (AP)—A non-nuclear explosion was set off Friday in a test phase of a project aimed at eventually using a nuclear blast to create a harbor.

The Atomic Energy Commission reported today only that the explosion at the project chariot site in the Cape Thompson area was successful.

Farmers Grain Strike Bid Rejected

VANCOUVER (CP)—Grain-strike mediator F. Craig Munroe today declined to meet Prairie farmers next Wednesday to discuss ways for an early settlement of the 10-day-old dispute.

Officials of the Interprovincial Farm Union Council wired Munroe Friday seeking the meeting, stressing the farmers concern over slow progress toward a settlement.

ROCKET-RATTLING STOPS

Castro Muted By K's Hints

HAVANA (AP)—The muting of Fidel Castro's rocket-rattling warnings to the United States heightened speculation here today that Moscow has advised him to take a more moderate course in his dealings with Washington.

The Kremlin's hand may be behind the lessening of attacks in the government press against president-elect John Kennedy—in contrast with the increased tempo against President Eisenhower and Vice-President Richard Nixon—possibly with a view to keeping a path open to later conciliatory approaches.

President Eisenhower's order for U.S. Navy ships and planes to set up anti-invasion patrols off Guatemala and Nicaragua, scenes of unsuccessful revolts in the last week, set off a chain furore. It included both critical and approving comment in Latin America on the naval action and a Cuban letter of protest to the United Nations.

Guatemalan President Miguel Ydigoras also said he favored a Korean-type police action by the Organization of American States against Cuba, and both Guatemala and Nicaragua were reported considering invoking the hemisphere's 1947 Rio de Janeiro treaty of mutual assistance.

Simple Rites Mark Clark Gable Funeral

GLENDALE, Calif. (AP)—Two hundred mourners filed into the Church of the Recessional today where Clark Gable's coffin lay amid banks of floral sprays.

Three hundred spectators stood a considerable distance from the church, and there were no displays of fan adulation that have marred other Hollywood funerals.

An American flag stood at the head of the rose-covered coffin and a squad of steel-helmeted airmen stood at attention outside the church, honoring Gable's service during the Second World War.

The mourners who came to the hilltop church recalled Gable's long film career.

There was white-haired Spencer Tracy, who co-starred with Gable in Boom Town, Test Pilot and other films; Robert Taylor and James Stewart, other leading men; Norma Shearer, Gable's co-star in Idiot's Delight; Frank Capra, who directed him to an Oscar in It Happened One Night; and Van Johnson, Robert Stack, Keenan Wynn, Roy Rogers, Dale Evans, George Murphy and John Huston.

SHORT AND QUIET

The services were conducted by air force Chaplain Johnson E. West. According to Episcopal (Anglican) tradition, there was no eulogy.

The widow, Kay Williams Gable, arrived early with her two children by a previous marriage, Joan, nine, and Benker, 11.

The ceremony was short and quiet, in accordance with Gable's wishes.

"I don't want to be a freak," he had told friends before his death.

Gable's body will rest beside that of his third wife, Carole Lombard.

Gable died last Wednesday night at 59 after suffering a coronary thrombosis 10 days earlier.

RCMP HUNT SMALL CAR IN HIT-RUN

A small dark-colored car is hunted by Colwood RCMP after a hit-run accident that broke a Saanich man's leg outside Six Mile House Friday midnight.

William J. Clayton, 50, of 3231 Harriet, is in good condition at Royal Jubilee Hospital.

There may be damage to the front of the auto, probably on the left side, police said.

Witnesses told police the car, headed west toward Colwood as it approached Parsons Bridge, crossed to the south side of the Island Highway and Clayton thrust his wife Helen out of the way, leaving him no chance to jump aside himself.

The man and his wife were crossing the highway at the time.

Police said the car kept going without slowing or pausing at the scene.

GOV'T BID

Rail Talks Start

MONTREAL (CP)—Three cabinet ministers met top union and management officials today in a dramatic attempt to head off a nation-wide rail strike scheduled for Saturday, Dec. 3.

All participants in the closed meetings were carefully non-committal when they ended, but it was apparent from their grim faces that little had been accomplished.

Labor Minister Starr, who led the three-man delegation from Ottawa, said as he headed for a telephone to call Prime Minister Diefenbaker after the meetings ended that they were conducted in a "cordial" atmosphere and were "useful".

He said an official statement on the talks would have to wait until there was some "reaction".

SHORT MEETING

He, Transport Minister Balcer and Postmaster-General Hamilton were to return to Ottawa this weekend and no further meetings were scheduled.

The cabinet ministers first met Frank Hall, chief negotiator for the 111,000 non-operating employees who have called the strike, and 11 other union leaders, for less than an hour.

Mr. Hall, to meet the union's negotiating committee Monday, had no comment.

The cabinet ministers' talks with Donald Gordon, CNR president, and N. R. Crump, CPR head, lasted more than two hours but apparently made no headway.

The rail chiefs declined to answer any questions.

LITTLE ADVANCE

Mr. Starr and his cabinet cohorts had little more to add to their comments after the meeting with the union leaders.

It was apparent before the meetings that little real advance could be made.

Mr. Hall said he was not empowered to accept any proposals for settling the dispute other than the 14-cents-an-hour increase which a conciliation board has recommended for the non-ops.

The cabinet ministers indicated they had come principally to study the situation and report back to the prime minister.

'PUPPET OF U.S.' SAY REDS

Kasavubu Seems Sure To Win Seat in UN

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP)—The Soviet Union, launching a determined effort today to prevent the UN General Assembly from seating a Congolese delegation headed by President Joseph Kasavubu, called the delegation an obedient puppet of the United States.

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian Zorin took the floor in the assembly to "characterize this as a political manoeuvre of the United States and its NATO allies designed to resolve this question in an improper manner, thus exerting an influence on the domestic political developments in the Congo in the interests of the colonizers."

Zorin accused the U.S. of leading a Western campaign against deposed premier Patrice Lumumba, whom he called the legitimate representative of the Congo.

KASAVUBU ABSENT

Kasavubu himself was not present during the debate, although he had been at UN headquarters earlier in the day for a private talk with Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold.

The specific proposal before the Assembly was a resolution drafted by the credentials committee recommending the seating of the Kasavubu delegation.

Guinea, a backer of Lumumba for the UN seat, proposed an amendment late Friday to the resolution to seat Kasavbu. It would reverse the committee's recommendation by calling on the Assembly to defer action on Kasavubu's application.

Western diplomats appeared confident they could block the delaying move and put through the original proposal to seat Kasavubu.

Their optimism was based on the defeat Ghana suffered Friday when she tried to get the Assembly to adjourn the Congo debate until an Asian-African conciliation commission tries to end the feud between Kasavubu and Lumumba.

CHINESE REDS ADMIT KILLING 25 MILLIONS

MONTREAL (CP) — Fu-sun Chu, minister of the Nationalist Chinese embassy in Ottawa, says the Chinese Communists have admitted killing more than 25,000,000 persons since 1949 to institue reforms in Red China.

He told the McGill International Students' Association Friday that the Communist Chinese have also admitted herding another 30,000,000 persons into slave labor camps.

"These figures are not my figures," he said. "They are taken from official Communist publications."

He said he "does not have the slightest doubt" that a revolt against the Communist regime will take place in Red China.

'Cautious' Bulletin Issued on Churchill

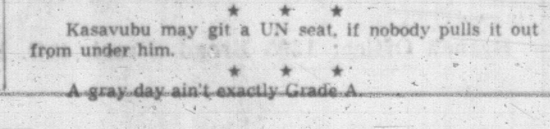
LONDON (CP)—Sir Winston Churchill's doctors, although satisfied that "everything is all right," issued a cautious medical bulletin today saying the old statesman has less pain from his injured back but passed an uncomfortable night.

The language of the bulletin was less reassuring than the earlier comment of Sir Winston's personal physician, Lord Moran, or the word from informants on Churchill's recuperation from a fall in which he broke a small bone in his back.

The official bulletin said: "Sir Winston did not have a very good night but the pain from his injury is less."

Lord Moran told reporters as he emerged from Churchill's House:

"Everything is all right."



Seems they ain't makin' much progress with th' non-co-operatin' non-operatin' railway workers.

Edmonton Due To Train Here For Big Clash

Edmonton Eskimos are expected to train for Saturday's Grey Cup game at Victoria's Athletic Park or MacDonald Park.

The Times learned this afternoon management of the Edmonton club contacted the Empress Hotel earlier this week to make arrangements for accommodation and a playing area.

The team wants Athletic Park but parks administrator Herb Warren wants them to go to Macdonald Park. Negotiations are continuing.

The Eskimos trained here in 1956.

If they come here, they'll arrive by chartered plane Tuesday afternoon, according to an Empress Hotel spokesman.

WINNIPEG—Edmonton Eskimos, kicking a field goal with only about 10 seconds left in the game, today defeated Winnipeg Blue Bombers 4-2 and advanced to the Grey Cup football final.

The scrappy Eskimos, who lost the first game, 22-16, won the best-of-three Western Interprovincial Football Union championship, 2-1. Edmonton won the second game, 10-5, last Monday to tie the series and set up today's thrill-drenched, all-or-nothing contest.

And it was a thriller!

Import end Tommy-Joe Coffey became the man of the hour in Edmonton by kicking the game-winning field goal. Only minutes earlier, he had tried another field goal from the Winnipeg 18-yard line but it went wide and left Blue Bombers, the defending Canadian champions, hanging on grimly to a 2-1 lead.

The goat of the game was Winnipeg quarter Kenny Ploen.

Ploen's fumble at the Winnipeg 42 set up the Edmonton field goal. It was recovered by Rollie Miles for Esks. Jackie Parker then hit Joe-Bob Smith on the Winnipeg 10-yard line with a first-down pass. Bright cracked for two yards and Coffey then kicked the field goal on second down as the clock ran out.

Stunning Finish for Big Crowd

It was a stunning finish for the 18,600 fans who were ready to concede Bombers the victory after Coffey missed his first field goal try moments earlier.

Bruising line play dominated the game, in which all points came on kicks.

Bombers took a 1-0 lead midway in the first quarter on a single by fullback Charlie Shepard. They made it 2-0 early in the third quarter on another single by Shepard and held that lead until Coffey came through with his last-minute heroics.

Edmonton now advances to the Dominion final, to be played in Vancouver's Empire Stadium next Saturday, against the winner of the Eastern (Big Four) league.

The Big Four title will be decided Sunday when Toronto Argonauts and Ottawa Rough Riders meet in a nationally-televised game in Toronto. (The game will be televised locally over channels 2 and 6, starting at 10.30 a.m. PST.)

Bombers kicked off. Edmonton was unable to get going and Chapman kicked to the Winnipeg 29. Ploen tried a pass on the first play and Coffey intercepted for Edmonton. Parker passed to Joe-Bob Smith, who fumbled at the Winnipeg 36, Miller recovering for Winnipeg. Lewis made 15 yards around the end, but Shepard fumbled on the next play and Edmonton recovered at the 55-yard line.

Esks were forced to kick and Winnipeg marched from their own 11 to the Eskimo 28; but lost the ball when Lewis' run failed on a third-down and four-yard situation. Eskimos marched back to the Winnipeg 30, with Parker connecting on passes to Miles and Joe-Bob Smith. Coffey tried a third-down field goal from there and the ball went wide. Janzen fell on the ball in the end zone, but Edmonton was called for no-yards when a would-be tackler slipped and fell close to Janzen. Winnipeg got the ball on their own 10 as the quarter ended.

Ploen Carries for 15 Yards

Bombers moved the ball out to their own 54 on a sequence featured by Ploen's fine 15-yard run. Winnipeg kicked. Edmonton couldn't move the ball and kicked. Janzen ran it back to the Edmonton 45. Winnipeg made two first downs but Ploen cut loose with a pass intended for Pitts in the end zone. It went off the end's hands. Shepard then kicked a single to make it Winnipeg 1, Edmonton 0.

The teams exchanged kicks. Schumm intercepted a Ploen pass at the Edmonton 54. Parker tried two incomplete passes. Bombers couldn't get going after receiving Chapman's third-down kick. The half ended with Parker completing a pass to Chapman at the Edmonton 45.

The teams exchanged punts after the kick-off. Bombers then marched to the Edmonton 30, with Shepard making 13 yards over the middle and Ploen passing 10 yards to Lewis. Shepard then kicked his second single at 7.09 to make it 2-0 Winnipeg. Parker came right back with a 44-

East Wins Junior Football Crown

MONTREAL (CP) — Quarterback Larry Fairholm's 43-yard touchdown pass to Gerry Langlois, with 35 seconds of play left, gave Rosemount Bombers a 22-20 win over Saskatoon Hilltops today for the Canadian junior football championship.

McGill Captures College Title

MONTREAL (CP)— McGill University Redmen showed that college football in the east stands a good notch higher than in the west, battering University of Alberta Golden Bears 46 to 7 today for the Churchill Cup.

Traffic Trouble Tips

TIMES INVITES QUERIES

By AB KENT

Broken any traffic laws lately, or were you inconsiderate of other people using the streets?

Of course—if you are an average person.

Maybe you have never been to court, but the chances are you break a rule, annoy a pedestrian or other driver, perhaps quite unconsciously, every time you go out.

It has even been snidely suggested that Victoria drivers are worse than in other larger cities. Whether that is true, or just a canard, the fact is that the continual increase in number of cars travelling the enclosed Victoria area presents a mounting problem.

To help you, the average citizen and non-professional motorist, the Times starts today a daily column dealing with common traffic problems, because traffic is everyone's problem, particularly with winter and its poor travel conditions and the hustle and bustle of the holiday season in the offing.

To gain the widest possible range of situations, we invite readers to send us any problems they have encountered as motorists or pedestrians.

We will deal with crosswalk courtesy, school zones, jay-walking, slow driving, traffic lights and any other matters relating to the movement of foot and vehicular traffic.

The column will try, with co-operation of Victoria police departments, to answer questions and increase public knowledge of traffic laws.

"This has long been needed," Deputy City Police Chief Harry Mercer said. "We think it is a fine idea."

A traffic division spokesman said:

"I am appalled at the number of people who walk through the traffic bureau door and pay tickets for violations committed in complete ignorance of the law.

"Ignorance of the law, of course, is no excuse.

"This column is beamed in the right direction as an educational outlet, to disseminate knowledge of our traffic laws."

And here's a little tip to motorists to start things off: Have you checked your driver's licence expiry date lately?

Dozens of people right here in Victoria are fined regularly for driving without a licence, usually because they have forgotten to renew on or before their birthdays every five years.

The problem will diminish gradually because this year the motor-vehicles bureau began issuing reminders as individual expiry dates approach, but the system will need five years to catch up with all licence holders.

yard pass-and-run play to Coffey down the left sidelines. But the Eskimo attack fizzled and Chapman kicked. Bombers marched from their own 15, with Shepard, Lewis, Shannon and James each making good gains. Ploen completed a pass to Latourelle for a first down at the Edmonton 33. Shepard squeaked for a first down at the 23. The quarter ended with Pitts barely missing Ploen's long pass in the end zone.

James tried a field goal on the first play of the quarter but the ball skidded off the side of his foot and was recovered by Edmonton at the Esks 17. Eskimos made a first down, then Cole knocked down a long Parker pass intended for Schumm deep on the Winnipeg 35. Edmonton kicked. Edmonton got the ball again and reeled off 26 yards on two plays before Warren nailed Parker for a 10-yard loss. Esks had to kick.

Winnipeg kicked and Edmonton got rolling. Parker passed to Chapman for 22 yards and a first down at the centre field marker. Pass interference was called against Bombers and Edmonton got a first down at the Winnipeg 10.

Two Bucks got nowhere and Coffey then missed a field goal from the 19-yard line. The kick went for a single. Winnipeg 2, Edmonton 1.

Bombers made nine yards on two plays, then Potter made a first down on a one-yard third-down gamble at the Winnipeg 30. Ploen fumbled and Edmonton's Miles recovered at the Winnipeg 42. Parker found J. B. Smith for a first down at the Winnipeg 10. Bright hit for two. Parker left the field after being shaken up. Coffey kicked a field goal to make it Edmonton 4, Winnipeg 2, with 10 seconds left. The game ended with Winnipeg trying a pass on the last play.

Prison Sentence For Purse Snatching

Two 21-year-old men were sentenced to 18 months in the Young Offenders' Unit at Oakalla jail Friday for snatching a woman's handbag on a Victoria street.

"There have been a number of these attacks . . . and some punishment must be imposed as a deterrent to others," Mr. Justice A. D. Macfarlane told Walter Trevor Donaldson and Garry Leo Groen, convicted in Assize Court last Monday of robbery with violence.

Mr. Justice Macfarlane added a recommendation that they be sent to Haney Correctional Institution.

They were found guilty of snatching a handbag containing $60 after assaulting a 61-year-old woman tourist outside a motel on Belleville Street last August.

"People generally look to the courts to see that young men doing these sort of things are punished," Mr. Justice Macfarlane said.

"But I don't think the sentence I am going to impose will prevent either of them, if he wants to, from correcting his attitude to society."

The sentencing brought the current Assizes in Victoria to a close. They began on Oct. 4.

Needs Unanimity

PORT ALBERNI — J. E. Brown, inspector of municipalities, has stated he will act as mediator in the dispute between councillors and Mayor Mabel Anderson only if council is "reasonably unanimous" in seeking his help.

He said Wednesday "obviously unless there is a degree of unanimity on council that I be asked to attend, my role as a mediator couldn't serve any useful purpose."

NO MONEY IN THIS APPEAL

Wanted: A Little Kindness

Yuletide cheer is pretty general at Christmas, touching rich and poor alike.

But sometimes it never reaches the lonely and forgotten in our mental hospitals.

"Put a gift for a mental patient on your Christmas shopping list," is the appeal this year by Victoria branch of the Canadian Mental Health Association.

This appeal isn't for money, but for kindness from one human being to another.

"We want gifts bought by the donor," said branch president Harvey Mickleson. "The whole motive of this project is to show the sick that someone who is well cares about him, wants him to recover."

Last year, many mental patients never received any gift at Christmas — forsaken by relatives, friends and society.

"This year lets show how deeply we care for these victims of mental illness," said Mr. Mickleson.

Gifts can range from pipes to articles of clothing to lipstick. They should be bought for adults. CMHA workers will sort them out and ensure the right gift goes to the right patient.

Victorians can phone CMHA's local branch at EV 5-8711 to get ideas for suitable gifts.

The gifts can be sent to the branch's office at 1551 Oak Bay Avenue.

New-Born Baby Pulled From Fire

MONTREAL (CP)—A new-born baby, abandoned to be burned in an apartment-block incinerator, was rescued from the flames Friday by the apartment janitor.

The baby boy was taken to hospital with burns over 40 per cent of his body.

His condition was serious. The boy had been wrapped in old rags and brown paper and left in the incinerator. He was less than 24 hours old.

Castro Francisco, building janitor, told police he lit the trash in the incinerator. Suddenly he heard a baby's cry and saw a tiny hand stretched out of the bundle of rags and paper.

He smothered the fire and pulled the crying baby out.

Honduras Wins Boundary Dispute

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras (AP)—Fireworks, shots, ringing bells, sirens and shouts greeted the news Friday that the World Court at The Hague had ruled in favor of this nation in its 54-year-old boundary dispute with Nicaragua.

President Ramon Villeda Morales declared a national holiday.

Crowds flocked to the Roman Catholic cathedral for a thanksgiving service.

The area in dispute is called Mosquitia. It is a wedge-shaped, sparsely populated region extending 150 miles along the Caribbean coast and 175 miles inland.
